AN IDEAL SUMMER HOME.

Nearly everyone who goes away in the summer has heard of "Minnicogashene" on the world-famous Georgian Bay. It has a very interesting history and the Indians have woven some weird legends around the place. It was formerly the summer home of a wealthy American, and on his death was bought by Colonel Cautley, a retired English army officer, who has made it an ideal summer home for many fortunate guests. There has always been an air of refinement and good taste about "Minnicog" which is to be found in very few Canadian summer resorts. For this reason the place has attracted from the beginning the very best class of people; not necessarily people of wealth, however, as the prices have always been exceedingly moderate considering the excellent accommodation and table.

In the fall the Georgian Bay is peculiarly beautiful, and at that season of the year Minnicog is delightful. The island is wonderfully endowed by nature, and when the leaves have changed color and in the cool clear atmosphere of fall, the place is at its best. It has grown so popular during the past few years that the summer months always find every room booked far in advance despite the numerous new cottages owned by the same management and the additions made to the imposing old house which was originally on the island. The summer guests have plenty of gaiety and amusement with fishing, boating, bathing and dancing in the pretty octagonal music room, which is a separate and distinct building, away from the main house or cottages.

For those, however, who prefer a very quiet holiday and the most peaceful enjoyment of the natural beauties of this lovely spot, the fall months at Minnicog will afford the greatest pleasure. It has often been said that this hotel is transformed in the fall with the smaller number of very congenial guests into a real country house party, and one's comfort and enjoyment are so carefully looked after as to leave nothing to be desired. Very good partridge shooting may be had close at hand and the fishing is even better at this season than in the summer. In fact, anyone contemplating a holiday could not do better than to include in their plans a visit to this delightful place in the fall.

It keeps the average man so busy trying to cover up his past that he hasn't much time to boast of his future.

AN ANGLER'S ELYSIUM.

According to advertisements all summer resorts are alike. They are the best ever—but if fishing is better anywhere else than it is in "Georgian Bay" we do not know where it is. There is a greater variety of fish in this water than anywhere else, and they are always hungry. No one ever counted the fish in the Georgian Bay, but those that have been caught there have been counted and eaten, and if you read the Government reports on fisheries, you know that Georgian Bay supplies more fish than any other equal body of water in the world. The only place you can afford to fish is where the fish are numerous, big and delicious in flavor, and that place is Georgian Bay—so the fishermen say. Suppose you send for booklet, issued by Grand Trunk Railway System free, telling about the home of the bass, pickerel, pike and the noble trout family. Address J. D. McDonald, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

THE END.

"Doctor," said the patient upon whom the hospital surgeon had just operated for appendicitis. "You're the same surgeon that amputated the first finger of my right hand when I had it crushed in a railroad accident a few months ago, ain't you?"

"Yes," answered the surgeon.

"Well, you got my index then, and now you've got my appendix. I hope you are satisfied."

STORIES OF "K. OF K."

Lord Kitchener of Khartum Generally Has His Own Way.

A few months ago "K. of K."—as the British have nicknamed Lord Kitchener of Khartum—found himself engaged in a prolonged discussion with the commandant of a native corps in India who had applied for funds to fit his men out with brand new uniforms.

The application was refused, only to be put forward again more urgently than ever. After this had happened several times, says the Grand Magazine, "K.'s" patience became exhausted, and he sent word to say that he would come and inspect the corps himself.

The colonel rubbed his hands with delight, and on the appointed day carefully instructed his dusky warriors to don their oldest and most ragged garments, in order to furnish a practical demonstration of their sartorial requirements. The commandant was reckoning without his host, however, for Lord Kitchener had no sooner run his critical eye down the ranks than he saw through the other's little device. A grim smile played about the corners of his mouth.

"Ah, Colonel Jones," he exclaimed heartily, "I congratulate you on the appearance of your men. They're in the pink of condition—positively bursting through their uniforms!"

When Lord Kitchener once makes up his mind about anything it requires a very determined will indeed to turn him from his purpose. On one occasion a difference of opinion had arisen as to the amount of money he might expend on the conveyance of stores to the front. He wanted a couple of thousand pounds for the purpose, but a niggardly pay department at home protested that the estimate was much too high.

"Can't do it for less," was the laconic response telegraphed to Pall Mall.

This, however, only evoked a reply that he would not be allowed more than a quarter of the sum asked for. To everybody's intense surprise "K." wired back, "All right!" and proceeded to carry out the work he was engaged on.

When the expedition was over, however, the Treasury officials were electrified to receive from its organizer a bill reading as follows:

1. To conveyance of military stores, as per estimate, £500.
2. To supplementary expenses, £1,500.

THOUGHTFUL.

Father of Large Family: "My dear, isn't it about time you were thinking of getting married?"

Eldes Daughter: "Goodness! I haven't thought of anything else for years."

Something More Than a Purgative.—To purge is the only effect of many pills now on the market. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are more than a purgative. They strengthen the stomach, where other pills weaken it. They cleanse the blood by regulating the liver and kidneys, and they stimulate where other pill compounds depress. Nothing of an injurious nature, used for merely purgative powers, enters into their composition.

TOO MUCH MARGIN.

"I am thirty-five years old," announced a woman of fifty-six at a tea last week. "And I am twenty-six," said the woman of forty-five. Then turning to a girl of seventeen, who stood nearby, she asked: "How old are you, Ethel?" "Oh," replied Ethel, "according to present reckoning, I'm not born yet."

Like little volcanoes of disease, the eruptions of eczema pour out discharges. Bad blood causes the trouble. The local remedy is Weaver's Cerate, and Weaver's Syrup will drive the poison from the blood.

A VISION OF DEATH.

Woman Learned of Mother's Decease While in Hysterical Trance.

A well authenticated case of "second sight" is narrated by Mr. Theodore P. Brocklehurst in a letter to the London Spectator. It occurred in Yorkshire, and concerned a woman employed as cook in the house of a neighbor who was away holiday-making with his family.

The cook had violent hysterics one evening, declaring to another servant who was keeping house with her that she had seen her mother, who lived in Durham, and that somebody was trying to smother her. Next morning the cook received a telegram informing her of her mother's death.

Subsequent investigation proved that the woman's mother accidentally set fire to herself and was burned to death at exactly the hour when the cook had the alarming vision.

KEEP TRYING.

If boys should get discouraged, At lessons or at work, And say, "There's no use trying," And all the hard tasks shirk, And keep on shirking, shirking, Till the boy became a man, I wonder what the world would do To carry out its plan?

The coward in the conflict Gives up at first defeat; If once repulsed, his courage Lies shattered at his feet. The brave heart wins a battle Because through thick and thin He'll not give up as conquered— He fights, and fights to win.

So, boys, don't get disheartened Because at first you fail; If you but keep on trying, At last you will prevail; Be stubborn against failure, Try, try, and try again; The boys who keep on trying Have made the world's best men.

CHAINED IN PIGSTY.

Young Man Confined for Six Months With No Light.

A terrible case of barbarity of parents toward their son has been brought to light at Nantes, France.

Some six months ago a young man of weak intellect disappeared from the neighborhood. His father is a well-to-do farmer, and the neighbors were told that the youth had been sent away for the benefit of his health. The truth of the statement was doubted, and the other day the gendarmes paid a domiciliary visit to the farm. The missing youth was found chained up in a filthy pigsty, where he had been confined for six months, with no light and little air. The food supplied him was of the coarsest description. At night by way of exercise he was led about the farm attached to a stout chain. The unnatural parents, who plead in justification that their son was a lunatic, are to be prosecuted for their inhuman cruelty.

Cholera morbus, cramps and kindred complaints annually make their appearance at the same time as the hot weather, green fruit, cucumbers, melons, etc., and many persons are debarred from eating these tempting things, but they need not abstain if they have Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial and take a few drops in water. It cures the cramps and cholera in a remarkable manner and is sure to check every disturbance of the bowels.

"I saw a queer thing the other day," said the story-teller; "it was a duck swimming across a pond and a cat sitting on its tail." "Oh, nonsense!" cried the audience, incredulously. "How could a duck swim across a pond and a cat on its tail?" "Nevertheless," said the story-teller, "it's perfectly true. I should explain, however, that the cat was sitting on its tail on a wall."

A Matter of Importance to all those who are run down and debilitated is the fact that "Ferrovin" is the best tonic ever compounded. It gives strength and builds up the system.

Mother: "Johnny, stop asking your father so many questions! Don't you see it annoys him?" Johnny: "Why, mother, it's not the questions that make him angry; it's because he can't answer them!"

A Tonic for the Debilitated.—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills by acting mildly but thoroughly on the secretions of the body are a valuable tonic, stimulating the lagging organs to healthful action and restoring them to full vigor. They can be taken in graduated doses and so used that they can be discontinued at any time without return to the ailments which they were used to allay.

"That's arrant nonsense," said Mr. Henpeck, "about there always being room at the top." "Oh," his wife sarcastically replied, "when were you up to see?"

"Tis well to know a good thing," said Mrs. Surface to Mrs. Knowwell, when they met in the street. "Why, where have you been for a week back?" "Oh, just down to the store for a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil," and Mrs. Surface, who hates puns, walked on. But she remembered, and when she contracted a weak back there was another customer for Electric Oil.

UNFORTUNATE.

I bought a mine,
The mine is mine no more;
I struck a sharp,
And he, not I, struck ore!

I bought some stock,
Dame Fortune tried to woo;
The market changed;
It broke—and I broke too!

I loved a girl,
So dear to me, I vow;
I wedded her,
And she is dearer now!

Some men have luck,
Of me that can't be said;
If luck struck me
I'm sure 'twould strike me dead!

Customer: "I want a piece of meat without fat, bone or gristle." Butcher (after having carefully examined his stock): "You'd better have an egg, ma'am!"

A HARD JOB.

The inspector asked the boys of the school he was examining: "Can you take your warm overcoats off?" "Yes, sir," was the response. "Can the bear take his warm overcoat off?" "No, sir." "Why not?" There was silence for a while, and then a little boy spoke up. "Please, sir, because God alone knows where the buttons are."
