EXAMINING THE BEER.

F. Trent of Bedford Park, appeared before Magistrate Ellis last Thursday on a charge of breach of the liquor act. The magistrate enlarged the case for a week to have the beer analyzed by a Government officer. The charge against W. Robinson of Eglinton, of selling beer without a license was also enlarged for a week.

THE NEEDLE FOUND.

About two months ago little Irene McMahon, while preparing for her bed, ran a needle into the ball of her foot. The Dr. examined the foot but could not locate the needle. The wound was quite sore for a few days, but the soreness soon went away, and she went to school as usual. The pain returned, however, and last Saturday, after putting Irene under the influence of chloroform, the Dr. made an incision, and searched for the lost needle. Fortunately he located it without much difficulty. The part of the needle found was a little over half an inch in length, and it was buried half an inch beneath the skin. The soreness has almost passed away, and Irene hopes to return to school next Monday.

Reprint, News-Herald:—"There is at least one effectual, safe, and reliable Cough Cure—Dr. Shoop's—that we regard as suitable, even for the youngest child. For years, Dr. Shoop bitterly opposed the use of opiates or narcotics in medicine, offering $10 per drop to any one finding Opium, Chloroform, or any poisonous or narcotic ingredient in Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And the challenge is as yet unanswered. Here is one manufacturing physician, who welcomed with much satisfaction, the new Government Pure Food and Drug Law. The public can now protect itself at all times, by insisting on having Dr. Shoop's, when a cough remedy is needed. Sold by W. A. Sanderson.

WORRY—THE DISEASE OF THE AGE

A famous English writer, Dr. C. W. Saleeby, recently finished a series of articles written in a popular vein, and entitled "Worry—the Disease of the Age." The first of these appears in the Christmas number of the Canadian Magazine, which has many other attractive and seasonable features. One of the first noticeable things about the magazine this month is the front cover, which is a reproduction of prize drawing by J. J. Grant. It is entitled "Our Lady of the Snows," and is a new and pleasing conception of this charming personality. Other features of the Christmas Canadian Magazine are "Jerusalem and its Environments" (illustrated); "Christmas Customs in England" (illustrated); reproductions of R. Caton Woodville's famous drawings, "The Dawn of Majuba Day," and "Maiwand Saving the Guns," and of Jules Breton's painting "The Communicants." There are several other interesting articles, with short stories by W. Fraser, Alice Sones, and E. P. Medley.

REMEMBER THE DATE

It has just leaked out that "Ralph Connor's" new story "The Doctor" has been secured by the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, and it will begin on January 2nd, 1907.

The publishers of the Family Herald intended this to be a big Christmas surprise for their readers, but the news became known through a Toronto paper that expected to land the prize but failed. "Ralph Connor" is a name Canadians are proud of. "The Man from Glenarry," "The Prospector" and other stories have won him a great name, and the Family Herald and Weekly Star is certainly deserving of congratulations in securing "The Doctor" for their readers. The publication of the opening chapters is put off until January 2nd in order to give all their subscribers ample time to renew before that date. Now that the news is public, there will be a grand rush to get on the Family Herald's mailing lists. One dollar a year is the subscription price. Just think of what you can get for a dollar—the best family and farm newspaper in America, the beautiful premium gravure entitled "A Tug of War" and Ralph Connor's latest and best story "The Doctor."
