The Great Provincial Charity, The Hospital for Sick Children, Calls On You For Aid.

Remember that this Hospital is not a local institution, but Provincial.

It cares for every sick child in the Province of Ontario whose parents cannot afford to pay for treatment. Busy dollars are better than idle tears. The sympathy that Weeps is good, but the Hospital has to have the sympathy that Works.

Last year there were 1093 patients admitted. Of these 378 came from 254 places outside of Toronto—all were children of poor people who could not afford to pay for treatment of their little ones.

Each child was in the Hospital 47 1/2 days at a cost of $1.31 each per day, or $62.22 for the 47 1/2 days stay.

If your dollar could straighten the feet of a little boy or girl with club feet, you would gladly give it, and your dollar will do that. There were 79 cases of club feet treated last year. Out of the 79, about 50 were from the country.

If you know of any child in your county who is sick or has club feet, and whose parents can not afford to pay, send the name to the Hospital Secretary.

The stock books are open. Won't you let the Hospital write your name down for a few shares in Heaven's own work of healing little children?

A great mine of Mercy—the mining stock that always pays dividends—is bought with the money that helps The Hospital for Sick Children to extract the Gold of Life from the Quartz of Death.

Please send contributions to J. Ross Fisher, Chairman, or to Douglas Davidson, Sec. Treas., of the Hospital for Sick Children, College Street, Toronto.

COMMANDER OF LUSITANIA.

Capt. Watt Able to Silence Too Inquisitive Passengers.

Capt. Watt, who commands the liner Lusitania, is, needless to say, an exceptionally able navigator, says London Tit-Bits. He is not, perhaps, quite so well known as some American captains, who have won popularity among passengers, for Capt. Watt maintains that the captain's place is on the bridge, not in the saloon, and he believes that he best serves their interest by insuring the safety of passengers rather than by looking after their entertainment. A story is told of Capt. Watt, who was being plied with all sorts of questions regarding the ship's progress by a too inquisitive passenger. "How far are we off land this morning, captain?" he inquired. "Three miles—that is all," replied the captain. "But I can't see it," put in the persistent passenger. "Because you are looking the wrong way. You must look down there," and he pointed significantly to the water.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator does not require the help of any purgative medicine to complete the cure. Give it a trial and be convinced.

THIS HOPE.

"But," said the clerical visitor, "do you know that even prison may have its bright side?" "Sure!" replied the convict. "I know it has." "Ah! you can see that, then?" "Not now, but I hope to some day. I mean the outside."

TONS OF IRON consumed each year in medicine. In "Ferrovin," the best tonic, it is so cleverly manipulated that the weak and sickly get all possible nourishment and benefit from it.

WHAT'S THE USE?

What's the use of contradicting people rudely, even if you are sure you are right? What's the use of being inquisitive about the affairs of even your most intimate friend? What's the use of underrating anything simply because you don't happen to possess it? What's the use of believing that every one in the world is happier than you are?

Many inherit weak lungs, and as disease usually assails the weakest point, these persons are continually exposed to attacks of cold and pulmonary disturbances. The speedy use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup will be found a preventative and a protection, strengthening the organs so that they are not so liable to derangement from exposure or abrupt atmospheric changes. Bickle's Syrup is cheap and good.

Two frogs strolling one day fell into the other was an optimist. The pessimist began to squeal, and after one abortive effort declared "there was no way out," and thereupon threw up the sponge and was drowned. The other, remarking that "while there's life there's hope," paddled and dashed around and around the pail, until he eventually found himself standing on a pat of butter. Moral: Don't be downhearted.

ITCH. Mange, Prairie Scratches and every form of contagious Itch in human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Wolford's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails. Sold by all druggists.

"Now that you are married, my son, listen to me." "What is it, dad?" "Try to be a husband, not an ex-bachelor."

"Of course, doctor, German measles are seldom serious?" "I never met but one fatal case." "Fatal?" "Yes; it was a Frenchman, and when he discovered it was German measles that he had mortification set in."

GETTING AT IT.

It is well known that in Judge Haliburton, the author of "Sam Slick," Nova Scotia produced a famous humorist, but the neighboring colony of Newfoundland had a humorist in the late John H. Boone, who, if without the name gained by Haliburton, was quite as great. Boone was a barrister, and took a malicious delight in mystifying the Bench; in which attempts his humor was often called into play.

At one time an Italian, who became dissatisfied with his position as a telegraphist, went into trade, gave too much credit, and came to grief. He engaged Boone in order to be declared insolvent.

"My lord," said Boone, "may it please this honorable Court to hear me on behalf of my client, Mr. Tarducci. He comes from sunny Italy, my lord, the land of romance, science, and glorious literature—the home, my lord, of the illustrious Michael Angelo and the divine Raffaello; birthplace of Tasso, Ariosto, the immortal Dante, and the humorous Boccaccio; the prolific mother of art and science, birthplace of Galvani and the martyr Galileo Galilei."

After Boone had spoken a little more in this strain the judge began to get restive.

"What has all this to do with the case, sir?" he at last gruffly inquired.

"Merely a few preliminary observations, my lord," was the solemn reply. "My client from sunny Italy, home of the painter and the sculptor, begs this honorable Court to apply to him the very lowest form of pictorial art. My lord, he prays to be whitewashed."

REVIVAL OF THE KILT.

Growing Demand in London for Highland Evening Dress.

When in Scotland the King is a regular wearer of the kilt; so, too, is the Prince of Wales. The general revival of the wearing of the kilt may therefore be due to the force of royal example. "Twenty years ago," writes a correspondent to the Times, "the kilt was practically unknown in Aberdeen. It was indeed held up to universal ridicule by the townsfolk. That has quite changed, and on my last visit to Aberdeen I discovered that even the schoolboys have returned to kilts. It has become a recognized article of evening dress, and, what is more strange still, many of the young men of the better-to-do classes are learning to play the pipes." In London, too, there is a growing demand for Highland evening dress outfits among the large body of Scotsmen who belong to the various national societies. The Scottish evening dress is picturesque, but has the disadvantage of being costly. An outfit would be cheap at $150, the average price ranging from $200 to $225. But in spite of this and the proverbial cannicness of the Scot the vogue is increasing. Of course the King does not sport his Highland dress in London.

Mr. Kipling's Canadian Tour.

Ontario and all Eastern Canada is deeply disappointed that Mr. Kipling, upon the occasion of his recent visit to Canada, should have only seen "The West from a Car Window" and the East not at all. The older provinces are always proud and never jealous of the West, into which they are sending their shekels and their sons. With all his powers as a word painter, it is hardly to be expected that Mr. Kipling can do justice to all of Canada. He has not seen the thriving cities and towns of Ontario, with its splendid railways, mills, and manufacturing industries. He had only a fleeting glimpse of Toronto, and saw nothing of the score or more other industrial centres of the Dominion. It is too bad, Canadians believe, that he should have spent the most of the time which he was able to give to the study of conditions in the Dominion to the troubled shores of the Pacific. With no desire to minimize the seriousness of the labor disturbances out there, or to disguise the fact that Canada is in sore need of more men to carry forward the work in hand, Canadians would have been proud of some pen pictures by Mr. Kipling of the industrial East, where the people are prosperous and happy. This conviction is by no means local—it is widespread, universal. ("Canada," London, Eng., Nov. 16th, 1907.)

The Demon, Dyspepsia.—In olden times it was a popular belief that demons moved invisibly through the ambient air, seeking to enter into men and trouble them. At the present day the demon, dyspepsia, is at large in the same way, seeking habitation in those who by careless or unwise living invite him. And once he enters a man it is difficult to dislodge him. He that finds himself so possessed should know that a valiant friend to do battle for him with the unseen foe is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are ever ready for the trial.

Magistrate (to prisoner): "It's some time since I saw you here." Prisoner (virtuously): "Yes, sir; I've been quiet and law-abiding since the last time I was up before you, and that was 'bout six months ago." Magistrate: "Ah, yes, I remember, I gave you six months for stealing a hem. It's a year this time."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALMSAM is especially intended to break up neglected coughs and many hopeless cases have been saved by its use. Contains no opium in any form.

"Marquis, is it possible to confide a secret to you?" "Certainly! I will be as silent as the grave." "Well, then, I have absolute need of two thousand dollars." "Do not fear. It is as if I had heard nothing."

A Medicine for the Miner's Pack.—Prospectors and others going into the mining regions where doctors are few and drug stores not at all, should provide themselves with a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It will offset the effects of exposure, reduce sprains, and when taken internally will prevent and cure colds and sore throat, and as a lubricant will keep the muscles in good condition.

Bridegroom (on honeymoon): "I haven't the slightest objection to your giving all your time to the dog, my own, but I wish you had made it quite clear, when you suggested bringing it, whether it was you and I who were going on our honeymoon, and were bringing the dog, or whether it was you and the dog who were bringing me."

LIKE WATER.

A little three-year-old, whose mother was making a simple cough medicine for him, watched the process, and asked if it was good. He was permitted to taste, and exclaimed: "It's awfully good, mamma. Let's keep it all for papa."

The never failing medicine, Holloway's Corn Cure, removes all kinds of corns, warts, etc.; even the most difficult to remove cannot withstand this wonderful remedy.

It is often more satisfaction not to know things and have people think you do than to know them and not have anybody believe it.

LAZY OLD SORES, painful and disfiguring, will not linger long after treatment with Weaver's Cerate has been begun. Also, cleanse the blood with Weaver's Syrup.

"It's all very well, mamma, for you to draw terrible pictures; but did you never flirt when you were a girl?" "Yes, my dear, I did once." "And were you punished for it?" "I was; I married your father."

A Magic Pill.—Dyspepsia is a foe with which men are constantly grappling but cannot exterminate. Subdued, and to all appearances vanquished in one, it makes its appearance in another direction. In many the digestive apparatus is as delicate as the mechanism of a watch or scientific instrument in which even a breath of air will make a variation. With such persons disorders of the stomach ensue from the most trivial causes and cause much suffering. To these Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are recommended as mild and sure.

"Halloo, Badger," said Thrope; "I feel a friend of yours the other day. He's been talking about you, and I feel it my duty to tell you what he said." "Ah, well, I don't care to hear what he said. I know it was something disagreeable," replied Badger. "How do you know that?" "Because you are so anxious to tell it. Good morning."

CUNTERS KILLED BY BOAR.

Wounded Animal Assails Pursuers, Whom He Fatally Gores.

A tragic accident of the chase, resulting in the loss of two lives, occurred recently in the woods of Rehon, in the Department of Meurthe and Moselle, France. During a bear hunt a party of sportsmen came across an old bear, and a M. Rischter fired, wounding the beast slightly.

The bear charged, knocked M. Rischter down, and buried his tusks in his flesh. Another gentleman, M. Frimont, who stood a few yards away, fired at the bear. The animal turned upon M. Frimont and ripped his side with its tusks.

A few minutes later other members of the hunt came up and succeeded in killing the bear, but M. Rischter died half an hour later. A doctor was sent for to attend M. Frimont, who, however, was mortally wounded, and died a few mornings after.
