

THE NEW MINT IS OPENED

Silver and Copper Coins Were Struck Off.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The first Canadian coins to be minted in the Dominion were turned out at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at the new Ottawa branch of the Royal Mint, which was officially opened by his Excellency Earl Grey in the presence of members of the Government, prominent officials of State and a large crowd of Ottawa people who were invited to witness the formal opening. There was no speech-making in connection with the opening, his Excellency merely declaring the Mint to be formally opened, and starting the machinery which coined the first silver fifty-cent piece. The stamping machinery for the copper cent pieces was started simultaneously, and a souvenir copper coin was presented to each person present, after a tour of the building had been made, and the various processes explained by the officials in charge. The Mint will be kept in daily operation from now on, and will furnish a ready market for the product of Canadian copper and silver mines. It is the intention of the Government to build a refinery in connection with the Mint in order to insure that gold and copper which is brought in for minting will be of the proper degree of purity for coinage. The cost of the refinery will be about fifteen thousand dollars.

TRIED TO KILL, THEN SUICIDED.
British Officer Ends Life Under Peculiar Circumstances.
A despatch from London says: Major Coates Phillips, an officer who distinguished himself in the South African War, committed suicide here on Tuesday night under sensational circumstances. The Major had been divorced. Some time ago he made an attempt to kill himself in the residence of his former wife, but was restrained. Tuesday night he returned to the home of Mrs. Coates Phillips and forced an entrance. His former wife, her mother and a solicitor were in the house, but when they saw the excited man break in they fled. The Major opened fire with his revolver, aiming at everyone he could see, and then blew out his brains. The solicitor and the mother of Mrs. Coates Phillips were wounded, but not seriously.

GOOD FOR CATTLEMEN.
Mild Winter Has Been Easy on Feed in the West.
A despatch from Winnipeg says: Mild weather and the absence of snow have been a blessing to the people who have cattle in those districts where it was impossible to put up sufficient hay last fall for winter fodder. Up to the present the cattle have been browsing on the prairies and it has been unnecessary to give them any extra feed. Thus farmers and stockmen have effected an immense saving on their hay supplies. Some stockmen killed off or sold to dealers a considerable proportion of their herds, and others secured a supply of straw, to help out in case of pressure, and it is now felt that the winter will be passed without loss.

EDWARD HANLAN IS DEAD.
Famous Oarsman Succumbs to Attack of Pneumonia.
A despatch from Toronto says: Edward Hanlan, former champion oarsman of the world, died at his residence, 189 Beverley Street, shortly before 1 o'clock on Saturday morning from pneumonia. He had been ill for about ten days, and his physician, Dr. T. F. McMahon, gave up hope early in the week. The patient was unconscious for several days, with occasional rallies, and he recognized his wife for the last time on Friday morning. Mr. Hanlan was born on Toronto Island fifty-two years ago, and was always a resident of this city.

HARDSHIPS BY SHIPWRECK

Ten Men Cast Away on an Island Off Cape Horn.

A despatch from Boston says: A tale of shipwreck off Cape Horn, with its details of terrible sufferings from cold, hunger and exposure, was related on Wednesday morning by Herman Harko, an arrival here on the steamer Hortensius from South American ports. Harko was a member of the crew of the American barque Prussia, which was wrecked on Staten Island, Cape Horn, on June 13, while on a voyage from Norfolk, Va., to Port Townsend, Washington. The vessel struck a rock and in an endeavor to reach land four of the crew were drowned while Capt. Andrew Johnson was so weakened by exposure that he died the day after, and ten survivors reached the barren island.
"I lived a lifetime in those few weeks when we were cast away on that desert bit of rock," Harko said. "It was bitterly cold. Capt. Johnson was trying to make New Year's Island light. The wind increased to such frightful velocity that the barque was ashore and a wreck before anyone realized where we were. She broke up at once, and everyone of us jumped overboard. Eleven of the thirteen reached a jagged rock, where there was a bit of hard, white sand and overhanging cliff.

"At dawn Sabata, the Japanese cook, and Harry Hammond, a sailor were missing. They may have been crushed when the ship went asunder or perhaps were drowned in trying to reach the rock. We were almost frozen.
"The strip of sand was about 300 feet long, and we saw the ledge that overhung our position was completely impassable. There was no escape. Capt. Johnson was suffering from an injury. We shielded him as best we might by forming a circle about him. He seemed to freeze stiff almost before the last breath had left his body. We managed to bury him in the sand. We collected a little driftwood for a fire and constructed a rough shelter."

KILLED IN BUFFALO.

Terrible Death of Lieut.-Col. John C. Cautley.

A despatch from Buffalo says: After passing through several campaigns in India, the Sudan and South Africa, without suffering a single wound, fate reserved a horrible death for Lieutenant-Colonel John C. Cautley, retired, whose winter headquarters were at the Grand Union Hotel in Toronto. As he stepped off a Main street car in this city on Sunday afternoon at Bryant street on his way to visit his two daughters, he was struck by a car travelling in an opposite direction, and his mangled body carried for 130 feet before the motorman brought the car to a stop. The accident occurred in front of the Frontier Hospital. Surgeons from this institution carried the dead colonel into the hospital, and after the body had been reviewed by Medical Examiner Howland it was removed to the home of Attorney John M. Provost, No. 2,420 Inwood avenue, where his two daughters are stopping. Both girls, who attend the Technical High School here, were prostrated by the sight of their mutilated father. The medal which he wore was found crushed against his heart. The body will be shipped to a brother in Baltimore for burial. Lieutenant-Colonel Cautley had belonged to the Royal West Kent Regiment. He had seen service in India, in the Gordon relief expedition, and at Majuba Hill, retiring from the army in 1894. He leaves a wife and son in England.

C.P.R. WRECK NEAR CHAPLEAU.

Lindsay Lady Killed and Scores of People Injured.
A despatch from Montreal says: Another fatal wreck on the C.P.R. took place early on Friday morning half way between Chapleau and Cartier. A broken 80-lb. rail caused east-bound express No. 2 to leave the track. A baggage car and coach were derailed, and turned on their sides, and Mrs. B. Slown, of Lindsay, Ont., was killed. The following passengers were injured:—Alex. Ross, Dundurn, Sask., lost right hand; W. Reynolds, Montreal, head cut; Duncan Livingston, Durham, Ont., shoulder bruised; Lewis Harle, Deloraine, Man., head cut; E. E. Perkins, Port Arthur, Peter McKenn Black, cut on head; David Lindsay, London, cut on head; E. McLane, Paynton, Sask., head and hand cut; Dan McDougall, St. Almon, Ont., cut on head; Robert Matthews, Moose Jaw, back injured; A. Gilchrist, Glenan, Ont., scalp wound. In addition to these passengers, Jas. Hale and James Stanley, employees of the C.P.R. at Chapleau, were also injured. The accident happened on the Lake Superior division, the headquarters of which are at North Bay, of which J. F. Brady is general superintendent. The accident occurred at a point about 114 miles east of North Bay, and the train was running east.

ANTI-SUICIDE BUREAUS.

Result of the First Year's Work Reported.
A despatch from London says: Twelve months ago Gen. Booth of the Salvation Army started anti-suicide bureaus in various cities of the world, and he now has issued a review of the year's work. Altogether 1,125 men and 50 women sought the assistance of the London bureau to save them from self-destruction, while at least an equal number applied at the bureaus in other cities. It appears from the review that the seekers for help belonged mainly to the middle class. More than half of them attributed the desire to end their lives to financial embarrassment or hopeless poverty. From the small number of women applicants Gen. Booth deduces that they are better able to bear up under sorrows and trials than men. He thinks it safe to say that 75 per cent of the applicants have been diverted from contemplated suicide and helped to surmount their difficulties.

A DELUGE OF HOT METAL

Rushed Into Pit in Steel Converter at Pittsburg.

A despatch from Pittsburg, Penn., says: Two men were killed and thirteen others seriously injured by an explosion in converter No. 3 of the Edgar Thomson plant of the United States Steel Corporation at North Braddock, about seven miles east of here, on Wednesday.
The two men killed were foreigners. Six of the injured were Americans, and the others Slavs. All were removed to a hospital in this city, where it was said their injuries were not serious.
No official statement of the cause of the explosion has been issued, but old converter mill men say the cause could hardly be other than that some of the molten metal sifted through the soapstone lining of the converter and came in contact with the steel sheathing which perhaps was damp.

When the explosion occurred the bottom of the converter dropped out, throwing 15 tons of molten metal into the pit where 15 men were working at the ladles. There was no explosion when the hot mass of steel struck the bottom of the pit, but instead flames of burning gas were sent up which burned the men in the pit. The two men who were killed had been working under the converter, and their bodies were terribly mangled.

POLICE FOUGHT IN ARMOR

A Four-Hour Battle Took Place in St. Petersburg.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says: Except for the discharge of firearms, the conflict which was fought between some revolutionists and the police in an old street in Riga the other day might have been taken for an assault in the days of Peter the Great, for the Government forces entered the helmet wearing steel breastplates and helmets. The revolutionists occupied the top rooms of a five-storey house. The door was barricaded, and when the police demanded admission a woman of fifty-seven, named Greta Tomson, replied: "We shall not surrender without a fight."
At the same instant a volley was fired through the door by the inmates, the bullets rattling against the armor of the men outside, one of whom was slightly wounded. The police then entered an adjoining attic, from which the revolutionists could be more readily attacked, and for four hours a continuous fire was directed through the walls. Gradually the replies of the revolutionists became less frequent, and finally ceased.

The police then broke into the apartments and found four dead, including the woman Tomson, lying on the floor. There were also five men and two girls wounded. They had fired about seven hundred shots and were armed with a Mauser rifle and three Brownie revolvers.
