

Victoria Square.

Oyez! Oyez! Oyez! Have you heard of the wonderful adventures of the Victoria Square Annual Colonization Company? For behold, the driver of the Hercules steeds started from his home in Osterville and proceeded with all possible speed towards Stouffville, stopping at Victoria Square and all intermediate stations. But alas "The storm came on before its time, They wandered up and down, And many a hill did the lovers climb, But at last they reached the town."

Any adventures on the way? Certainly. Fied to cross, roads to break, and imagine the sight, when, turning the corner, the driver lost his fedora, his curls flew. Now, do not let your imagination run riot, for did not his hat lodge on his aunt's umbrella and was returned to him but slightly the worse for wear.

They were stuck. The Stouffville inns were overcrowded, and had they not had sufficient "Nickels" they would have utterly failed to secure accommodation. It was unnecessary to worry. Why? Their colonization scheme was perfect. Had they not cooks, butchers, grocers, millers, milliners, farmers, two teachers and enough children for a graded school?

Again let us picture to ourselves the return trip. Saturday morning, at daybreak, preparations are begun. Bricks are heated and everything is made comfortable for the girls (for the boys are left to tramp and get along as best they can, even if one of the girls can hoe her own row.) In the hustle and bustle of the journey, one young man becomes lost (his toque being invisible on the snow) but finally a happy gust of wind carries off that hat, a happening which revealed his auburn curls. Immediately one girl ceases looking for Lorne. Would that I were a good painter, could I not draw a vivid picture? I see them now, struggling amid the beautiful snow, believing that Kipling's masterpiece, entitled "Canada, The Lady of the Snows," is all too true to life.

All but one has reached home. That one has considered it advisable to remain in town till the myrtle blooms in the good, old summer time, and one is slightly ill; he may be suffering from the ague.

What conclusion have the girls reached. Here it is—

It's Oh! to be a maiden bold,
To sit up in a sleigh,
To watch the boys a-plodding on
In a sad but stalwart way.

Two boys met after the adventure
1st Boy—Proposals, proposals for me
and for you!
I've so many proposals, I don't know what to do.

2nd Boy—"Tis leap year! 'Tis leap year!
Now, don't be afraid,
Take a young girl and not an old maid.

Mr. Chas. Klinck of Indian Head, Sask., has been spending the past week with his uncle, Mr. John Klinck, 2nd con., Markham.

Mr. Levi Hills of Yellow Grass, Sask., is spending a few days at his uncle's, Mr. John Klinck's.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Albert Jewett of Duluth, Min., who is at present visiting his parents, 2nd con. Markham, is confined to the house with an attack of rheumatism. We wish him speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Klinck, of Toronto are spending a few days under the parental roof.

MAIDS OF SARAGOSSA—RE-DIVIVUS.

REMINISCENCES OF 1837.

The Toronto Daily Star of the 27th instant records the death of Mrs. Martha Ann Beswick, of Toronto, daughter of the late Mr. David Wilson, and says "As a child, Mrs. Beswick and her sister, Mrs. Thos. Medcalf, who died a year ago, carried despatches from the military headquarters in Toronto to the look-out quarters at Colonel Wells' house. To avoid the Mackenzies, the two little Wilson girls went out ostensibly to "pick berries," and Mrs. Beswick, being the younger, carried the despatches sewed in the back of her dress."

The Globe of the 17th Nov., 1906, records the death of Mrs. Thomas Metcalf, and relates the part she took in reference to the rebellion of 1837, saying "She was employed in carrying news to the men in the field. On one occasion she conveyed news to Col. Wells and other loyal leaders by hiding the notes in her stockings."

The Palladium, a Toronto newspaper of the 14th February, 1838, mentions another young heroine, named Cordelia De Grassi—"The maid of the Don"—as having traversed the woods, alone, to Montgomery's and the headquarters of the rebels, and back again, with information of their councils, movements and numbers, several times, rendering very important services."

It is remarkable that Sir Francis Bond Head, in his celebrated "Narrative," omitted to refer to the eminent services of the Wilson family, as also those of Cordelia De Grassi—De mortuis nil nisi verum.

HORSE SHOW WEEK IN TORONTO.

The Horse Show to be held in the St. Lawrence Arena, corner of Jarvis and King Streets, Toronto, February 12th to 14th will usher in a series of events of much interest to horsemen. The time will be fully occupied from Wednesday morning until Friday night with Horse Show, Horse Meetings, and Horse Banquets. The Exhibition Arena will be well heated and lighted, with good seating accommodation around the ring, and good music will be supplied. Return door checks will be given out so that one single admission of 25 cents each day will admit at any time during each daily performance.

There will be no trouble with railway certificates, certificates will not be required. Round trip tickets for single fare will be sold over all lines from all stations in Ontario on February 11th and 12th, and from all stations within 75 miles of Toronto, on February 13th and 14th, all tickets good to return to and including February 15th. These rates together with the small outlay required to see the exhibition should ensure a large attendance. The arena is centrally situated, convenient to the hotels, not more than five minutes walk east on King Street from the corner of Yonge Street. The Belt line and King Street cars run in front of the main entrance off King Street. The official opening will be held at 2 p.m. on February 12th.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation, even to very young babes. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb". Always demand Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by W. A. Sanderson.

S. S. ASSOCIATION.

The Vaughan Township Sabbath School Association met in annual convention on Thursday, Jan. 16, in the Presbyterian church, Nashville. Sessions were held morning, afternoon, and evening. The attendance was large, filling the church in the evening. A number of excellent addresses were delivered on Sabbath School work by Rev. Mr. Martin of Bolton, Rev. Mr. McKinley of Bolton, Rev. Mr. Fish of Kleinburg, Rev. Mr. McKinnon of Woodbridge, Thomas Padget of Toronto Junction, Mrs. Bray of Nashville. All present felt that they would go back to their work with greater determination and stronger resolution to do even better work in the coming year. The Nashville people provided bountifully for the large number present. The convention of next year will be in the Presbyterian church, Woodbridge.
