

A LESSON TO THE WORLD

The True Meaning of New Zealand's Aid to Britain.

A despatch from Wellington, New Zealand, says: A conference of the New Zealand Chambers of Commerce on Tuesday unanimously carried a resolution approving of the Government's offer to share in the defence of the Empire by presenting a Dreadnought to the Imperial Government. The resolution stated that they acknowledged and placed on record their opinion that the prosperity and integrity of the Empire could only be upheld by the provision of an united defence by each and every portion of his Majesty's dominions. Now and in the future they were prepared to assist in establishing such a position.

At a dinner held in the evening the Prime Minister proposed the toast to "Commerce." Referring to the offer of a Dreadnought, he congratulated the delegates on unanimously supporting the Government's action. The delegates had recognized that that course was adopted and was in the general interest of the Empire. It was not one, nor indeed twelve, Dreadnoughts that counted, but the value of the moral to be drawn from the offer. New Zealand was not stupid enough to believe that Great Britain was unable to maintain a strong navy, or to offer a Dreadnought on the mere score of the cost, in the belief that England required her assistance, but she recognized that it was a proper thing to do to show foreign nations that the outlying portions of the Empire were willing to help. Moreover, the offer proved that they really formed a part of the Empire, to which they were proud to belong.

THREE PEOPLE DROWNED.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Robbins and Mr. J. M. Taylor, of Gananoque.

A despatch from Gananoque says: Another river tragedy occurred near here on Saturday afternoon by which mourning is brought to three homes. Early in the afternoon Mr. S. Robbins and wife and Mr. John M. Taylor left here in a light skiff for Clayton, N. Y. That was the last seen of them alive. Mrs. Robbins had an aunt ill in Clayton, whom she intended to visit, and the young men, after leaving her at her aunt's house, intended returning to Gananoque at once. But instead, about the time they should have returned, a telephone message was received from the chief of police at Clayton that a skiff, supposed to be from Gananoque, had been upset about two miles out, near the head of Grindstone Island, and the occupants drowned. A description of the boat, on the oars of which were the initials G. R., at once indicated that it belonged to the party above mentioned. If there had been any doubt it was removed on Sunday morning, when several parties were organized to visit the point where the accident occurred and grapple for the bodies. About 8.30 a.m. the body of Mrs. Robbins was recovered, and a few minutes later that of Mr. Taylor. The body of Mr. Robbins could not be located. The boat was a small one, being only fifteen feet long and of narrow beam, and it is supposed that when the occupants attempted to change seats she capsized. Both Taylor and Robbins were young men of good habits and well thought of here. The latter was 23 years of age and Taylor 19. Robbins' wife, to whom he was married last November, was formerly a Miss Newbury and was only seventeen years old.

FOUR MEN DROWNED.

Went Out in a Frail Boat Near Port Morien, N. S.

A despatch from Halifax says: As a result of a boating accident at Dominion No. 6, near Port Morien, on Thursday afternoon, four men lost their lives by drowning while another had a narrow escape and was completely exhausted when rescued and brought ashore. The names of the victims are: Michael Driver, 32, Englishman, married, eight children; George Hancock, Englishman, unmarried; Harry Gardner, 29, Scotchman, unmarried; William McLeod, 32, of Port Morien, married, two children. The rescued man is Thomas Wrench, who is in a serious condition as a result of his experience, but will recover. The accident occurred shortly after 1 o'clock, and when it became known great crowds lined the shore while the rescuers were at work bringing the remains to land.

WHEAT WILL GO HIGHER.

A Question of Supply and Demand, Says Jas. A. Patten.

A despatch from Chicago says: James A. Patten, the "Wheat King of the World," on Thursday announced his intention of getting out of the wheat market, and coupled the announcement with the prediction that after he was out of the market wheat would go even higher than it was selling to-day. Mr. Patten ascribed the present market price of wheat to supply and demand. He said that while the supply of wheat had not materially increased, the world's population and demand had grown and the present price of wheat was merely the natural result of these conditions.

STIMULUS TO PRODUCTION.

Farmers Will Increase Their Wheat Acreage.

A despatch from Regina, Sask., says: Cool weather during the past few days has interfered with the seeding operations through the west, but the delay is not serious and there is no concern about the outlook for the season. High prices for wheat in the markets of the world will undoubtedly lead to larger increase than usual in the acreage to be seeded in that grain. Farmers do not usually pay much attention to sky-rocketing tactics on the part of wheat manipulators, but conditions at the present time are recognized as extraordinary.

MURDERED BY A CONVICT

Deputy Warden Stedman Killed at Edmonton, Alberta, Penitentiary.

A despatch from Edmonton, Alberta, says: The deputy warden of the Alberta Penitentiary was murdered on Thursday morning by a convict, who struck him at the base of the skull with an axe. The deputy warden with six convicts were in the carpenter shop at the time. The reason for the assault is unknown. Richard Stedman, the dead man, came from Penetanguishene in 1906, where he was warden in the reformatory for 25 years. He leaves a widow and two sons. The murderer is Gary R. Barrett, sentenced a year ago for life for killing his stepson at North Battleford.

After the blow the murderer quietly surrendered and was locked up in his cell. The deputy warden had left the office of Warden McCauley about 25 minutes after 10 o'clock for a tour of the building.

He went direct to the carpenter shop, in which were Instructor A. Pope and six convicts. In an instant Barrett had picked up a short carpenter's axe that was lying nearby, and advancing a step towards the unsuspecting man, struck him a fearful blow with the sharp edge of the instrument and half severed the head from the trunk.

The murderer, who is about 55 years of age, has never been a troublesome prisoner, but was morose and constantly complaining about his health, and claimed that he did not get a fair trial. The only possible explanation for his act was a fancied grievance which he had against the deputy warden because he would not let him see the penitentiary physician without going on the sick list, according to the rules of the institution.

THOUSAND DEAD AT ADANA

Terrible Torrent of Blood Is Sweeping Over Southern Asia Minor.

A despatch from Beirut, Syria, says: A terrible uprising has occurred in Adana. Street fighting has been going on for three days, and at least 1,000 persons have been killed. The city has been practically destroyed by fire. American missionaries named Rogers and Mauer, the latter from Hadjin, are dead. All the other Americans are safe. The British Vice-Consul, Major Daughy-Wylie, is among the wounded. He was shot through the arm. At Tarsus there was less loss of life. The Armenian quarter was destroyed. Four thousand refugees are housed in the American mission. The need of relief is great, for shortly the fugitives will be on the verge of starvation. Conditions in the vilayet of Alexandretta are most serious. Reports have also come in of an outbreak at Erzerum, on the Euphrates, in the northeast.

A despatch from Constantinople says: Three French warships are hurrying to Mersina, where the situation is desperate. Foreigners and many Christians have taken refuge in the Consulates. The local troops and the Governor are doing their best to protect the town, but there is great fear that it cannot hold out much longer against the invasion of the Moslems, who are sweeping down in large numbers. A British warship is proceeding to Alexandretta, which is threatened by the Moslems.

Several Armenian farms in that neighborhood have been destroyed. Alarm is felt at Kharput because of serious depredations by the Kurds in the surrounding villages, although the town itself has not been the scene of any particular disorders.

HANGED HERSELF.

Suicide of Wife of a Well-known Medical Man of Montreal.

A despatch from Montreal says: Mrs. D. J. Evans, wife of a well-known medical man, hanged herself on Wednesday morning. She had been in poor health for some time, and had previously attempted to take her life several times. Wednesday morning she eluded attention, and procuring a rope succeeded in strangling herself.

LAY DEAD IN HER ROOM.

Woman Stricken With Apoplexy While Retiring.

A despatch from London, Ont., says: Mrs. James Fairburn was found dead on Thursday morning in her room over the London Cafe, where she boarded. She had evidently been dead some time. She was lying on the floor where she had fallen when taken with apoplexy while retiring. She was the widow of the late James Fairburn, who died a number of years ago, and who before his death was a partner in the firm of Fairburn and Mallock, who kept a foundry on Fullerton Street.

FRUIT PACKING.

Commissioner Finds Improvement in Canadian Methods.

A despatch from Ottawa says: Before the Commons Committee on Agriculture on Wednesday morning Mr. A. McNeil, fruit commissioner, stated that there had been a noticeable improvement during the past two or three years in the methods of fruit packing throughout Canada. Cases of fraud were now very few, and violations of the act were being closely watched by a staff of eight permanent and thirteen temporary inspectors. Last year there were 79 prosecutions for fraudulent packing.

PLAGUE IN GERMAN AFRICA.

Sixty Deaths Have Occurred in One District.

A despatch from Berlin, Germany, says: Advice received by the German Foreign Office state that sixty deaths from plague have occurred in the Muanza district, which lies south of the Victoria Nyanza.

THE INDIANS ARE STARVING

Failure of the Fur Industry Means Terrible Hardship.

A despatch from Edmonton, Alberta, says: Reports received here from Fort Chippewyan state that the past winter has been the most severe experienced in the far north for many years, and in some sections of the country starvation was only averted by the fact that the deer were unusually numerous. Fish, on which the inhabitants depend largely for subsistence, have been very scarce. The fur crop failed almost entirely, and the Indians have been in dire straits. Reports say that the traders have shut down on giving them credit, and as they cannot get fur they have no ammunition to hunt with and are slowly starving to death. Their condition is described as being truly pitiable. Many are mere skeletons and too weak even to get wood, and are lying huddled together in their tepees.

At Chippewyan and the vicinity even, where food has been obtainable, the mortality among the Indians has been very high, sixty having died within twelve months. Farther north the death rate is still higher. The principal cause is their filthy mode of living,
