DON'T MARRY TO REFORM.

Reform Him First and Then Don't Marry Him.

Much matrimonial misery is due to the fact that so many women fondly and foolishly believe in their power for good over the men whom they love. Believing so, they marry not only men who, as the saying goes, are "a little wild," but notoriously evil livers, in the hope that after marriage the vicious man will renounce his pleasant vices. Unfortunately such hopes rarely are realized. The cases where a woman, however deeply and truly in love, has married under these conditions against the entreaties of her friends and has not lived to repent her weakness are so few as to be worthy of citation as the exceptions which prove the rule.

In a clever brochure of pungent sayings concerning "Men, Women, and Fools," there is this: "Never marry a man to reform him: reform him first and then don't marry him."

Undoubtedly love works miracles; history teems with instances of its transforming power, cases where cowards have been changed into heroes; weakness made strength by its magical influence. But it is love, not marriage, which works the miracle, and the reformation, if sincere, will begin with love, not wait until after marriage to set forth its effectual calling.

The man who will not forsake his evil ways and lead a reputable life for the sake of his own self-respect and for the love of the mother who bore him is scarcely likely to do so for the sake of any other woman, however much he may profess to love her.

All of which does not mean that when a woman has the misfortune really to fall in love with a sinner, who plainly is repentant and who clearly is disposed to regard her as an angel, she must draw her skirts aside and pass the other way.

In most cases, almost all, alas! it would be better for her were she so to do; a wise old man used to say that where hearts have to be broken, a clean quick fracture is less painful than slow crushing to bits. But once in a while such men are worth saving, and are truly in earnest about it. But one should begin the work of reformation before marriage, and in the same spirit of prudence which causes one to wait for planks and for ropes, instead of leaping forthwith into a quicksand to rescue him who is in danger therein.

It is not an easy matter to reform any one, whether man or woman. Few people do not object to being found fault with, and most of us prefer our own failings to those of our neighbors. Besides, one may mean well yet be too weak to do well.

No man who cannot stand alone is a safe husband for any woman, and she who endeavors to hold up such a one is almost sure to be bent, if not broken, in the effort.

A RURAL JOKE.

The Caretakers' Pet Hobby Was the Stile.

In inspecting an old English church, Mr. J. J. Hissey was conducted by a caretaker who evidently had small interest in architecture; for as soon as the visitor had looked about all he wished, as he records in "An English Holiday," she announced, "Now I will show you something of real interest." She led the way through the churchyard to a spot where an open space in the boundary wall was apparently fenced across by some wooden rails and three upright posts; beyond this was a foot-path across the fields.

"There," she said, "that's what we call a tumble-down stile. I don't expect you have ever seen one before. Strange folk, who don't know how to use it, put their feet on the bars to climb over natural-like, then the bars give way and the folk tumble down. Lots of strangers have tumbled down trying to climb over it."

Before us were four rails stretched across the open space at the usual height of a gate or a fence, and our guide, placing her hand on the topmost rail at one end, pushed it easily down with the others below, and stepped over them.

Upon a close examination we discovered that the four bars moved on pivots placed in the middle upright post, the bars being weighted at one end to keep them in a horizontal position when not purposely pushed down. Truly a quaint, uncommon, and somewhat complicated sort of stile, although simple enough to use, to any one acquainted with the working of it. A novice, however, who essays to climb over it, which appears the natural thing to do, is nearly always thrown down, as already mentioned, owing to the bars unexpectedly giving way under his feet; and that, as the old body exclaimed, "is the joke of it."

I verily believe that she would have greatly rejoiced had a stranger chanced to come along that day and tumble at the stile; but, as she explained, half-apologetically, "Strangers be scarce in this part of the world; it ain't no good waiting for one."

SINGLE, YET MARRIED.

Canvasser—"Are you single?"
Man at the door—"Yes."
"Why the people next door told me you were married."
"So I am."
"Yet you told me just now you were single."
"Yes, so I did."
"Well, what is the matter with you?"
"Nothing, sir. My name is Single and I'm married. Good-day, sir."

ANIMALS THAT DREAD RAIN.

"Lions, tigers, and all the cat tribe dread rain," said a zoo-keeper. "On a rainy day they tear up and down their cages, growling and trembling. We usually put them to sleep with an extra ration of hot milk. 'Wolves love a grey day of rain. Treacherous as the wolf is, no keeper need fear him on a rainy day. He is too happy to harm a fly. 'Snakes, too, like rain. They perk up wonderfully as the damp makes itself felt in their warm cases of glass. 'Rain makes monkeys glum. They are apt, from instinct, when they see it through the window, to clasp their hands above their heads, and sit so for hours. That attitude, you know, makes a kind of shelter. It is the primitive umbrella."

GOT TO THE ROOT OF HIS TROUBLE

AND DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED W. WRIGHT'S BACKACHE.

He had Suffered for Several Years but the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy Gave Him Quick Relief.

Kelvington, Sask., May 24th (Special).—"Yes, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Backache, and I have recommended them to others who have also been cured." These are the words of William Wright, a farmer well known here. "I believe I inherited my trouble," Mr. Wright continues. "At times for several years it was very severe. I also suffered from Lumbago, and in the morning I had a bitter taste in my mouth and was troubled with dizziness and my skin was dry and harsh and there was a sediment in my urine.

"No treatment I could find gave me any permanent relief till finally believing that my kidneys were the root of my trouble, I determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Four boxes cured me."

Mr. Wright went at his trouble sensibly. He examined his symptoms, and they showed him that Kidney Disease was his trouble. Do as much for yourself, and if your symptoms point to disordered or diseased kidneys the cure is easy. Dodd's Kidney Pills will do it. They never fail.

ONE THAT WAS SUBMITTED.

"Last summer I went to sleep in a cottage and woke up in a stone house."

"How could you do that?"
"Well, you see a storm came up during the night and the wind made it rock."

An Always Ready Pill.—To those of regular habit medicine is of little concern, but the great majority of men are not of regular habit. The worry and cares of business prevent it, and out of the irregularity of life comes dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles as a protest. The run-down system demands a corrective and there is none better than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are simple in their composition and can be taken by the most delicately constituted.

HAD HIM THAT TIME.

An open-air orator once received this poser:

"I tell you, gentlemen," he exclaimed—"and the experience of a lifetime confirms my statement—that if you want a thing well done you must do it yourself!"

"How about getting your hair cut?" asked a man in the crowd.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too, but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me. All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Pedlar—"I've got some signs that I'm selling to shopkeepers like wildfire. Here's one, 'If you don't see what you want, ask for it.'" Country Shopkeeper—"Give me one readin', 'If you don't see what you want, ask for something else.'"

A Boon for the Bilious.—The liver is a very sensitive organ and easily deranged. When this occurs there is undue secretion of bile and the acid liquid flows into the stomach and sours it. It is the most distressing ailment, and many are prone to it. In this condition a man finds the best remedy in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are warranted to speedily correct the disorder. There is no better medicine in the entire list of pill preparations.

Patient—"Doctor, I can't sleep at night. What shall I do for it?"
Doctor—"Get a job as night watchman."

KNITTED KING'S FIRST SOCKS

The funeral took place at Rudington, Nottinghamshire, recently of Miss Annie Birkins, an interesting old lady of ninety-four, who had the honor of knitting the first pair of socks worn by King Edward when a baby. For over sixty years she was in the employ of the famous hosiery firm of Messrs. I. and R. Morley, of Nottingham, as chevron worker. She decorated socks and stockings made by Messrs. Morley for Queen Victoria—who gave her a framed autograph photograph—and also for Queen Alexandra, the King of Denmark, the Czar of Russia, and other royal personages.

Harry—"Yes, I got my looks from my mother and my brains from my father." Dora—"I'm sorry to hear that." Harry—"Why?" Dora—"Because it appears to me your parents were painfully lacking in generosity to their only son!"

Cheapest of All Medicines.—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest medicine now offered to the public. The dose required in any ailment is small and a bottle contains many doses. If it were valued at the benefit it confers it could not be purchased for many times the price asked for it, but increased consumption has simplified and cheapened its manufacture.

"How nicely you have ironed these things, Jane," said the mistress admiringly to her maid. Then, glancing at the glossy linen, she continued in a tone of surprise, "Oh, but I see they are all your own." "Yes'm," replied Jane, "and I'd do all yours just like that if I had time."

WHY.

Perhaps, without starting anything we shall be able to find out from somebody who knows; Why is a woman's hat?

In the treatment of summer complaints, the most effective remedy that can be used is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard preparation, and many people employ it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years and thousands can attest its superior qualities in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.
