

JACOBITES STILL EXIST

ANNUALLY CELEBRATE MEM- ORY OF KING CHARLES I.

King Edward Has a Rival to the Throne of Great Britain, in Their Opinion.

Many anniversaries are celebrated each year in London. The observances are sometimes quaint, sometimes interesting, but in no case are they more extraordinary than the proceedings on January 30th in memory of the execution of King Charles I. at Whitehall in 1649.

For on this date a number of Britons annually demonstrate their loyalty not to King Edward, but to another, whom they are pleased to designate the "Sovereign over the Water"!

CLAIMS DESCENT FROM CHARLES I.

That King Edward has a rival will come as a surprise to many. Most of us are under the impression that the unfortunate house of Stuart ended with Bonnie Prince Charlie and his brother, Prince Henry, who both died without heirs in the reign of George III. However, in Bavaria there is a princess, Maria Teresa by name, who stands nearer to the old Stuart line than even our good King Edward.

This princess claims descent from Charles I., while King Edward to prove that he has Stuart blood in his veins has to go a generation further back to King James. It is this fact which, in the eyes of those Britons to whom allusion has been made, makes his claim to our throne much weaker than that of the Bavarian princess, and which incites them to hail the latter as the legitimate Sovereign of these realms.

But, granting all that, these Britons, who claim to be the true descendants of the eighteenth-century Jacobites, shut their eyes to the fact that ours is a constitutional monarchy, and the branch of the Stuart family to which the Princess Maria belongs was excluded from the throne by Act of Parliament as long ago as the year 1700.

HAVE MANY CLUBS.

The Jacobites of the present day do not make themselves very conspicuous as individuals, but content themselves with advertising their political opinions through the clubs with which they are associated, such as the Thames Valley Legitimists, the White Cockade Legitimists, and the Legitimists Order of St. Germain's.

As indicated, the day on which they annually demonstrate their peculiar political beliefs is January 30th, and their favorite method of expressing their loyalty to the "Sovereign over the Water" consists in placing beautiful floral wreaths on the equestrian statue of Charles I., which stands at the south side of Trafalgar Square, looking towards Whitehall.

Up till recently little attention was paid by the authorities to the sentiments expressed on these wreaths. Latterly some became so seditious in tone that the Government very properly intervened, and now no memorial can be laid on King Charles' statue unless it has first been approved by an official censor.

The various wreaths usually contain the word "Remember." As students of history know, this was the last word uttered by King Charles, and was addressed to Bishop Juxon, who accompanied him to the scaffold.

WHAT DID THE KING MEAN?

To-day this word is one of the enigmas of history. What did the King mean by "Remember"? The Roundheads who superintended the execution jumped to the conclusion that His Majesty had confided some State secret to Juxon—perhaps a plot to overthrow the newly-established Commonwealth, which the Bishop was to convey to the Cavaliers; and instantly they pressed the poor clergyman to reveal the message he was commanded to remember.

With this request Juxon readily complied. His Majesty, he stated, had simply asked him to remind his son to pray for his father's enemies.

But this simple reply was scouted by the founders of the Commonwealth, who continued on their guard against unknown snares bequeathed by the unhappy Charles, with the result that their opponents, the Cavaliers, seeing how scared they were by the word "Remember," instantly adopted it as a motto.

In due time "Remember" became a watchword for the Jacobites, who see in it a command to remember their allegiance to the "Sovereign over the Water."—Pearson's Weekly.

ONE OF THE REGULARS.

During the encampment of several regiments of British soldiers in a certain district the wood and turf used for cooking purposes were carted by the neighboring farmers. One day a donkey cartful of turf was brought in, the driver being a country lad. As a regimental band was playing he stood in front of the donkey and held the animal tightly by the head. Some of the "smart ones" gathered around, highly pleased, and the wit of the party asked why he "held his brother so tightly."

The reply was crushing: "I'm afraid he might enlist."

On an average 26,000 letters are posted without addresses in England every year.

"LAKE OF BAYS" COUNTRY.

A handsome brochure, artistically illustrated, has been issued by the passenger department of the Grand Trunk Railway System, telling of the beauties of the Lake of Bays district, in the "Highlands of Ontario." A new feature of this district is the new hotel—the Wawa—at Norway Point. The hotel itself has a page illustration reflecting the summer glories of woodland and water, with a brood of seven wild geese soaring skyward beyond the tower. The concise description embodies the story of a charming resort.

"I think it very impolite for a gentleman to throw a kiss to a lady," said a girl to her friend. "So do I," was the response; "he should deliver it in person."

The change of dietary that comes with spring and summer has the effect in weak stomachs of setting up inflammation, resulting in dysentery and cholera morbus. The abnormal condition will continue if not attended to and will cause an exhaustive drain on the system. The best available medicine is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It clears the stomach and bowels of irritants, counteracts the inflammation and restores the organs to healthy action.

KILLED BY OWN TRAP.

Schuyler-Holley was instantly killed at Logansport, Ind., by a trap he had prepared to kill a thief that had been entering his chicken house. He had arranged an old muzzle-loading pistol so that if the door of the chicken house should be opened the pistol would be discharged. In the morning he forgot to disconnect the trap before he opened the door of the house and heavy load of the pistol was discharged into his breast.

South Ingonish, Cape Breton, June 7. (Special).—How easily and quickly Dodd's Kidney Pills banish Rheumatism and other symptoms of Kidney Disease is well known in the case of Michael C. Williams, a fisherman living in this place.

"My kidney disease started from a strain," Mr. Williams says, "and I suffered from it for about three months. I had backache, stiffness in the joints and Rheumatism. When I got up in the morning I had a bad taste in my mouth; I perspired freely with the least exertion, and I was always tired and nervous."

"One box of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me and I believe they will cure others who are suffering from Kidney Disease."

If you have any two of the symptoms mentioned by Mr. Williams you may be sure of two things. One is that your kidneys are sick, and the other that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure you.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved in thousands of cases all over Canada that they never fail to cure Kidney Disease of any kind or stage.

SAVING.

"It's a long way for a half dollar," remarked the cabdriver, looking sulkily at his fare.

"I know it is," replied the youth, quietly. "If it had not been, I should have walked."

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. B. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

WOULD GO WITH THEM.

An old couple in Glasgow were in a very depressed state owing to dull trade.

Thinking their son in America would help them, they wrote, stating their trouble, and that if he did not help them they would have to go into the poorhouse.

Three weeks passed, and then came a letter from their son, saying:—

"Dear Mither and Father,—Just wait another fortnight, an' I'll come home an' gang wi ye.—Your affectionate son."

Trial Proves its Excellence.—The best testimonial one can have of the virtue of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the treatment of bee pains, coughs, colds and affections of the respiratory organs, is a trial of it. If not found the sovereign remedy it is reputed to be, then it may be rejected as useless, and all that has been said in its praise denounced as untruthful.

HIS TROUBLE.

"What's the doctor treating you for?"
"For a swollen fortune," answered the stingy millionaire, as he uttered a painful check.

AFRICAN MOSQUITOES.

Missionary Says Their Poison will Intoxicate You.

"The African mosquitoes intoxicate you. They inject so much poison into you that you are dazed, your eyes roll and you stagger and speak thickly. In a word, you're drunk," says a missionary.

"In the Nyassa country I'd always start getting ready for bed and the mosquitoes an hour before sunset. I'd set up my mosquito net with the utmost care. I'd clamp down its edges with valises and boxes. I'd light inside it three green wood fires filling it with a bitter smoke that all insects are supposed to loathe.

"Finally I'd get in myself. I'd smoke big pipes of the black native tobacco, and I'd long miserably in that hot, smoky atmosphere for the dawn.

"Despite all my precautions quite 200 or 300 mosquitoes would get inside my net as soon as darkness fell. They were like a whirlwind in there. It couldn't have been worse. Their noise and their nipping made me feverish—made me really delirious at times.

"At last in exhaustion I'd get a few hours of troubled sleep, awakening for breakfast drunk from the poison injected by hundreds of tiny needles into my veins.

"No, it isn't the elephants or the giraffes that trouble the African hunter, but the 'skeeters.'"

Pills for Nervous Troubles.—The stomach is the centre of the nervous system, and when the stomach suspends healthy action the result is manifest in disturbances of the nerves. If allowed to persist, nervous debility, a dangerous ailment, may ensue. The first consideration is to restore the stomach to proper action, and there is no readier remedy for this than Parlee's Vegetable Pills. Thousands can attest the virtue of these pills in curing nervous disorders.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN.

Alice is a dear little girl of about 5, who is possessed of that quality termed from the point of view, firmness of character or obstinacy. Recently, one cloudy day, she drew her little rocking chair up to the window and began to enjoy a rock. Presently the sun came out with such force as to fall with disagreeable intensity and glare across the little one's face. She blinked and blinked, but instead of moving out of the way, kept on rocking. "Alice," suggested her mother, "the sun is shining right in your eyes. Why don't you move away?"

"I won't!" responded the stubborn youngster. "I was here first."
