

ONCE MORE THE PROOF IS GIVEN

THAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE EVEN INHERITED ILL-HEALTH.

Charles Dayon Suffered from Early Youth, but the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy Banished His Ills and Made Him Strong.

St. George, Man., June 14.—(Special).—Yet another case in which ill-health inherited from parents has been vanquished by Dodd's Kidney Pills is that of Mr. Charles Dayon, a farmer well known in this neighborhood.

"I suffered from a number of ills from an early age," says Mr. Dayon, who is now thirty-two years old. "I inherited my trouble from my parents. I was weak, nervous, and run down. I suffered from Backache and my muscles would cramp. I had a heavy dragging sensation across the loins. I was always thirsty; I had great difficulty in collecting my thoughts, and my memory was failing me.

"I was altogether in a bad way when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, but they helped me almost from the first box. They gave me strength and helped me so much in every way that I am satisfied a little longer treatment will make me a well man."

Mr. Dayon's symptoms were the symptoms of Kidney Disease, and Dodd's Kidney Pills cure every form of Kidney Disease no matter what stage it is in or how it is contracted.

3,000,000 BURIED COINS.

Prospectors Say They Know Where It is Buried.

The startling story of the hidden treasure of King Lobengula, which is now agitating South Africa, is in the main probably quite correct.

According to the Transvaal Leader, it consists of £3,000,000 in British coined gold, besides bar gold and dust, quantities of diamonds, and ten waggon-loads of ivory.

That the dusky chief of the Matabels was possessed of great wealth at the time of his death is fairly certain. It was seen by many white people of repute, one of whom estimated the total value of the hoard as being certainly not less than five millions sterling.

Very little of this was found at his capital, Buluwayo, when it was occupied by the Chartered Company's forces in November, 1893; but a certain amount of coined gold was discovered and looted by the Bechuanaland police, who were first in.

Thus, two men, named Wilson and Daniels, were proved later on to have appropriated one thousand overguineas between them, and were sentenced to fourteen years' penal servitude. Another man, who escaped, carried off £1,200 in his saddle-bags.

But for the most part, the treasure was removed by Lobengula's orders before the British occupation, and it is known that it accompanied the King in his wanderings up the Zambesi valley. What became of it after his death, however, has always been a mystery.

This mystery, it is confidently affirmed, is now about to be cleared up, a party of prospectors from Johannesburg being actually on their way to the spot where they say they know it to be buried. The cost of their expedition is high, some £5,000 in all, for the district where they are operating is a savage and desolate one. But if success crowns their efforts, and they are confident that it will, they will recoup themselves a thousand times over.—Pearson's Weekly.

"Will you be my wife?" he asked. "No," she replied. So he remained a bachelor, and lived happily ever after.

FINDING A HORSESHOE.

Superstition That It Will Bring You Luck.

Or all the emblems for good fortune the horse shoe stands among the first. Everybody knows it is unlucky to pass a horseshoe on the road without picking it up. It is a luck emblem of the greatest power. We are indebted for this statement to old tales, centuries in age, that have descended from father to son, from mother to daughter, through the years.

It is necessary to notice how the horseshoe lies before picking it up. If the ends are away from one the sign is that fortune will be within grasp; but by extravagance, carelessness, or the operation of rogues, it may depart almost as soon as it comes. A sign to take care is given, therefore.

The right thing to do is to turn the horse shoe around, so that the ends are toward the finder, before picking it up. And in carrying, it home it is correct to hold it with the ends upward, or the earth will attract itself the promised fortune.

When the shoe is nailed up on door or window in its destined place the ends must be upward, or the whole luck emblem will be nullified. Instead of keeping evil spirits away, the shoe, in the wrong position, will attract them! Instead of bringing good fortune, the luck of the house will be diverted.

It is supposed that the element of electricity enters into the matter. From the shoe proceeds a current of beneficent rays that, with the ends upward, will spread over the house as a protecting influence; with the ends downward the good rays are drawn into the all-receiving, all giving earth, and with them many of the good influences that are about the place.

A century ago it was very common to see upon a cowshed door the horseshoe that scared off witches who would milk the cows or dry them up. Nowadays they are not so common, yet here and there they are still seen.

If allowed to roam over your house those few innocent-looking house flies may cause a real tragedy any day, as they are known to be the principal agents for the spread of those deadly diseases, typhoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

"Say," queried the ordinary policeman, "how did you get next to the fact that the chap you arrested was a counterfeiter?" "I overheard him making 'queer' remarks," explained the great detective.

Through indiscretion in eating green fruit in summer many children become subject to cholera morbus caused by irritating acids that act violently on the lining of the intestines. Pains and dangerous purgings ensue and the delicate system of the child suffers under the drain. In such cases the safest and surest medicine is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It will check the inflammation and save the child's life.

HOW THE BASUTOS DECIDED.

The Basuto chiefs who recently visited England seemed fairly well civilized, but some quaint customs are still in vogue in Basutoland. When the South African War broke out, the Basutos wanted to help the British, because the Boers are their hereditary foes. According to time-honored traditions, their medicine-men flayed alive two oxen—a red-skinned beast to represent the British, a white one for the Boers. It so happened that the white ox survived its fellow-martyr for a few moments, and, therefore, it was held that the Boers must win the war. This obvious decree of Fate helped to induce the tribe to "sit tight." Naturally, they did not want to fight on the losing side, and nothing could have persuaded them to help the hated Boers.

SICK SKINS IN SUMMER.

Summer is the hardest time for the human skin. Its delicate tiny pores, if worked under the best conditions, would have a rough time because of the heat. How when they have to work when impaired or damaged by sunburn and heat spots? No wonder one has rough patches, freckles, etc.

Zam-Buk heals sick skins. When a patch of skin on face, neck, or arms is blistered by the sun, apply Zam-Buk at once. It will cool and soothe beautifully, and new skin will be quickly formed. When you are footsore, or have some chafed places, Zam-Buk will give you ease. When the mosquitoes raise lumps on you, Zam-Buk will stop that terrible itching and smarting. Keep Zam-Buk handy, use it freely, and this will be the happiest summer you have ever spent, viewed from the skin health standpoint. All druggists and stores.

After making a most careful study of the matter, U. S. Government scientists state definitely that the common house fly is the principal means of distributing typhoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox. Wilson's Fly Pads kill the flies and the disease germs, too.
