

NEW METHODS PROPOSED.

A number of Methodist Churches in Toronto are to be commended for their efforts to introduce new methods in connection with their work. According to reports published in the daily papers some half dozen of them at least are to be converted into what they term institutional churches. If the new plan of campaign is carried out the change will be very radical. Instead of pastors spending much of their time visiting among church members it is proposed that more time be spent seeking strangers and those people who never go to church.

We know that pastors are expected to visit the members of their flock quite frequently, but as it is impossible to call on the members of a large congregation, and do all kinds of missionary work outside, ministers may well be excused if they spend the greater part of their time in gathering the people in from the outside. A well-known clergyman put the matter in this form: "It is an absolute waste of time," "for us to go about day after day, sitting in wealthy homes, holding little social tete-a-tetes with those of our members who need us least. We should be free to go out into streets and lanes to gather the non-church-goers and the strangers into the fold. That's the real work, and so long as this social pastoral visitation is kept up we can't do it.

And this work of going out into the highway and byways should not all be left to the pastors. Most of us believe in assisting the great missionary movement. But there is a danger of people concentrating their efforts on residents in China and Japan, and other places thousands of miles away, and neglecting people at their own doors.

Is it not possible, yes probable, that there are men all around us who have not been personally interviewed about their soul's salvation any more than if they lived in the heart of Africa. Christ commanded his disciples to preach the gospel to all mankind—but to commence at Jerusalem—at home.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Rev. P. F. Sinclair M. A., of Toronto, late assistant minister in St. Andrew's church, Winnipeg, will give an address on Mission work in our Canadian West, on next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The congregation is invited and a good attendance is expected. Mr. Sinclair has first hand acquaintance with the west and is a pleasing speaker. A collection will be taken in the interest of the Guild, under whose auspices the meeting is held.

Mr. Hugh Ross of Queensville will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sunday in exchange with Rev. E. C. Currie who will conduct anniversary services in the Queensville charge.
