

CONSISTENCY (?)

Fair-minded people would like to think that Mr. Bourassa is honest when he protests that he is not disloyal to the British Empire. It is easier to believe, however, that he spends far more time in working on the prejudices of his co-religionists in Quebec than he does in honest effort to make them better citizens. At a large meeting held in Montreal on the 9th inst. Mr. Bourassa moved a resolution, the first paragraph reading as follows:—

"This meeting acclaims the result of the election in Drummond and Arthabaska as the triumph of the principle of Canadian autonomy."

"Canadian Autonomy" is the right of Canada to make and administer her own laws. The Navy Bill, which defeated the Laurier candidate in Drummond, gives this country the right to manage and control the Navy. Mr. Borden and many Conservatives hold the view that the money expended for the defence of the Empire should be expended in Dreadnoughts to be controlled by the British Government. This would not be autonomy.

Another paragraph declared the meeting ready "to uphold the rights of the British crown in Canada, and ready to approve all necessary and efficient measures to make sure the defence of Canadian territory, but it considers as contrary to the principle of Canadian autonomy and to the real unity of the Empire any policy tending to impose upon Canada, that has no voice in the government of the Empire, any share in its external responsibilities and its military defence outside of the Canadian territory," &c.

It is to be feared the Nationalists under Mr. Bourassa and Mr. Monk are trying to deceive the people. How do they propose to defend Canadian territory? The surest defence is to have ships that will be prepared to meet an enemy before the latter has a chance to bombard Halifax, Vancouver and other cities on the seacoasts.

Although nothing definite was arrived at relative to better trade relations between Canada and the United States, at the recent conference at Ottawa, the frank and friendly discussions seemed to have paved the way for future negotiations. The discussions were held with closed doors, but the following brief official report has been given out:—

"The whole discussion was of the most frank and friendly nature. While no conclusion was reached, the ground was cleared for a further conference, which will be held in Washington, probably early in January. The members of the conference, Messrs. Hoyt, Pepper and Foster, representing the United States, and Messrs. Fielding and Patterson, representing Canada, separated with the strong hope that on the resumption of the conference at Washington an arrangement can be reached that will prove acceptable to people on both sides of the boundary line."

ATHLETIC WORLD

The November number of the Athletic World, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ontario, which has just reached this office, is an exceptionally good one, and seems to indicate that the policy of steady improvement which this magazine has so far carried out so well, will continue in the future. The various occurrences of interest in the Canadian sporting world are well described and attention is also paid to events in other countries, while practically every branch of sport is covered. Lovers of athletics will do well to get this number, in which will be found something to interest everyone, whatever field of sport he particularly favors.

THE LIBERAL and the Family Herald and Weekly Star will be sent for the balance of the year, both papers for 40 cents. Those who are not taking those papers should take advantage of this special offer.
