CANNOT FAIL TO INTEREST WOMEN

ALBERTA LADY TELLS OF HER CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Was weak, nervous, run-down and suffering from Rheumatism -Dodd's Kidney Pills made her a new person.

Beauvallon, Alta., May 1 (Special).-Women who are nervous, run down and suffering from Rheumatism, cannot fail to be interested in the case of Miss Gertrude E. Reyome of this place. She was exactly in that condition. Today she is as she puts it herself "a new person." Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. Here is her statement given for publication:

"My Kidney Disease started from a cold two years ago. Rheumatisin set in, and I was weak and nervous, and in a run down condition. I was attended by a doctor who did not appear to understand my case. Three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new person of me."

Is not Miss Reyome's condition an exact description of nine-tenths of the ailing women of Canada? The doctor did not understand her case. It was simple enough. It was Kidney Trouble. And Kidney Disease is the one great cause of women's troubles. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure it.

BIGGER BATTLESHIPS. Naval Architects Say the Limit Has Not Been Reached.

The British Society of Naval Architects has been discussing the size of pattleships and inclines to the opinion that the limit has by no means been reached. The discussion brought out the ratio of growth in England. Battleships have increased in the last ten years 60 per cent. in displacement, 35 per cent. in length, 17 per cent. in breadth. In speed more than two knots an hour has been gained, and the weight of metal discharged in a broadside has made the amazing growth from 4,000 to 12,000 pounds.

Considering the matter of cost, it was said that two of the newest vessels could be built for about the price of three of the earlier and smaller pre-Dreadnought type. The two modern vessels would, however, take into action a main armament one-third greater than that of the three small vessels combined, and their working cost and expensiveness in maintainance and repairs would be less. From these considerations Professor J. J. Welch thought the policy of building big ships was justified. The unsettled question, one which naval officers could best answer, he said, was whether ships of still greater size would not prove an advantage.

Professor G. H. Biles said the classic dictum used to be that "on-ly numbers could annihilate," but it was now antiquated. One Dreadnought could have annihilated Nelson's fleet at Trafalgar and for the matter of that the French and Spanish ships to boot. He was far from believing that the battleship limit had been reached in vessels of 28,000 or 30,000 tons.

On a recent Sunday some 3,000 people assembled near High Wycombe, Bucks., England, to assert what they believe to be their right to use a certain footpath which leads to Roundabout Wood. Efforts have been made to close this, and the footpath and the adjoining land have been plowed up. After a meeting, the 3,000 marched in pairs over the plowed ground to make a quarter mile long footpath. NOT THEN.

JAPAN IN COMMERCE. Destined to be a Manufacturing and #### Shipping Country.

The Japanese recognize that their argricultural resources are limited on account of the peculiar topographical and climatic features of the country. The agricultural land has been subjected to intense culture for centuries and cannot be improved much more. The empire is thus precluded from becoming an important contributor to the world's food supplies. It will do well if it can manage to produce sufficient food products for its own use. When the population increases it will necessarily become dependent upon foreign countries for food. Consequently, the administrators have for some years aimed at making Japan a manufacturing and shipping country. They have taken England as a model in doing this. Japan is not nearly so well endowed with natural resources as England is, but the progress lately made in developing Japan's shipping and manufacturing industries is remark able.

It is almost essential for a nation aspiring to rank well among the great manufacturing peoples to command extensive resources of coal, iron, salt, the alkalies, petroleum, limestones and clays. Japan, fortunately, possesses an abundance of such resources and is therefore naturally equipped for becoming what her political leaders are striving for-the leading manufacturing and trading country in the Orient.

Japanese mines are generally well worked and equipped with machinery. Good and efficient metallurgical works exist for the treatment of metallic ores close to the mines. Japanese engineers have shown a good aptitude for mining and metallurgical work and they have been well backed up by local capitalists. There is every reason for the belief that the remarkable progress made in the development of the empire's mineral resources during the past decade will be continued and that this steady improvement will powerfully contribute to "As for me," remarked young the working out of the national Muggsby, "I don't believe in the ideals of the Japanese people.-En-The gineering Magazine.
