DIRECTORS OF CORONATION.
Perquisites and Privileges Connected With Coronation.

For months past men like the Duke of Norfolk, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Granard as Master of the Horse, and the Dean of Westminster have been working many hours every day, planning and settling the details of the Coronation ceremony and procession. The Duke of Norfolk as Earl Marshal and Chief Butler of England, is responsible for the successful organizing of the Coronation, and, as head of the Heralds' College or College of Arms, has had to deal with a hundred and one problems of dress and decoration in connection with the ceremony.

It is he who plans, on paper, the marshaling of the procession, the positions taken by the great officers of State, the proper care of the Regalia, and the crowning of the King and Queen, all strictly in accordance with precedent. He is assisted largely in his labors by the Archbishop of Canterbury, who arranges the religious part of the ceremony, while to the Dean of Westminster falls the task of preparing the Abbey for the historic occasion. Then, again, the Lord Chamberlain is responsible for the housing of the foreign representatives attending the Coronation, while the Master of the Horse attends to the Royal equipage.

And as a reward for this work these directors of the Coronation, as they may be termed, derive from their various offices perquisites which, apart from their intrinsic worth, are extremely valuable on account of their historic associations.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, for instance, will receive the velvet chair on which the King sat during the ceremony, and with it will go the cushion and the footstool. The quaint perquisite of the Lord Great Chamberlain used to be the King's bed and bedding and the furniture of the room in which his Majesty slept the night before the Coronation in addition to forty yards of crimson velvet and the Royal nightgown. He now contents himself with the forty yards of velvet and the profits and fees of his office.

Robes for the Dean and three chaplains and for sixteen of the clergy are the perquisites of the Dean and Chapter of Westminster, and, most valuable of all, they claim the wood used for the stands and other erections in the Abbey, which is worth several thousand pounds. Perhaps the most valuable perquisite of all connected with the crowning are the splendid purple robes which form a most important part of the Queen's costume. These, once the ceremony is concluded, become the absolute property of the Mistress of the Robes.

And talking of privileges, it might be mentioned that the Lord Mayor of London, from time immemorial, has claimed as his right, as chief ruler of the city, attendance upon the Sovereign, both in the procession and during the actual ceremony in the Abbey, where he stands on the left of the Coronation chair, holding the City sceptre and mace. This mace, which is sometimes called the Crystal Sceptre, is one of great antiquity. The head is set with uncut rubies, large pearls, and sapphires, and is of fifteenth-century workmanship.

When it was necessary to hold a Coronation banquet in Westminster Hall—a custom which was only discontinued by the late Queen Victoria and King Edward—the Lord Mayor had the right to attend with twelve citizens, act as assistant to the King's butler, and present his Majesty with wine in a gold cup. After the King had drunk, the cup was returned to the Lord Mayor, who retained it as his fee.

Corns cripple the feet and make walking a torture, yet sure relief in the shape of Holloway's Corn Cure is within reach of all.

Agnes—A thing of beauty is a joy forever, isn't it? Gladys—No. Only until some servant breaks it.

Time Has Tested It.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has been on the market upwards of thirty years and in that time it has proved a blessing to thousands. It is in high favor throughout Canada and its excellence has carried its fame beyond the seas. It has no equal in the whole list of liniments. If it were double the price it would be a cheap liniment.

"Jack, Dolly told me the most exciting secret, and made me vow never to breathe it to a living soul." "Well, hurry up with it. I'm late for the office now."

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Blobbs—"I love the old songs best." Slobbs—"Why?" Blobbs—"Because no one sings them now."

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

ATTRACTIVE DESSERT.

One egg, white and yolk beaten separately, to which add one and one-half cups granulated sugar and one glass purple grape jelly. If the jelly is stiff, warm it slightly first, so it will more easily blend with the other ingredients. Stir all together with one quart of good fresh buttermilk. Then freeze the same as any ice cream, adding the juice of two lemons when partly frozen. The combination of buttermilk and grape jelly produces a most perfect violet shade, while the flavor of the "cream" is as pleasing to the palate as the color is to the eye.

Violet or similar green leaves should decorate the base of the cream when it is served. This quantity will serve ten people. If buttermilk is not available, good sour milk will do. Cake—Bake any preferred simple white or sponge cake in a sheet. When cold, cut in squares and frost on top and sides with a white icing. In one corner of each piece make a small loop of narrow stiff white paper, covering each end with the frosting, and letting the loop project only enough to admit the stems of a few violets, just enough to decorate each piece daintily. If fresh violets are not available, a party decoration can be made with the candied violet leaves and slices of citron in the shape of leaves.

THE BONE OF CONTENTION.

"Mother's compliments," said the youngster to the butcher, "and she's sent me to show you the big bone brought with the piece of beef this morning." "Tell your mother next time I kills a bullock without bones in it I'll make her a present of a joint," said the man of meat, with a grin. "Mother's compliments," continued the boy, "and she says next time you find a bit of sirloin with a shoulder of mutton bone in it she'd like to buy the whole carcass as a curiosity."

BUSINESSLIKE.

"Has your husband an old suit that he ain't usin', ma'am?" asked the tramp, respectfully removing from his head the shapeless remnant of a hat.

"No!" shortly answered the woman of the house, eyeing him suspiciously. "My husband has only one suit, and it'll last him six months yet."

"All right, ma'am," he rejoined, taking from an inside pocket a soiled scrap of cardboard and making a memorandum on it with the stump of a lead pencil. "I'll be round ag'in in six months from to-day. Afternoon, ma'am!"

Pills of Attested Value.—Parnelle's Vegetable Pills are the result of careful study of the properties of certain roots and herbs, and the action of such as sedatives and laxatives on the digestive apparatus. The success the compounders have met with attests the value of their work. These pills have been recognized for many years as the best cleansers of the system that can be got. Their excellence was recognized from the first and they grow more popular daily.

Boy—"Come quick! There's a man been fighting my father mor'n half an hour." Policeman—"Why didn't you tell me before?" Boy—"Cause father was getting the best of it till a few minutes ago!"

Mothers can easily know when their children are troubled with worms, and they lose no time in applying the best of remedies—Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

Judge (to burglar on trial)—"Have you anything to say, prisoner?" Burglar—"Yes, your honor. I was only actin' on me doctor's advice to take something before going to bed!"

Don't experiment with unsatisfactory substitutes. Wilson's Fly Pads kill many times more house flies than any other known article.

Wife—"D'ye know you're growing quite handsome, hubby?" Hubby—"Yes; it's a way I have when it gets anywhere near your birthday."

Common yellow soap should always be bought in large quantities and kept in a warm, dry place. If it is hard before being used, it will last much longer.

They Cleanse While They Cure.
—The vegetable compounds of which Parnelle's Vegetable Pills are composed, mainly dandelion and mandrake, clear the stomach and intestines of deleterious matter and restore the deranged organs to healthful action. Hence they are the best remedy for indigestion available to-day. A trial of them will establish the truth of this assertion and do more to convince the ailing than anything that can be written of these pills.

HAD TO BE DONE.

Digby, N.S.
Gentlemen,—Last August my horse was badly cut in eleven places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts (small ones) healed soon, but the others became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last a doctor advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and in four weeks' time every sore was healed and the hair has grown over each one in fine condition. The Liniment is certainly wonderful in its working.

A WOMAN'S "NO."
Marks—"I married my wife a month after she accepted me." Parks—"That's nothing. I married mine three days after she refused me."

The microscope in the hands of experts employed by the United States Government has revealed the fact that a house fly sometimes carries thousands of disease germs attached to its hairy body. The continuous use of Wilson's Fly Pads will prevent all danger of infection from that source by killing both the germs and the flies.

FORTUNATE!
There was a shivering sound of breaking glass heard in the drawing-room. "James! Have you broken another goblet?" "Yes, madam; but I was very fortunate this time. It only broke in two places." "Well, and you call that being 'fortunate,' do you?" "Yes, madam; you can't imagine what a bother it to pick them up when they break into a hundred pieces."
