Canadian Magazine

An exceedingly interesting number, from a Canadian standpoint, is the October Canadian Magazine. There are a number of unusually attractive contributions. "Western Canada Going Dry," by A. Vernon Thomas; "Fortune of Enderby," by Mrs. Arthur Murphy; "Christ and Socrates," by R. Goldwin Smith; "The Ox," by Britton B. Cooke; "Literature and Life," by Harold Garnet Black; "The Curious Case of Benjamin Mott," by Irving E. Struthers, as well as a number of good short stories.

Victoria Square

The Rally Day exercises held last Sunday were quite successful, although the weather kept many away, and the attendance was small compared with last year. The program, "The Ideal King" was carried out with some changes, and those taking part did well. Rev. Mr. Aikenhead gave his talk on "Ship," and everyone enjoyed his remarks. The church was very nicely decorated with flags, which suited the proceedings of the day. The collection was $4.69.

On their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilson were tendered a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Brown, parents of the bride. Relatives of the bride and groom were present and enjoyed a dainty repast in the prettily decorated dining room. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside at Gormley where they have purchased the store from Mr. C. H. Keys.

The funeral of the late Miss Connie Elder Brown of Mount Jay took place on Monday afternoon. Miss Brown had been ailing for some years. The deceased was a former resident of this vicinity. After services in the Mennonite Church, Monday, the remains were interred in Victoria Square Cemetery.

The boys enjoyed the proceeds of the charivari Saturday evening.

The Women's Institute intend holding an entertainment in aid of the Red Cross. A drama will be the main feature of the program.
