

EDITORIAL

Unfortunately there is a tendency in some quarters—and this is not confined to one political party—to poke fun at Sir Sam Hughes particularly since the Minister of Militia has been wearing his new title. His best friends will admit that he is not always judicious in his public utterances, but he has done a lot of good work in organizing our forces since the war began, and he should receive encouragement rather than ridicule. We need men of courage, and let us remember that the name Hughes has never been associated with that of a coward.

A better feeling seems now to exist between politicians on both sides of politics, and little is heard of a general election. It is safe to say that Sir Robert Borden's address in Massey Hall did much to quiet the nerves of many who had been reading editorials in the Toronto News and other Conservative papers. The Premier's address was entirely free from partisan matter, and the large audience felt he was talking, not to a political party, but to a nation. Sir Robert spoke with confidence, but made it plain that to defeat the enemy Canada and the British Empire must present to the world a united front.

"GET PAINT WISE"

Every householder in this city should be well informed on paint questions—WHY? Because there is hardly one article in your house that is not finished with a paint, varnish, enamel or stain.

The kind of paint
Proper condition of the surface
The weather conditions
The cost per years of wear

are important features to know before the time comes to do the work. Get our booklets and pamphlets and "read up" on these subjects.
