Death of Thomas Lloyd

Mr. Thomas Lloyd, for many years one of the progressive farmers of Whitechurch township, died at his home in Aurora on Monday, at the advanced age of 86 years. Mr. Lloyd was a Liberal in politics and sat at a banquet tendered to the late William Lyon Mackenzie in Aurora on his election for York. In August of this year he sat in an interesting group photo with Mrs. John King, the only surviving daughter of Mr. Mackenzie, at a patriotic picnic held at Kettleby. Deceased was better known in this village as a director of long standing in the Richmond Hill Agricultural Society. His funeral from the residence yesterday afternoon to the Aurora cemetery was largely attended.

Kindly Oblige

Next week The Liberal will begin to send out accounts for subscriptions, etc. Will those in arrears kindly settle at their earliest convenience as this is one of the times of the year that publishers are particularly in need of money. As a rule our accounts are small, but we have many of them on our books at the present time.

New Caps

The members of the Home Guard received their new caps before drill practice Friday evening. The new hood is certainly very becoming, in several cases transforming in appearance boys to young men. If the members had their full uniform their wives and sweethearts would almost require an introduction to them.

Second Growth

No doubt the wet season is the cause of much of the second growth this autumn. A few days ago the writer was shown some very pretty apple blossoms from Mr. John Hislop's orchard, and Tuesday evening several branches of ripe red and black raspberries were handed in from Mr. Amos Wright's garden. This is not common at this season of the year.

Opening Letters

An unfortunate family affair was up before Magistrate Bantoun in the Court Room here on Saturday. The charge was the taking from the Post Office and opening and reading a letter that had been sent to a sister-in-law. The Magistrate pointed out the seriousness of the offence, saying it was in his power to make the penalty imprisonment. After warning the parties concerned they were allowed to go on suspended sentence, paying the costs of the court.

Both Markham and Woodbridge had record crowds on the closing days of their fairs this year. Markham is said to have had 1,500 people, and the same number is reported for Woodbridge.
