

TORONTO LETTER

Mr. Rowell's speaking engagements on the war within the last week include an address delivered at a complimentary dinner tendered him by the Montreal Reform Club and one given to the Young People's Society of Shaar Hashomayim of Montreal, a recruiting meeting at Windsor in connection with the formation of an Essex County Battalion, and an address in London before the Older Boys' Conference.

The Montreal Herald described Mr. Rowell's speech before the Montreal Reform Club as "a recruiting speech which should find its place into every Canadian home."

At Windsor Mr. Rowell addressed an audience composed of Canadians of both French and English origin from the County of Essex and made an appeal to all Canadians, irrespective of racial origin, and on the grounds of their common Canadian citizenship to join the colors.

"Our gallant Canadian sons," he said, "of both British and French origin, have on the plains of Europe, fighting in a common cause, sealed with their blood a covenant which should bind together the two great races in Canada."

Mr. Rowell said that the people of Canada would not permit any small nationalist movement here, whether represented outside the government or inside the government, as Mr. Laverne suggests, to deter them from doing their duty as Canadian citizens in this supreme hour, and the people of Canada of both British and French origin would unite as Britons and Boers in South Africa had united to fight for the common cause of Liberty and justice.

At London Mr. Rowell expressed the hope that representatives of India should be asked to meet with the Imperial Conference this year in a war session. He thought that such an invitation to India would stir the imagination and still further quicken the devotion of the more than three hundred millions of people in India who had already shown such loyalty and sacrifice in this war and had earned the right to appeal for a place in the Imperial Conference.

A MILITARY WEDDING

The officers' bungalow of the Kapuskasing Military Internment Camp, near Sudbury, was the scene of a pretty military wedding on Wednesday evening, November 10th, when Bertha Mabel Hughes, of Woodbridge, was united in marriage to Rev. F. T. Graham, B.A., of Richmond Hill, the camp chaplain. The wedding ceremony took place in the large ante-room of the officers' bungalow before the huge fireplace, under the colors of the Union Jack, which was draped from a large spread of moose horns. At the commencement of the marriage ceremony the officers were drawn in two lines, facing inwards, with swords drawn at the carry to allow the bridal party to pass. They then formed inwards and made a line to cross behind the party extending across the mess room. At the conclusion of the wedding march, which was played by Pte C. A. M. Pickering of the A. M. C., the Rev. A. A. Wall, of Choctawhatchee, assisted by the Rev. A. Halbert, of Jacksonboro, the bride, who was unattended, was given away by Col. F. F. Clarke, commanding officer of the camp, while Mr. Fred Fort acted as best man. Immediately after the ceremony the bugle band of the detachment of guards sounded the reveille to designate the commencement of a new day, then the officers having received the command crossed swords and allowed the bridal party to pass through to the other end of the room, where a reception was held. During the signing of the register Mrs. Albert Stewart sang in a very pleasing voice "Promise Me." Then followed the wedding supper, which was conducted in a formal manner according to military custom. The table was decorated with flowers, palms, and greens, and presented a very pretty effect as the bride rose and cut the wedding cake with the sword of the officer commanding. After the toast to the King, Col. Clarke proposed a toast to the bride and groom, which was responded to by the groom in a very appropriate manner. After the wedding supper the bride and groom left for their home on Clarke Island, on the Kapuskasing River, where Col. Clarke put his attractive cottage at their disposal for the winter. The bride and groom were escorted across by the wedding party, the launch being gaily decorated with Japanese lanterns. After serenading them in their new home the party returned and spent the remainder of the evening at the bungalow. The guests present included: Col. Clarke, officer commanding, Capt. and Mrs. Garrett, Capt. R. Walker, Lieut. A. R. Lawrence (adjutant), and Mrs. Lawrence, Lieut. G. Clegg, A.M.C., Lieut. N. R. Wright, Lieut. Price, Lieut. G. B. Snow, Lieut. G. T. Ormsby, Lieut. T. D. McIntosh, Lieut. G. Heighington, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wall, Rev. A. Halbert, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stewart, Bishop Anderson, Mr. Harry Man, Mr. Stanley Whittingham. The gift of the groom to the best man, Mr. Fred Foster, was a pair of diamond cuff-links.
