A BRITISH TORPEDO.

One of the Most Remarkable New Weapons of Warfare.

An English officer on leave from the Cameroons, who fully understands the topography of the Gold Coast and the whole district known as The White Man's Grave says that in the Cameroons the fighting is more fierce than in Flanders.

"At times it is primitive and savage," he says, "added to which are the deadly climatic conditions, and the fear of attacks from tarantulas, reptiles, ferocious animals and all the diseases of the tropics. Service in Africa requires a varied knowledge and a wide experience. An officer has to be an expert in many directions and each has to make a special study of ordnance and coastal defence.

"Seven years ago, Bleriot crossed the English Channel in an aeroplane, and the world wondered. To-day, the European sky is dotted with flying men. Without a doubt, war has developed mechanics, aeronautics and every science years ahead of normal progress. Every war department is stirring its brains, down to the private in the trenches who constructs his own periscope from a stick and a broken mirror, which at times proves as effective as the periscope-rifle which enables the soldier to shoot without exposing himself above the parapet. There is no end to the innovations for destruction, but one which the English navy claims will actually search for a target is worthy of mention and that is a new torpedo.

"Its mechanical simplicity renders it the more efficient, and it is claimed that when the new equipment is fully installed even Heligoland and Wilhelmshaven will cease to be safe refuges for a fleet.

"This torpedo can be directed to take any course and to alter its course at any distance automatically. Suppose a warship or other target to be 2,000 yards from the submarine about to fire a torpedo. The range is set for 2,000 yards plus an additional 500 yards. If the torpedo hits the target within that range its mission is completed, but if it misses it travels on for 500 yards, then swings back, boomerang fashion and zig-zags or circles with a bias in the direction of the moving target until it strikes. The rudder can be so set as to operate the torpedo in a logarithmic spiral. The return of the torpedo covers a range of 500 to 1,000 yards from the maximum gauge therefore, approaching to a distance about a thousand yards from the discharging vessel. Should it then be unsuccessful in hitting anything, it automatically opens sea-cocks and plunges to the bottom of the sea. Upon striking the seabed it explodes and is no longer a menace to anything else."

SUMMER COMPLAINTS KILL LITTLE ONES.

At the first sign of illness during the hot weather give the little ones Baby's Own Tablets, or in a few hours he may be beyond cure. These Tablets will prevent summer complaints if given occasionally to the well child and will promptly cure these troubles if they come on suddenly. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in every home where there are young children. There is no other medicine as good and the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that they are absolutely safe. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TORN FROM THEIR HOMES.

Inhabitants of Northern France Deported to Germany.

Poignant details of the deportation at an hour and a half's notice of 25,000 citizens from the French towns of Lille, Roubaix and Tourcoing by the Germans last Easter, are given in a French Yellow Book.

The Germans' orders were for the people in certain districts of these towns to assemble in readiness for departure at their front doors, and none was to leave the house before 8 a.m. The orders stated that "all protests will be useless and any one trying to evade deportation will be pitilessly punished."

The victims in all cases were chosen arbitrarily by the officer in charge of the deporting party.

The Yellow Book continues: "The measure caused the greatest anguish and despair among the population of the notified districts, while in some cases it led to madness.

"Men especially suffered torture at seeing their wives daughters and children of both sexes over the age of fourteen led away.

"The protests of mayors and other officials went unheeded.

"At Roubaix the Prussian Guard refused to participate in the raids and the work had to be done by the Sixty-Fourth Regiment from Verdun.

"A large proportion of the young women taken belonged to the servant class. When those deported were conveyed to the railway station and loaded into the cattle trucks they kept crying: 'Vive la France,' and singing the 'Marseillaise.'"

The Paris Temps affirms in substance that it is now up to the neutrals to insist upon the observance of the conventions signed by them and by the belligerents.

Women always have a lot to say about their rights but never a word about the wrongs of the poor man.

Are You For "Preparedness"? The best preparedness for man or woman is the preparedness that comes from living in harmony with law. In Summer cut out the heavy foods that tax bodily strength and vigor. Eat Shredded Wheat Biscuit, the food that contains all the body-building material in the whole wheat grain in a digestible form. For breakfast or luncheon with berries or other fruits.

Great Luck.

"Here you are, sir," cried the hawker, extending a bouquet. "Buy some beautiful flowers for your sweetheart." "Nothing doing," responded the young man. "I haven't got a sweetheart." "I see," was the prompt rejoinder of the hawker. "Buy some flowers for your wife?" "Wrong again! I am not married." "Well, then, guv'nor," exclaimed the resourceful hawker, "buy the lot to celebrate your luck!"

He Won.

A Scottish minister once noticed a crowd of urchins clustered around a dog of doubtful pedigree. "What are you doing, my little boys?" he asked with fatherly interest. "Swapping" lies, volunteered one of the boys. "The fellow that tells the biggest one gets the pup." "Shocking!" exclaimed the minister. "Why, when I was your age I never even thought of telling an untruth." "You win," chorused the urchins. "The dog's yours, mister."

HITTING THE TRAIL.

Rarest of Sport in the Rockies or Selkirks.

Canada is a land of trails. Trails over mountains and hills, across prairies and through forests, by the banks of rivers beyond number and across country toward a distant sky line. Trails made by red men, and by nature.

But the mountain trails are the most alluring of them all, and hitting trails is the rarest of sport in Rockies or Selkirks, all the way from the Kananaskis Pass on the east to the Yale gateway on the west.

Hundreds of miles of excellent trails have been made in the Canadian mountain ranges by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the National Parks department of the Canadian Government. Most of them are made for pony use, and mounted on one of these sure-footed little beasts of the west, you can be an explorer of the wilds and revel in the experience. Every mile of the devious way is a way of varying charm, every turn of the trail reveals new wonders.

Many trail trips are now made in loops. There is the one from Glacier station up the Cougar Valley to the caves and back by a loop route and over a pass that brings to view some of the sublimest scenery in the Selkirks. The liberal ups and downs of this unique scenic route, as the railways would say, add to the interest, now in the bed of the valley, closed in by trees and huge plants like the Devil's Club, now climbing a thousand feet from which superb views are had of the kingly peaks like Sir Donald.

The trail traveller will find another region of infinite variety and attractiveness in the series of trails radiating from Field and leading up the Yoho Valley to the Yoho Glacier field as its upper end.

Lake Louise will also provide delectable trail paths, especially that leading to Paradise Valley and its circle of giant summits, and Sentinel Pass, leading to the valley of the Ten Peaks, while in the Rocky Mountain Park and Banff, the routes are multiplying year by year.

Yes, trail hitting is rare sport. I repeat, and no country in the world affords greater facilities for its enjoyment than our own Canadian mountains.—F. Y.

ALLIES' POWER EVIDENT.

Those Who Know Most Fear Least, Says Lloyd George.

Lloyd George has sent the Liverpool Post and Mercury the following message:

"The beginning of the third year of the war opens out a prospect which was not visible except to those of strongest faith a year ago.

"In August, 1915, those who knew the difficulties and the means at the command of the allies to surmount them had grave apprehensions as to the course of the war in the coming months. Now those who know the most fear the least.

"We have now the equipment for victory in men and material. The great battle of July has demonstrated that our armament is, to say the least, equal to the best our foe can command, and that our men are better than the best he can put into the battle line. Each month sees our armament increasing and our men improving.

"Let the nation be of good heart. Its sacrifices for humanity are great, but its services for humanity are greater."

The Canadian National Exhibition was opened on one occasion by a woman, Lady Kirkpatrick performing that function in 1897.

Camel-Like.

Out on Egypt's sands the Territorials were camped. The captain of the company was all that a captain should not be. He was short and stout and round of shoulder. Needless to say, among his men he was known as "Humphy." One night, on returning to camp, the sentry let him go unchallenged, and so roused his military wrath. "What the Blue Alsatian mountains do you mean?" he snapped out. "Why didn't you demand the countersign?" The sentry trembled with fear so badly that his wits got shaken. "Badad, sir," he stammered, "I thought you was a c-c-camel."

Shape Didn't Matter.

Butcher—Will you have a round steak, ma'am?

Mrs. Youngbride—I don't care what shape it is so it's tender.

A man can drink himself tighter than a woman can lace herself.

The grouch is a barnacle on health and happiness. If you would advance at your full rate of speed scrape off the barnacles.

An Object Lesson.

Mrs. Saft came in from a chat over the fence with her neighbor, and her face was hard and red.

"Come here, Tommy!" she commanded her young son. "I am going to punish you, but open the windows first!"

"What for?" said Tommy, beginning to weep.

"Well, I have just heard that that cat across the road said I have no authority over you, and I want her to hear you getting a whipping. Come here, sir!"

The title "Canadian National Exhibition" was adopted by the Exhibition Association in 1904. Previous to that time it had been known as the "Industrial Exhibition."
