Is Always Full of Life and Energy-Failures Are Weak and Bloodless.

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. They make other people do their will -they are leaders. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same thing is true of women Some have the charm that makes men seek them out: others are always neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift-vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. Everyone would wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, stooping shoulders, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can all be got rid of. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many weak, tired men, vigorous and healthy, and many pale, dejected girls and women plump, rosy and attractive, by improving their blood and toning up their nerves. If you are weak, ailing, lowspirited or unhealthy, begin to cure yourself today by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Books.

A book is an enchanted gate, That leads to fairy lands. But cross the threshold and your fate Is shaped by witching hands.

For on strange journeys you are led, Beyond your study walls, Where Fancy ever strides ahead And onward sweetly calls.

Until you leave the world behind, Lost in a verdant maze, And wander where the far roads wind In haunting woodland ways.

Or set adrift on castled streams, Where mellow moonbeams dance You sail, a voyager of dreams, To regions of Romance.

Brainy Bees.

What a bee does not know is supposed to be not worth knowing. That may or may not be true, but two following incidents-one of which was witnessed by the writer-testfy to the remarkably sagacity and efficiency of bees.

On one occasion a hive was being "spied upon" by a wasp. When a wasp ascertains that a hive is worth attacking, he carries the news to his friends, and sometimes succeeds in ousting or severely worrying the bees. While the wasp-scout was nosing around, the bees stayed in the hive, but every time the wasp approached the small entrance hole a bee came out and walked round in a circle, doing sentry-work till the wasp departed.

An hour later a wasp-presumably the scout-was found dead on its back on the top of the hive, and the bees were busy again.

FIGHTING THE HAILSTORM.

How European Countries Endeavor to Prevent Storms.

elaborated lightning rod-an enormoously tall and extremely slender tower of light steel rods, which is expected to carry off from the clouds harmlessly a veritable cataract of electricity. Robbed of their lightnings, the clouds are supposed to be rendered incapable of forming hailstones.

Tall poles of steel, or wooden poles carrying lightning rods, have long been in use for the same purpose in France and other European countries. They have been set up literally by the hundreds of thousands, whole landscapes being sprinkled with them.

Another idea persistertly tried has been the bombarding of clouds with explosive missles or sometimes with rockets. Yet another, more recent, consists in discharging smoke-rings from mortars. The smoke is supposed to mingle with the cloud vapor and interfere with the formation of hail.

Scientific bodies here and abroad, including our own weather bureau, have made elaborate experimental studies of these methods and have declared them worthless. But the European agriculturist believes in their effectiveness with a faith that is almost religious.

CUTTING CHEESE TO WEIGHT.

His customer had once before seen this salesman do precisely the same thing, and now the customer ventured to ask:

"Do you do that very often?"

"Almost always," the salesman

It seems that experienced cheese cutters come to "know" cheese. Of course cheeses vary in size, in their thickness and in their diameter, and cheeses of like dimensions vary in weight, but by long experience the expert cheese cutter comes to know the cheeses so well that he can cut from any cheese just the right sized slab to make the required weight. He cuts with astonishing accuracy.

The only cheese that baffles him at all is the Swiss, this on account of the holes in it, or rather on account of the peculiarity of Swiss cheese holes.

Cathedral as War Memorial.

The Anglican Church Authorities in the diocese of Wellington, New Zealand, promose to build a cathedral as a memorial to the New Zealanders fallen in the war. It is proposed to erect, in connection with the cathedral, a military chapel, dedicated to St. George, which will contain the colors of the Allies and regimental flags. Its great windows will symbolize all the Allied nations who have fought in the war.

The walls of the chapel will be panelled in white marble tablets, on which the names of all New Zealand soldiers, sailors, doctors and nurses who have fallen in the war (irrespective of creed or denomination) will be inscribed in letters of gold

There are some 17,000 from New Zealand who have lost their lives in the war.

Lachute, Que., 25th Sept., 1908 Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentlemen, - Ever since coming home from the Boer war I have been bothered with running fever sores on my legs. I tried many salves and liniments; also doctored continuously for the blood, but got no permanent relief, till last winter when my mother got me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT. The effect of which was almost magical. Two bottles completely cured me and I have worked every working day since.

Yours gratefully, JOHN WALSH.

A Famous Fountain,

There is a picturesque little spot in the Temple Gardens, London, which, although only a few hundred yards from the roar and hustle of City traffic, is really wonderful for the peaceful solitude of its surroundings.

The famous old fountain there, which dates back as far as 1681, is once again under repair.

It was dear to the heart of Charles Lamb, who used to relate that many a time he has made its jet of water rise and fall, "to the astonishment of the young urchins, my contemporaries, who, not being able to guess at its recondite machinery, were almost tempted to hail the wonderous work as magic."

Charles Dickens, too, loved the fountain, making it, in "Martin Chuzzlewit," the rendezvous of John Westlock and Ruth Pinch.

Central Ypres As War Memorial.

The Anglo-Belgian commission, appointed to consider the question of the reconstruction of Ypres, has recommended that the central portion of the town be no rebuilt, but remain as a historic monument, says an Ypres despatch. That area includes the ruins of the Cloth Hall, the cathedral, the Church of St. Martin, the Palais de Justice and the adjoining cloisters. It is bounded on the north by the Marche de Bois, on the east by the Rue de Dixmude, and on the south by the Grand Place, with, however, including any ruins on the opposite side of the square, and on the west by the Rue des Hailes.

Nearly 1,000 civilians already have returned to dwell amid the ruins. Some fifty-four auberges and estaminets are open, nearly all temporary wooden structures, which do a thriving business with British soldiers.

A French inventor has modeled a monoplane from a winged maple seed.

Fast Transcontinental Train

Now that the era of reconstruction is here, the business man, who has been taxed to the limit, bought bonds to his capacity and given until it hurts is to be considered again. He is to be permitted to get from place to place quickly, his freight is to be handled promptly and he is to be given every assistance to revitalize the business of America. The railways are the yeins and arteries upon which a healthy business body must depend, therefore normally much of his help must come from them.

The Canadian Pacific, a privately run road, is the first of the railroads to help the business man.

On June 1st, the first "Trans-Canada"-the new transcontinental express of the C.P.R .- pulled out of the Windsor St. Station in Montreal filled to capacity on its three thousand mile run to Vancouver.

This is the fastest transcontinental train in the world, making the trip from Montreal to Vancouver in less than four days, to be exact, 93 hours and 30 minutes, and from Vancouver to Montreal in 92 hours 15 minutes, the run being made without change of cars.

A whole business day is thus saved for the Business-Mun-in-a-Hurry.

An interesting point in connection with this train is the fact that more than half of the passengers are generally registered from New York, Philadelphia, Boston and other American cities, a considerable number being booked for Banff, Lake Louise and points west.

One thinks of a transcontinental train as a single unit, but in reality it is made up of a number of complete units. A daily service, the trip being four days, requires four trains running each way simultaneously. The equipment of the new de luxe train has an estimated value of $6,000,000, using for the daily run eastbound and westbound, 59 sleeping cars, 5 compartment cars, 15 diners and 24 locomotives.

Ouch! ?! ?!! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain.

He says freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.
