Can We Prolong Life?

In connection with this vital question, it is interesting to recall the discoveries of scientists who claim to have found the elixir of life.

One of the most amazing theories put forward was that of Metchnikoff, who recommended those who wanted to live long to drink sour milk. His prescription was taken up by thousands, but so far there has been no great increase in the number of centenarians as a result of the sour milk craze.

The famous French physician, Dr. Brown-Sequard, claimed to have invented an "elixir of life," a serum which he proposed to inject into the veins of the aged and the jaded, while a Swedish doctor spent many years working on his theory that the secret of perpetual youth lay in the introduction of a certain serum into the thyroid gland, or "Adam's Apple," which, according to experts, is the one mainly identified with ageing of the body.

Extraordinary results are claimed for the method of treatment invented some years ago by M. Quinton, of Paris. He contended that all living creatures had their origin in the seas, and that our complex bodies were simply large collections of cells and cellular bodies to be found in the sea.

Quinton argued that by injecting a preparation of sea water into the human body, the cells would be supplied with the original fluid from which they came. Thus would renewed vitality be secured, and disease and old age driven away. This is briefly the theory, and in actual practice it has proved one of the most wonderful remedies discovered.

The search for the elixir of life has continued for centuries, but we seem no nearer the solution!

"Heaven is not a place we get into by dying. It is a state that we realize by living."

Bear Fact.

"By gar, you think Pierre make fool talk!" exclaimed the French Canadian guide of a tourist. "I tell you that bear was the biggest Pierre ever seen. Sacre! He beeg as little mountain, and hees eyes burn in hees black face like two fire coals. He jes' stan' thar by rock and look at me, and all the sap run out of my bones, and I got no more life'n ole tree.

"Then bimeby he take step toward me, and my hair rise right up on my head, me, and I drop my gun and run up tree. I never know how I get up that tree, no. Bear he sit down at bottom and wait for me. Cold? Sacre! I like to freeze. I stay there long time, oh, beeg long time, getting colder'n colder. I think pretty quick I drop off, but bear he kind of laugh and I hang on little while longer yet. Wish I have my gun along me, but I ain't got; bear he almos' setting on it. I can't hold out no longer. What you think I do, eh?"

We waited patiently for him to go on, knowing well that the question was as much for rhetorical effect as because he desired an answer.

"By gar, I let out one great beeg yell, and drop off that limb onto bear's back and hang on. He so surprised he give beeg jump and roar and run. Gosh, how he run! I don't breathe once, twice before I see beeg cliff rise right up in front of us. That cliff two, maybe three miles from where we start. Bear he so scared he keep right on going, butt his head into cliff and drop down dead.

"Then I hear beeg yell, and look all around to see who calling me. Nobody there. Then I hear beeg roar, and, by gar, what you think, eh? That be echo. Yes, sir, we go so fas' we beat our own echo to that cliff."

The Women's Institute of Prince Edward Island washed and spun all the wool they used in the knitting of socks during the war.

When you are talking with other people even in the strictest confidence, always keep this in mind: "Am I revealing business or family secrets, or private affairs, which I may regret some day?"

New Canadian Chemicals.

Mining developments in Canada are proceeding along several new lines as the result of distinct discoveries. Immense deposits of astricanit have been found in Muskiki Lake, near Kaskakee Springs, in Saskatchewan. To the trade this commodity is known as crude Glauber's salt or salt cake sulphate, and latest surveys indicate that there are deposits to the extent of 9,000,000 tons. The crude material is at present being shipped to Kitchener, Ontario. The by-product will include Glauber's salt, which is used extensively in paper making; Epsom salts, bromide, common salt, and magnesia, which articles were largely imported in pre-war days from Germany and the United States.

British Columbia has been able to offer a new industry in that of mining Epsom salts. The discovery of large deposits of these salts was made a few years ago in British Columbia, but it is only now that they are being marketed to any extent in Canada. The deposits are located in a chain of fine lakes near Basque. The lakes are of the basin variety and are in the dry belt, where the combined rain and snowfall does not exceed five inches annually. The deposits are covered with water from 6 inches to 1 foot from the last of March until June or July. The hot, dry summer winds evaporate the water very rapidly, and during most of the year the magnesium sulphate may be easily removed.

Development of an asbestos deposit near Port Daniel, which is about sixty miles west of Gaspe, Quebec, is being financed by a company in Montreal. The material is low grade, but with some 2,000,000 tons in sight. The maximum quality of the asbestos is stated to be No. 2 crude.

Pass, Friend.

The new recruit, being a very promising young fellow, was put on guard after he had been a soldier only a week. He was given strict instructions not to let anybody pass until they gave the pass-word. The word chosen was "Efficiency."

He had been on duty about two hours when he was aroused from his reverie by the sound of footsteps approaching in the darkness. He challenged:—

"Halt! Who goes there?"
And a voice from the gloom replied: "It's quite all right. It's your colonel."

"I'm sorry, sir. I can't let you pass without the pass-word."

"It's quite all right, I tell you. I'm your colonel."

"Well, I'm very sorry, sir, but I've got my orders, and you can't pass this 'ere tin-opener till you say 'Efficiency.'"

What An Opportunity.

Two newsboys sat in a theatre gallery while "Hamlet" was being played. It was the first time they had seen a play, and they were quivering with excitement. In the last scene, after Hamlet had killed Laertes and the king, the queen had died of poison, and the "Moody Dane" of a poisoned wound, the younger of the lads could contain himself no longer. Turning to his chum of the streets, in rapturous tones he said, "Gosh, Bill, what a time for selling extras."

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.
