

WHEN BABY IS ILL

When the baby is ill; when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting makes him happy, Baby's Own Tablets should be given him without delay. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Desire Theberge, Trols Pistols, Que., writes: "I am well satisfied with my use of Baby's Own Tablets. I have found them of great benefit to my baby when he was suffering from constipation and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Not Likely.

Uriah had come to inform me, writes a Labrador Mission worker, that he could not "cleave the splits," for his "stomach had capsized." I felt it incumbent on me to administer castor oil, thinking that that might be sufficient punishment for what I had reason to believe was only a ruse to escape work. It was hard for me to give the oil, but harder still to have the boy look up afterwards with a cherubic smile and ask if it were the same oil that Elisha gave the widow woman!

Minard's Liniment Lumberman's Friend

Christ Didn't See the Leper.

Christ believed that every man was a God in the making. That was the secret of His healing. He didn't see the leper; He saw the perfect man, the God-made man who was intended to be happy and successful, the man who came on earth with a mission. If He had seen the leper, visualized him in his horrible symptoms, had seen the flesh falling off his bones, his fingers and toes becoming unjointed, He could never have healed him. He did not see the outer man; He looked beyond that to the reality of him, the wonderful man God had made.

The greatest mental healers could do no healing if they closed their eyes and visualized their patient's illness, the symptoms of some horrible disease. How could they cure a cancer by visualizing the awful physical octopus spreading its poison tentacles to every part of the body, and gripping the very vitals of life? It would be impossible. No, the healers do not see cancer, or tuberculosis, or any other disease in the sufferer. They see the perfect man, God's child, perfect and immortal. They know that health is the everlasting fact, and that disease is only an appearance.

Our Baby.

There's a rose in our garden of beauty, dear heart,
A flower in our garden of love.
She came on the wings of the star-lighted night:
A blossom of light from above.
The sunshine still lurks in her golden-locked hair,
And the Infinite shines in her eye;
While the smile that she brought is the seal of our love—
An expression of trust from on high.
—Robert J. Meeker.

A POPULAR TONIC

One That Enriches the Blood and Strengthens the Nerves.

Proper food, fresh air and a good tonic will keep most people in good health. Hurried meals, indoor confinement in badly ventilated rooms and lack of exercise causes anaemia. In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a popular tonic. They contain no habit forming drugs, and always have a beneficial effect through enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves. For growing girls, who become thin and pale, for pale, tired women and for old people who fail in strength, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic. Their benefit in anaemic conditions is shown by the case of Miss Lucy A. Steeves, Hillsboro, N.B., who says: "Last spring I was in poor health, and completely run down. I had severe headaches, the least exertion would cause my heart to palpitate violently, my appetite was poor, and at times I had fainting spells. This went on for some months, and although I was taking medicine, I seemed to be growing weaker, and the least exertion would leave me worn out. Then on the advice of a friend, I changed the treatment to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I have great cause to be thankful that I did so, as they have made a wonderful improvement in my condition. I can now work without fatigue, go upstairs without becoming breathless, and have gained in weight. I think these pills are an ideal medicine in cases like mine."
You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Writing" by Wireless.

If it had been foretold a few months ago that the words one writes could at the same moment be read in America as if by someone looking over one's shoulder, in the very shape in which the pen traces them; if it had been said that a diplomatic signature, for example, could be appended to a treaty by wireless, or that a treaty or cheque could be signed three thousand miles away, the reply would have been that one spoke of a fairy tale.

Yet all this is possible now, says an English writer. The future opened by the triumph of a French idea is unbounded. Not only will there be no impossibility as to the transmission of judicial documents, autographs, manuscripts, designs, and works of art, but the very authenticity of the message acquires fresh guarantees by their autographed transmission.

Speed of transmission, too, should be increased, for while currents in the earth or atmospheric conditions may render Morse signals illegible and necessitate re-transmission, that is not the case with the new type of messages.

Interfering currents can only render the letters a little irregular without altering their form.
The inventor of the new wireless is M. Bein.

Plague of Muskrats.

An American official at Prague reports that muskrats are overrunning Czecho-Slovakia and have become a frightful plague.

Sixteen years ago a sporting nobleman of Bohemia, the Prince of Colerado Manusfield, while on a shooting trip in Canada became so interested in muskrats as fur-bearing animals that he took four pairs of them back home with him. Knowing no method of breeding them in captivity, he set them at liberty.

To the business of propagation they proceeded to attend with extraordinary celerity. Whereas in Canada the female muskrat rarely produces more than one litter a year, of about six offspring, in Bohemia she gives birth to three or four litter of eight or nine young.

Consequently, the species over there has multiplied at an almost fabulous rate, and the muskrats are doing enormous damage. They honeycomb the banks of canals, raid vegetable patches and fruit orchards, and where maize is grown they cut down the stalks and carry away the ears bodily.

In Czecho-Slovakia the raising of carp and other fishes in fresh-water inclosures is of great importance. Likewise the growing of crayfish for market. Both of these industries have been largely ruined by the muskrats, which eat the fish eggs and gobble up the crayfish.

The muskrat is native exclusively to America. Transplanted to Europe, it seems to have changed its habits altogether, becoming a marauding animal.

One might imagine that its value as a fur-bearing animal would to some extent offset the damage it does, but, sad to say, in Czecho-Slovakia its fur has become less thick, much coarser and of small market worth.

An ore deposit discovered in Sweden is about 90 per cent. pure copper.

She Thought So.

"Mrs. Cane—"I think so. You are the one with the hat on, are you not?"

"Chilton is having the interior of his new house decorated with a rather ornate frieze."

"That's appropriate; he made his money in the ice business, you know."

The Bond of Friendship.

Pat met Casey the other day and asked: "What's the row between you and Garryowen? Have ye quarrelled?"

"Sure, no," was the reply. "That's the insurance of our friendship."

"And wot do yer mean by that, Casey?"

"Why, Garry an' I are that devoted to each other that we hate to quarrel, so we don't speak to each other at all for fear we'll break the friendship."

Grease and Greece.

As the steamer was moving out of the harbor at Athens a well dressed lady approached the captain and pointed to the distant hills.

"Could you tell me what is that white stuff over there?" she asked.

"That is snow, madam," replied the captain.

"Well, I thought so myself," agreed the lady, "but a gentleman just now informed me that it was Greece!"

The Job Lot.

The Sunday school teacher was talking to her class about Solomon and his wisdom.

"When the Queen of Sheba came and laid jewels and fine raiment before Solomon, what did he say?" she asked, presently.

One small girl, who evidently had experience in such matters, replied promptly "Ow much d'yer want for the lot?"

The Minard's Liniment People.
Sirs—I feel that I should be doing a wrong if I neglected to write you. I have had four tumors growing on my head for years. I had them cut off by a surgeon about fifteen years ago but they grew again till about three months ago I had one as large and shaped like a lady's thimble, on the very place where my hair should be parted, and it was getting so embarrassing in public that it was a constant worry to me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of your liniment for another purpose and saw on the label good for tumors. Well I tried it and kept it for exactly two months, with the result that it has entirely removed all trace of the tumor, and were it not that they had been cut fifteen years ago, no mark would be seen. I have not been asked for this testimonial and you can use it as you see fit.
(Signed) FRED C. ROBINSON.

P.S.—I am a farmer and intend using Minard's Liniment on a mare for a strained tendon, and am hoping for some results.

Had Suffered Complete Break-down—Tanlac Restored Health, He Says.

"I want to give a little history of my case just to let the public know what Tanlac has really done for me," said Edward White, 27 Caroline St., South Hamilton, Ont., a foreman for the Dominion Steel Company.

"Several years ago I suffered a complete breakdown and it was only when I got Tanlac that I recovered my health. We were making engines and were anxious to turn out as many as possible, so lots of time I worked night and day.

"Well, this finally got the best of me and I just had to go to bed and stay there for a number of days. This left me in such a bad condition that I had no appetite at all and was so weak that when I walked around I would just stagger. I tried treatments and all kinds of medicine, but failed to get any better and I began to think nothing would help me.

"However, Tanlac has built me up so in every way until I feel like an entirely different person now. My appetite is fine and I eat hearty at every meal. Why, I've gained eleven pounds in weight and am back on the job every night working as good as ever."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere. Adv.

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Peasey Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered with irregular periods, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains, so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy and I seemed to be smothering. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of medicines and had been treated by physicians but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. PEASEY, 387 King St., Toronto, Ontario.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Peasey did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health.

Surnames and Their Origin

GORMAN

Variations—O'Gorman, MacGorman. Racial Origin—Irish. Source—A given name.

"M'Gomain" is the Gaelic form of this family name, the Anglicized development of which vary from the original principally by the elimination of the "i" and in most cases the dropping of the "Mac" or the "O."

The given name from which the family name was formed, at first as a clan name, was "Gorman," exactly the same as the form of the family name most frequently met with to-day. The ending "main" instead of "man" in the Gaelic clan name is merely inflection. The possessive case of the given name, of course, had to be used in connection with the prefix "Mac" ("son of"). The given name had a meaning of "illustrious."

One of the most powerful clans of ancient Ireland, from both the influential and numerical point of view, was that of the "O'Connors," and a great many of the Irish clans formed at a later period were branches of the O'Connors. The MacGormans were one of these. It was formed, apparently, about 650 A.D., and its founder was a direct descendant of "Cathair Mor," an O'Connor who was King of Leinster and the 109th monarch of all Ireland in 119 A.D.

The MacGormans themselves, however, became a very powerful clan throughout the Middle Ages.

POWERS

Variations—Porson. Racial Origin—Welsh. Source—A given name.

No. The first bearers of this family name were not necessarily powerful men. The name is a Welsh one, and has no connection with our English word "power."

"Powyr" was a given name of rather widespread popularity among the Welsh of the Middle Ages, having been the name of a famous chieftain, a descendant of the "Leod," who was the father of the leader "Mandebrog" of Welsh tradition, and the "Mandebrog" of the Romans' British history.

The endings of both forms, Powers and Porson, indicate English influence, and more than likely developed, for the most part, in England at first, where the natural procedure was to refer to the son by the name of his father with the suffix "son" added. It is to be noted that in the case porson, where the pronunciation was not difficult, that the ending has been preserved. But "Powyrson" is a little clumsy, and where "Powyr" was not elided to "Por," all but the "s" of the "son" has been dropped from the ending of the family name at some period after it ceased to be truly descriptive and settled down into a sort of "tag" for the family with the original meaning overlooked.

In some instances, too, the name undoubtedly came into being in Wales at a later period when English customs and speech became more general there.

Do you know what constitutes a strong constitution?

To have sound, healthy nerves, completely under control, digestive organs that are capable of absorbing a hearty meal, means you have a strong constitution! Your general attitude is one of optimism and energy.

But an irritable disposition, frequent attacks of indigestion, and a languid depression, indicate your system is not in correct working order.

Probably you are not eating the proper food. Probably the nutritious elements are not being supplied to your system in the proper way.

Grape-Nuts is the wholesome, delicious cereal that promotes normal digestion, absorption and elimination, whereby nourishment is accomplished without auto-intoxication. A mixture of energy-giving wheat and malted barley comprise the chief elements of Grape-Nuts. A dish at breakfast or lunch is an excellent, wholesome rule to follow.

You can order Grape-Nuts at any and every hotel, restaurant, and lunch room; on dining cars, on lake boats and steamers; in every good grocery, large and small, in every city, town or village in Canada.
