We Know How

Death of Newton Wilson

Friends and acquaintances will learn with regret the sad news of Newton Wilson's death. He died at his home, Euclid Ave., Ontario, California, U. S. A., from flu and pneumonia, at the age of 59 years. He was a son of Geo. Wilson, deceased, who opened the first store and general business and post office at Teston in 1867, which he conducted for 35 years. He sold out his business to his brother-in-law, J. Lund of Elmvale, and moved to California, where he lived for fifteen years, and accumulated a good share of this world's goods.

On Sept. 15th he left for a trip to Canada to visit his old homestead and many old friends. He also went with Stayner and New Lowell, Hunt Club to his favorite hunting grounds, Muskoka. Three days later a cold developed, when he took a first train out for his California home. One month later death claimed him. His estate, over fifty thousand, he leaves to his heirs, his widow, three sisters, Mrs. J. Lund, Mrs. A. B. Lund, Mrs. M. E. Cooper, all of California, one brother, T. G. Wilson, of Teston, who mourns his loss.

Debate

The debate at the Epworth League Monday evening was both interesting and instructive. "Resolved that Government Control of our public utilities is more beneficial to the development of our country than Private Control." The debaters were 1 Cadet Officers. The affirmative was taken by G. Lasher, E. Blaney, B. White and A. Hill. The negative was represented by A. Armstrong, B. Grant, R. Phipps and E. Dickinson. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative. During the evening, Mr. Morden, O. C., gave a talk on the aims and object of the cadet movement, and Mr. Jack Glass contributed a solo.

York Ranger Cadets

The O. C. records with much pride the debating of the Cadet Debating Club last Monday evening at the Methodist Church Epworth League Citizenship Night. The Seniors applied themselves creditably.

The Juvenile Cadets will also form a Debating Club as also the Cub Cadets, which is being planned in the spring schedule of training now being prepared.

Sunday, March 5, Church Parade of the Corps as follows: At 8.30 a. m. Cadets of the Roman Catholic faith will march for the morning Celebration of the Mass with the O. C. and Cadet Lieut. Bert Grant. The Cadets will assemble at the Cadet Barrack Quarters and Cadet Lieut. Grant will have the troop ready for inspection by the O. C. at 8.45 o'clock sharp. Great coats will be worn.

At 6.30 p. m. Cadets of the Protestant faith will assemble at the Assembly Hall of the Public School, inspection by the O. C. will follow at 6.45. Cadet Capt. Geo. Lasher will have the Cadets lined up in column as follows: Cub Cadets and Sergt. Cadet Woodhead and Corp. Innis. Juvenile Cadets under Cadet Sergt. Lambert Atkinson and Cadet Corp. Eric White. Senior Cadets under Cadet Sergt. Jack Glass and Allan Armstrong. Sergt. Frank Grainger, Sergt. Mylks, Sergt. Martin. Sergt. Dickinson and Sergt. Ransom will fall in at the left flank of the seniors.

Mrs. McLathey will entertain the Senior Cadet Hockey Team and their lady friends at the close of the hockey season. At this function she will present formally to the Senior Cadets the hockey outfit which each player has played in during the season. The trophies also at this function will be presented which Miss Morden, R. N., sister of the O. C., has contributed for the Cadet Hockey Team.

The O. C. requests the Cadet mothers to supervise the preparation of the Cadets for the Church Parade next Sunday, emaculate face and hands, manicured finger nails, highly polished buttons, belt, as also boots, and hair neatly combed. This is most imperative.

In invoking the Divine Blessing on the spring training of the Corps, may the Cadets of this command realize the grandeur of a consecrated service, in moulding their lives, for the citizenship of the future.

DEATHS

MICHAEL—At Winnipeg General Hospital, Monday February 20th. Mary Lynett, beloved wife of John Michael, Waldron, Sask., in her 43rd year.

Interment in Yorkton, Sask. Cemetery, Feb. 22nd 1922.

FARMERS

The farmer's wife will find a Savings Account which includes her own as well as her husband's name a decided convenience.

In case money is unexpectedly required during her husband's absence, she can readily withdraw the amount herself or issue a cheque against the account.

She can pay her monthly accounts by cheque and thus keep an accurate record of bills paid.

Our local Manager will be glad to open such an account for you at any time.

Letter from D. W. Heise

Matoppa Mission, Bulawayo, South Rhodesia, South Africa, October 10th, 1921

Mr. J. A. McGillivray, Elgin Mills, Ont.:

Dear McGillivray,—I am kept rather busy in my capacity as Mission Post Inspector in this, our African field, but I thought perhaps a letter from me, in this strange land, might be of interest to you. I am glad to say that, from the time I left home on the 22nd of June, I have enjoyed the best of health, not having been ill for even one minute. This I appreciate very much indeed. Neither have I, in any way, suffered inconvenience or discomfort either from climatic conditions or poor accommodation, with the exception of nights at sea when it was very hot, and a few nights while in Capetown when it was quite cool. Well, I am now away for a considerable time, and here in Africa several months, and I have already observed and experienced some wonderful, marvellous and sublime sights and impressions. My sea voyage was most pleasant and exceedingly enjoyable throughout, even though I had sixteen days sailing without seeing land. My accommodation was all that could be desired on the White Star S.S. Olympic, although second-class passage, and the voyage on this monster ocean liner, with its thirty-six hundred passengers, was said never to have been a smoother one. Leaving the pier at New York on June 25th we landed at Southampton, England, on July 2nd, covering as much as 517 miles one twenty-four hours. On landing, it required some little time to clear ourselves and our baggage from the customs and immigration officers. Having succeeded in this, I sought out the post-office and telegraph office, mailed many letters which I had written at sea and also wired our safe arrival to our home people. We secured lodgings at the Cornish Hotel, where good meals and beds were supplied us for a very reasonable sum. Not being able to secure sailing for Capetown until July 8th left us six days to spend somewhere, and these were spent in the City of Southampton and London. The ancient walls of this old city of Southampton, together with its arches, towers, prisons, spacious parks, Tudor House monument of Isaac Watts and of the Pilgrim Fathers, and many other things both strange and unique, were all of great interest to me and held me in appreciation, amusement and enchantment for three days, many of which would be worthy of special mention. I will refer to only one, however. In Tudor House, said to have been a city residence of Henry the Eighth, and dating back to the Thirteenth Century, is being conserved as a museum. Here I saw, among many other very interesting relics, a bicycle made by a wagon-maker, with wheels not much smaller nor lighter than an ordinary buggy wheel, with frame, drive, etc., in proportion. This byke was not geared, consequently the wheels made only one revolution with one of the pedals. The inventor surprised the citizens of Southampton when he appeared on the streets riding this wheel, and the City Fathers immediately passed an ordinance prohibiting him from riding on the streets because a speed of seven miles an hour, which he was able to make, was considered a menace to the safety of street traffic. On the 5th of July we took the train for London, a distance of eighty-six miles.
