DRY GOODS

MRS. W. DAVIES, Richmond Hill

By our works we are known.

By our service we have grown.

Spring and Fall this is our Thirtieth consecutive Millinery Opening; we are therefore not of mushroom growth, but by consistency, and strictly business principles we have achieved success, having ideas of still further expansion.

Good selling depends upon good buying; Desirable merchandise means good buying; Dependable buying means confidence in selling, and we are using these elements, which bespeak confidence from the viewpoint of the general public.

We do not purchase indifferent goods, but believe in artistic dignity, and ladies being frankly interested in that which is unusual, our Millinery range this season is comprehensive, and just because we know we are Milliners of repute, we cordially invite you to carefully examine the construction.

CO-OPERATIVE EXPERIMENTS

How to Obtain the Most Practical Kind of Information.

Kindness and Cleanliness Two Chief Points to Observe in Caring for Dairy Stock—Cow and Young Calf Should Be Separated in Nov. Over Three Days.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

CO-OPERATIVE experiments have been conducted in agriculture throughout Ontario annually since 1886. Previous to the war the number of farmers conducting these experiments reached over 5,000, and in 1918 (the last year of the war) the number was slightly over 3,600. Some of the leading varieties of crops now grown in general cultivation throughout Ontario were introduced through the medium of the co-operative work, such, for instance, as the O.A.C. No. 21 barley, Marquis spring wheat, O.A.C. No. 72 oats, O.A.C. No. 3 oats, Dawson's Golden Chaff winter wheat, O.A.C. No. 61 spring rye, Canadian Beauty pease, O.A.C. No. 81 Soy beans, Rye buckwheat, Golden Bantam sweet corn, Early Amber sugar cane, Dwarf Essex rape, Irish Cobbler potatoes, Yellow Leviathan mangels, Grimm and Ontario Variegated alfalfa, etc.

The co-operative experiments enable practical farmers to obtain information regarding varieties of field crops, mixtures of grain for grain and for fodder production, ways to increase soil fertility, etc., for their own particular farms which they cannot possibly get in any other way. They furnish hundreds and even thousands of object lessons annually, which form centres of interesting study along the lines of progressive agriculture. They enable farmers to get a supply of pure seed of the leading varieties of field crops which rapidly increase in quantity and which furnish seed for sowing and planting in large areas and for selling at good prices. The whole work leads to a substantial increase in farm profits and to a steady advance in agricultural education throughout Ontario.

The plan of the co-operative work for 1919 is printed in circular form and has already been sent to all the successful co-operative experimenters of the past few years. Other interested farmers could secure a copy of the circular by applying to the Department of Field Husbandry, Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario.—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.
