Optimism in Canada

Although we are not back to pre-war conditions, a feeling of optimism seems to prevail in various parts of the Dominion.

We may call attention to the advertisement placed in this issue by the Federal Department of Agriculture. It is more than an advertisement, it is a call to united and cheerful effort, a summons to the Canadian spirit of the "will to win" which has burned so brightly throughout Canada's history—a spirit which is so well shown in a message received in Ottawa only a few days ago from one of the foremost farmers of the Province of Alberta. He says: "It started to rain the last part of the week, and this coming after the recent heavy rains has put the soil in a condition that it has not been in at this time of the year since 1916; the farmers are consequently very jubilant and if optimism could pay debts the farmers of Southern Alberta could by next fall cancel our National Debt."

In drawing attention to the progress that is being made along Yonge street and other parts of York County, near the city, the Toronto Globe of Friday says: "Richmond Hill will double in population in the next five years if the increase continues at its present rate." If we can get houses built fast enough we have no doubt the Globe is within the mark.

NEWSPAPER MEN'S TRIP

THROUGH The Maritime Provinces and Quebec City

Annual Convention at Halifax, N.S.

The party left St. John City Sunday morning, crossed the Bay of Fundy, and arrived at Digby shortly after the dinner hour. Divine service was conducted on board the boat by Rev. A. H. Moore, a member of the Press party, followed by a song service, a number of splendid choruses and solo singers being on board.

At Digby about forty motors were again in waiting, and a pleasant drive was made in and around the Town which has much natural and beautiful scenery.

All were returned to the Railway depot, and after partaking of luncheon, the party proceeded by the Dominion Atlantic Railway, the next stopping place being Annapolis Royal. This very old town has a beautiful situation on a peninsula between the river and an estuary of the basin which bears its name. The town, after years of terrible experiences of war, has settled down to a modest, unpretentious prosperity. One of its leading industries is the curing of fish for the West Indies and South America. The surrounding country is rich in forest, and large quantities of lumber are shipped each year. The town is the entrance to the Valley, which has made the name of Annapolis famous among apple lovers the world over.

The chief interest of Annapolis, however, lies in its historic associations. In 1604 the party of DeMonts sailed into this basin, and another Frenchman delighted with its beauty, obtained a grant of the land, which he called Port Royal. France gave of her noblest and best chivalry to bring Christianity and civilization to this land. Her labors were rewarded, for the conversion of the old chief Membertou was the first conquest of the Christian religion in North America.

It was, also, for many long years the theatre of the terrible struggle between England and France for the possession of this North American continent. Every street and by-way of the town is haunted by the names of men celebrated in the annals of history, including Champlain, the fearless explorer.

Possibly no stronghold in America has had such a sad and unsettled history. Three times it was unsuccessfully attacked and five times taken by the English. Twice stormed in vain by the French and Indians, and four times abandoned or restored to France. Twice sacked, once by pirates in 1690, and once by United States Revolutionary forces in 1781. In the year 1710 Port Royal was finally captured by the English, and given its present name in honor of their sovereign Queen Anne. Many years passed, however, before peace reigned in the little settlement. The present inhabitants are the descendants of New Englanders, who came in 1739, and of those families who after the revolutionary war sought a home under the British flag. Probably the most peaceful spot is among the grass-grown ramparts of the old Fort. The buildings still standing are the officers' quarters, which are interesting and no doubt were considered luxurious in those days, and the old powder magazine, built nearly three centuries ago, and still in excellent repair. A horrible dark dungeon, chill and damp, is built under the ramparts. Leaving this quaint old place our train then carried us to Kentville, through the Annapolis Valley, possibly the greatest apple district on the continent. The trees were in full bloom, and to pass alongside twenty or thirty miles of solid orchard was a sight to behold. Motors again met the party at Kentville, and drove through that great flatland, passing through Wolfville, a town of beautiful scenery and beautiful homes, landing us at Grand Pre, the home of Evangeline, a short description of which country will be given in next issue.

Christ Church Cathedral, Fredericton

Fredericton, the capital of New Brunswick, was one of the cities visited by the Canadian Weekly Press Association on their itinerary over the Canadian National Railways recently. The city, located on the St. John River, is one of the prettiest in the Maritime Provinces. It has a population of 10,000 and contains many beautiful homes as well as the Parliament buildings, University of New Brunswick, Geological Museum and Christ Church Cathedral, one of the stately religious edifices in Eastern Canada. Splendid motoring roads connect with the main highways of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and the New England States. The photograph shows Christ Church Cathedral, which is patterned after the type of old English churches found in the motherland. It contains a beautiful stained glass chancel window presented by the Episcopal Church in the United States.

SELF-OILING — SELF-REGULATING

With the Strongest Tower Built

It's the "Toronto" Self-Oiling Windmill—requiring "oil only once a year". All gears operate in a bath of special oil affected by neither heat nor cold—every bearing and working part thoroughly and automatically lubricated.

If you have a "Toronto" Windmill now, you can obtain this self-oiling feature by interchanging the head and using your present wheel. Most Toronto Windmills, too, can be made absolutely self-regulating in operation. The "Toronto" Tower will stand for a lifetime because it is the heaviest, strongest and best-braced one built for any windmill. See this new Mill now—or get my booklet.
