Fell Through Skylight

Gordon Armstrong, the 4 year old son of Mr. James Armstrong, who was run over by a motor car a couple of months ago had another accident on Monday. Gordon was with his mother in the attic above the office of Dr. Bell, in the Standard Bank building when with a crash he came through the skylight carrying the sash and glass with him, falling a distance of eight feet on a hardwood floor. Fortunately the boy was very little injured, beyond a few minor cuts and bruises. Needless to say he was badly frightened, but not more so than Dr. Bell, who was working in his dental office below.

Ratepayers Meeting

Quite a number of citizens attended the ratepayers meeting in the Council Chamber, Tuesday evening. Mr. Greene, President, was in the chair, and the secretary, Mr. L. Teetzel, took the minutes.

The President asked the Council if they purposed paving Yonge street, in the face of the large vote against the project at the last meeting. Reeve Trench replied that tenders had been received, but would not be opened until the next meeting of the Council. It was expected a committee from the Hydro would meet the Council here Saturday of this week, re moving the track to the centre of the street.

Mr. Harry Edean and others recommended the Council to proceed slowly as a vote to build a new High School was carried, and the village taxes were already very high. Before adjourning, a resolution was carried appointing W. Davies, A. J. McLatchy and T. H. Trench a committee to ask the Board of Trade to call a meeting with a view of offering inducements to factories locating here.

"Born at Richmond Hill, Ont., in the seventies, young Coombs early in life aspired to an academic and pedagogic career, and all his efforts were directed to the culmination of that desire. At the age of 19 he entered the Provincial University and was graduated in 1892, with honors in classics. His M. A., he secured three years later and the degree of B. Paed. in 1897.

"He taught for some time at Richmond Hill and Newmarket High Schools, and in 1909 he succeeded John Henderson, M.A., L.L.D., in the principalship of the St. Catharines Collegiate Institute. On his appointment there the staff numbered seven, while on January 1, 1923, it was 25; the attendance then was 175, while the enrolment is now in excess of 700."
