You Can Try

Write 'Salada', Toronto, for free sample.

The Middle of Things

BY J. S. FLETCHER

Author of "Black Money," "Scarhaven Reep," etc.

CHAPTER XXVII.

THE BACK WAY.

Miss Wickham, observing his action,

"What bank?" asked Viner.

Viner began to be suspicious.

ed to survey the room impatiently.

-up to his eyes. But he's a big man

Viner gave the boy his promised reward, and was passing on when Miss

"tell this man the name of your bank,

CHAPTER XXVIII.

THE TRUTH.

The bank manager, greatly perturbed, advised them to lay the matter before Scotland Yard at once. Without further words, Viner hurried Miss Wickham out of the manager's room and away to the taxicab which he had

At Scotland Yard they were met by

"If you and Miss Wickham will drive along and see Drillford, Mr.

Viner," he said. "I think you'll find

Drillford, cool and confident as ever.

and let him go there, quick!"

cashed without any hesitation.

purposely kept in waiting.

he's some news for you."

one of the officials.

-wears black clothes."

Wickham touched his arm.

important."

it's only a cupbeard."

strode to the door.

CHAPTER XXVI.-(Cont'd.)

"He's gone down there," Millwaters said. "Now, Mr. Perkwite, if you please, we'll separate. You take the right of that street-I'll take the left. Keep a lookout for my gentleman's ed quietly. "We're trapped! Mrs. Kil-Homburg hat and keep the tail of your eye on me, too."

down the squalid street until its owner ishment than fear. across the road, attracted Perkwite's "What's it mean?" attention, and whispered two or three "I wish I knew!" exclaimed Viner.

"Wait-by the street-corner!" Perkwite pulled up, and Millwaters tal note of the time.

went down the dismal street. Presently he came back.

"Ran him to earth-for the time be. ing, anyway," he said. "He's gone; into a surgery down there-a Dr. Martincole's."

"Well?" demanded Perkwite. "What every Friday, and she said to-day that Viner. next? You know best, Millwaters." The clerk jerked a thumb down the and she could call and cash it as we side of the dismal street on which drove back. And," concluded Miss they were standing. "There's a public house down there," he said, "almost opposite this surgery. Better s.ip in there and look quietly "Don't think me inquisitive, but what of Ellingham. Perkwite followed his companion down the street to the tavern. "Hang about here and watch," whispered the clerk.

Some time had passed, and Millwaters had been obliged to repeat an order for bottled Bass before anything took place in the street outside. Suddenly he touched his companion's

"Here's a taxicab coming along and slowing up for somewhere about here," he whispered. "And-Lord, if there aren't two ladies in it-in a spot like this! And whew!" he went on excitedly. "Do you see 'em, Mr. Perkwite? The young un's Miss Wickham, who came to our office about this Ashton affair."

Perkwite drew away from the window, pulling Millwaters by the sleeve. "Careful!" he said. "There's something seriously wrong here, Millwaters! What's Miss Wickham being brought here for? See, they've gone into that surgery, and the car's going off. I'm going off to the police!"

Millwaters put out a detaining hand. "I'll tell you a better plant than that, sir," advised Millwaters. "Find the nearest telephone-box and call Mr. Carless, tell him what you've seen and get him to come down and bring somebody with him."

Perkwite ran off up the street and toward the Whitechapel Road, anxiously seeking for a telephone booth. Twenty minutes had elapsed by the time he got back to the dismal street. At its corner he encountered Millwaters, lounging about hands in pockets. Millwaters wagged his head. "There's been another arrival at Number 23-not five minutes since. Viner came. Rang at Number 23 and was let in."

"By George, Millwaters," Perkwite exclaimed, "what if this is some infernal plant-trap-something of that sort? Lord man, Miss Wickham may be in real peril-" "Viner's in there," Millwaters reminded him. "Wait!"

And Perkwite waited, chafing. Suddenly a car came along and from it. sprang Mr. Carless, Lord Ellingham well enough. She lived here once." and two men in plain clothes, at the "Come along!" muttered Viner. Her sight of whom Perkwite heaved a huge "We've hit it! Mrs. Killerby—who is The two lawyers and Viner looked and two men in plain clothes, at the "We've hit it! Mrs. Killerby—who is The two lawyers and Viner looked and two men in plain clothes, at the "We've hit it! Mrs. Killerby—who is the looked and two men in plain clothes, at the "We've hit it! Mrs. Killerby—who is the looked and two men in plain clothes, at the "We've hit it! Mrs. Killerby—who is the looked and two men in plain clothes, at the "We've hit it! Mrs. Killerby—who is the looked and the looked an

After Every Meal

It doesn't take much to keep you in trim. Nature only asks a little help.

Wrigley's, after every meal, benefits teeth, breath, appetite and digestion.

A Flavor for Every Taste

ISSUE No. 24-126.

his companion were shown in.

was alone in his office when Viner and

"Well, Mr. Viner!" he said. "You "I'll trouble you for a pinch of that that young fellow Hyde who killed "Um-dear me! What extraordinary Mr. Ashton."

Viner eagerly. "I do!" answered Drillford.

"Who, then?" exclaimed Viner. said Drillford, "Dr. Cartelyon, of your some of his most treasured possessions Drillford. "And it all came about quite "Gentlemen, our very good friends," suddenly, this afternoon. Through said Lord Ellingham, "it is only right your aunt, Mr. Viner-Miss Penk- that we should take you into our conridge. Smart lady, sir!"

how on earth-"

here to see me. He told me that he'd have to say to each other,-" specially secured for the Doctor. But he told something far more important: Six months ago, Bigglesforth sold Cortelyon a second-hand typewriter. The machine was perfect in all respects, but that one of the letters was defective-broken. That was the same let-Viner rose, as the lock clicked, and ter, Mr. Viner, which was defective in the document which Cave showed to "It's just as I supposed," he remarkyou gentlemen. I was so absolutely lenhall has brought us here for some certain of the truth of Miss Penk-Cave's headgear was easily followed Miss Wickham showed more aston- our best men—detectives, of course ridge's theory that I got a number of and we went round to Cortelyon's finally turned into a shabbier thor- "But why should any one want to house back and front. We made oughfare. Then the clerk hurried keep us here for any time?" she asked. straight for Cortelyon's surgery, and we were on him and the other two, Cave and Mrs. Killenhall, before After several minutes had passed, he they'd time to move, literally. It was pulled out his watch and made a men- all an affair of a moment-and, of course, they saw it was all up. Mrs. "If we're delayed much longer," said Killenhall and Cave at once denounced Cortelyon as the mainspring, and the "Mrs. Killenhall will be too late for woman got me aside and whispered that Cortelyon actually killed Ashton himself, unaided, as he let him out of "My bank. I always give Mrs. Kil- his back door into Lonsdale Passage!" "So-that's settled!" exclaimed lenhall a cheque for the weekly bills

I might as well give her the cheque When Mr. Carless, Mr. Pawle and Lord Ellingham arrived Viner drew them aside to show them the docu-Wickham, "the bank closes at four." | ments found in Cortelyon's possession. These established beyond a doubt Miss "Look here!" he said suddenly. Wickham's right to the title, Countess was the amount of the cheque you "Here is the full story of the case," said Carless who was glancing over "There was no amount stated," re- the papers. "He must have been a plied Miss Wickham. "I always give very good business man, this unforher a blank cheque-signed, of course tunate Ashton, poor fellow! But -and she fills in the amount herself." what's this he's put at the end, as a Without expressing any opinion on sort of note?"

the wisdom of handing cheques to "'Since arriving in England and other people on this plan, Viner turn- making inquiries in London and about Marketstoke and Ellingham as to the "We've waited long enough," he ex- character and abilities of the young claimed. "I'm going to get out of man who is the present holder of the title and estates which are by right my Miss Wickham pointed to a door in ward's, I have had considerable doubt the oak paneling. "There's a door as to whether or not I should exercise there," she remarked, "but I suppose the discretion extended to me by her father. Having nobody of my own, I Viner went across, drew the curtain have left her all my fortune, which is aside, tried the door, looked within, a handsome one, and she will be a rich the model pictured here. Details that The hue of every and uttered an exclamation. "I say!" woman. The young man seems to be go to make the chic and successful Steepled larkspur's eye. he called back. "Stairs! Come along! an estimable and promising young fel- frock for women of larger figure are Let's get out of this altogether." low, and I am much exercised in my combined in the softly molded lines of Miss Wickham gathered up her mind as to whether it might not be the bodice, the deep V front opening, Minard's Liniment for burns. stairs which came to an end deep to ourselves until our deaths."

down in the house terminating in a Mr. Carless read this passage aloud, urchin was feeding a couple of rab. he exclaimed. "You see, gentlemen, 1245 is in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 a stork brought you?" bits in a soap-box, and him Viner Ashton, one holder of the secret, was inches bust. Size 38 bust requires 5 Willie-"No, I don't. I want to see "You're a smart-looking lad," he said. "Would you like five shillings? himself; Cortelyon wanted to profit. We'l, have you seen Dr. Martincole this afternoon?"

There before him lay a narrow white- his hand.

You're a smart-looking lad," he himself; Cortelyon wanted to profit. Every woman's desire is to achieve that smart appearance which draws favorable comment from the observed. "See him go out abaht an hour ago, evidently got two accomplices who favorable comment from the observguy'nor-wiv anuvver gent," said the were necessary to him, and he meant, ing public. The designs illustrated in by suppressing certain facts and en- our new Fashion Book are originated "You've seen him many a time, of larging on others, to palm off an im- in the heart of the style centres and course. Now what's he look like?" poster who-mark this!-could be will help you to acquire that much "Couldn't tell you that, guv'nor'd, squared by one hundred thousand desired air of individuality. Price of yer see," said the lad, "cause he's one pounds! Oh, a bad fellow! Keep him the book 10 cents the copy. "Here's another queer go!" he said. o' them gents what allus wears a tight, Mr. Inspector, keep him tight!" white silk handkerchief abaht his face

CHAPTER XXIX

THE SETTLEMENT.

this way," she said. "That's equally means—to you?" he said. "You are Eddress your order to Pattern Dept, willing to give up everything to Miss Wilson Publishing Co., 73 West Ade-The boy, duly questioned, nodded his Wickham?

Lord Ellingham laughed.

"I see Mrs. Killerby go out not so "Of course!" he answered. long since," he answered. "Know her "Very well," said Mr. Carless. "Then-the question is-who is to tell

Mrs. Killenhall-used to live here at from one another to Lord Ellingham one time! Good heavens! What are -but Lord Ellingham was already Marie, Raphael, Mimi small, you doing here?" he demanded, as eager and responsive.

Millwaters and Perkwite hurried up "Gentlemen," he said quickly, "I Laughing, gay, Neapolitan followed by Carless and Lord Elling- claim that right! If I am to abdicate Children of Tony, the market man. in favor of another, let me have at Their skins are touched with the same Perkwite told of his and Mill- any rate the privilege of first greeting water's adventures, but before he had the new sovereign!'

finished, Viner spoke: "If you'll par- The gathering repaired to Viner's don us, Miss Wickham and I have an house, where they waited in the library while Viner went away to the He hurried his companion away, drawing-room and presently brought In Italy's vineyards; their lips glow and into the first taxicab which came Miss Wickham back with him. She Vivid as ripe promegranates do;

"Now," he said, as they stepped in, with something of a smile. "More mystery?" she asked.

took the girl's hand. "there is, this time, a mystery to be explained. And-allow me to hand Inquiry at the bank revealed the you into this room—there is a young fact that Mrs. Killenhall had present- gentleman in there who will explain ed a cheque from Miss Wickham for it, all of it, a thousand times better Color, romance-Italy! ten thousand pounds, which had been than we old fogies possibly could!"

The Terents Horpital for Incurables, in amiliation with Bellevus and Allied Hospitals, New York City, offers a three years' Course of Training to young women, having the regulred education, and desirous of becoming nurses. This Hospital has adopted the eighthour system. The pupils receive uniforms of the School, a monthly allowance and traveling expenses to and from New York. For further information write the Superintendent.

He closed the door on her, and turned to Mr. Pawie.

were right and I was wrong. It wasn't old snuff of yours, Pawe!" he said. moments we do pass through! Viner "But do you know who did?" asked my dear fellow, you're a book-collector, I know. To-er-pass the time, show me some of your treasures."

Ten minutes, twenty minutes, thirty "He's in the cells at the back, now," minutes, went by, while Viner showed in the way of print and binding to the Viner stared silently at Drillford two old lawyers. And then, the door as if he scarcely comprehended his of the inner room was opened, and the two appeared on the threshold. And-"Cortelyon's the man!" repeated they were holding each other's hands.

fidence at once. I absolutely insist on "My aunt!" exclaimed Viner. "Why, resigning-what is not mine-to my cousin, the Countess of Ellingham. "She went round to Bigglesforth, And-not in any return, gentlemen!the stationer, and made some inquir- she has promised to give me something ies. Bigglesforth, when he'd got to which I shall prize far more than any know the main features of the case, title or any estate-you understand? was willing enough to help, and your And now, if Mr. Viner will excuse me, aunt immediately brought him round there are just a few more things we supplied stationery to Dr. Cortelyon He drew the girl back into the room for some time, and he'd no doubt that and closed the door, and the three the paper and envelope described by men, once more left to themselves, Miss Penkridge was some which he'd solemnly shook hands with each other.

Tashions-3

DISTINCTIVE IN LINE AND FABRIC.

The dainty printed frock, the epi- Hills, far distant. tome of the new season, finds express'on in the gracefully flaring lines of Ah! you and I well know skirts and followed him down the best if Cortelyon and I kept the secret and scarf-like collar. Also, it adds revers and a set-under button-trimmed door which Viner carefully opened, and then smote the desk heavily with vestee of the same contrasting material as the collar and tab cuffs, which Nurse "Willie, dear, don't you want washed yard. A pale, sharp-eyed "There's the secret of the murder!" trim the long, tight, set-in sleeves. No. to come to see the sweet, little sister honest; the other, Cortelyon, was a yards 36-inch figured material; 34 the stork."

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS.

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Enclose 20c in Mr. Carless took Lord Ellingham's stamps or coin (coin preferred; wrap "Ask him if he's seen a lady go out arm. "You know what this really it carefully) for each number, and laide St., Toronto. Patterns sent by return mail.

Indianapolis Market.

Behind heaped fruits in a jumbled row, Stand Josephine, Angeline, Antonio, And tiny bambino-a luscious stall-

warm gold

That gilded the oranges; their curls looked from one solicitor to the other And the veins on their temples are lapis blue As the sky at Naples is in spring-

Mr. Carless, with a courtly bow, The look of them's a singing thing-Their speech is music-hush, a breeze "My dear young lady," he said, Stirs distant, dark-leaved olive trees, And boatmen's songs drift off the Bay, Lilting, lovely, far away. Warmth and laughter, melody,

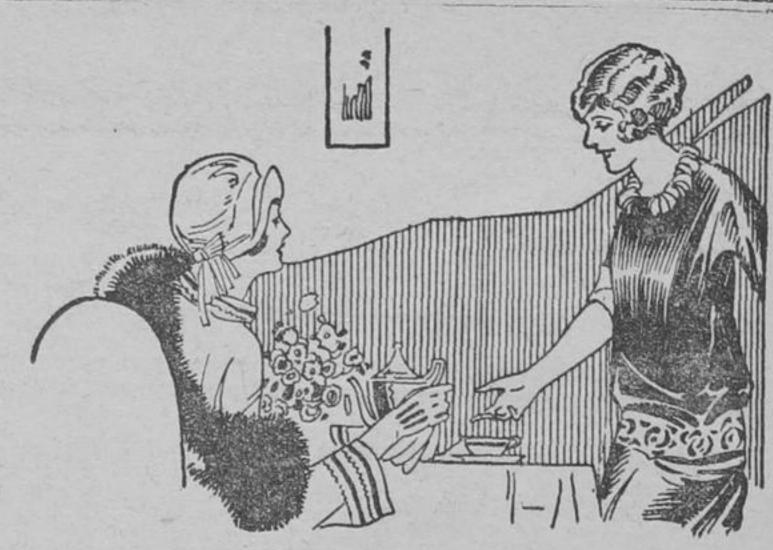

> Their names are a poem-Josephine, Maria, Raphael, Angeline.

-Ethel Arnold Tilden, in "Quest and Acceptance.'

Invitations. Archie-"See how I am run after; all these invitations" Friend-"Good gracious! All invitations? Invitations to what?" Archie-"To call and settle accounts." Minard's Liniment for Backache.

Friend:

"I see you've been buying some new Table Linen"

Hostess: "No, my dear, I've been using Sunlight Soap"

> CUNLIGHT, the all-pure laundry soap, is backed by a $5,000 guarantee. Sunlight will do your washing quickly, more thoroughly and will keep your clothes looking like new.

Sunlight Soap

The Largest Selling Laundry Soap in the world Made by

Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto Sold Everywhere

Yanks Got Off Easy.

During the World War only 1,849

A few drops of ammonia added to the water when washing flannel and woollen garments will make them soft and help to keep them a good color.

American soldiers were affected by Larkspur.

But yesterday I looked upon the lot,-This clump of green-gray stalks stood chlorine gas and only 7 died. empty.

Spanning the intervening hours Some chalice filled with heaven's blue Pours out,--Lo! the stalks are sprayed

With flower-cups Of every shade of bine: The blue my mother's eyes wear When she looks at you; Flax-sun hazed;

The gorgeous turquoise of a dragon-

-Gertrude S. McCalmont.

Interested in Stork.

DESTROYS

Flies, Mosquitoes

Roaches

Bedbugs

The strain of holding and the work of lifting are both eliminated with the Hotpoint Iron because of its patented Thumb Rest and Heel Stand. Over six million women have found in the Hotpoint Iron a freedom from tired wrists and aching backs.

$5.50

At the present low prices, you should not overlook the comfort

Special Hotpoint Iron $1 extra.

of the Hotpoint Iron.

A Canadian General Electric Product

