Sifton Accorded Enthusiastic Receptions Throughout Riding

"Herb's Promises" Revived at Richvale Meeting.

An enthusiastic reception was tendered to Harry Sifton the Liberal candidate in North York at a rally at Sutton on Tuesday night when Hon. James Robb, former minister of finance, spoke to a capacity crowd in the town hall on his behalf.

Hundreds of people were turned away and the stairs of the building were lined with people all during the meeting. Mr. Robb and Mr. Sifton both spoke, outlining the obvious benefits resulting from Liberal rule. Mr. Robb concluding his address with a warm recommendation to Mr. Sifton.

"We have in this county one of the finest young men in the country in the person of Harry Sifton," he said. "He is a young man who is a keen student of public affairs and one who will go far in this country."

Mr. Sifton commented upon the campaign tactics of T. Herbert Lennox, Conservative candidate, and the Toronto Telegram his staunch supporter.

About five hundred people heard the addresses and almost an equal number were turned away.

This was Sifton's first appearance in the north part of the riding and the people of Sutton took him to their hearts. His good natured humorous manner made an instant appeal to the audience and when he came to discuss the real issues of the campaign he was given a splendid hearing. Frequent shouts of "we're with you Harry," and "we'll put you in," followed by cheers interrupted his speech. The crowd far surpassed previous expectations and since the majority of the people were from the town of Sutton, formerly a Tory stronghold, the Liberal workers are confident that they can eliminate Lennox's majority in this district entirely.

HERB HECKLED

The notorious promises of Herb Lennox the veteran campaigner are being taken with a little more than a grain of salt this election and electors are determined to demand actions as well as promises from their representative. This was clearly demonstrated at a noisy Lennox meeting in the basement of Richvale church Wednesday night. "We heard lots of those promises last election" greeted Herb's promise to look after the old people if elected. Asked how about the Old Age Pensions the conservative candidate promised that one of the first acts of the Meighen administration if returned would be to pass a bill to provide for the aged. He made a touching appeal and almost broke into tears as he spoke of the men and women who by their toil, their honest toil had contributed to the wealth of this country, but who for some reason or another were unable to provide for their old age. "It is not charity" he said "It is richly deserved, and WE will look after you, WE will pass a bill." It was clearly a case of Herb's promises against the action in the House of the Liberal party. No one in the audience had ever heard of Mr. Lennox speaking in favor of Old Age pensions when the matter was before the members for debate. The candidate however, is apparently in favor of such a bill at election times but overlooks the outstanding facts with respect to Old Age Pensions in Canada which are:

1. Liberal statesmanship for years has been directed towards Old Age Pension legislation.
2. Any serious efforts made to obtain Old Age Pensions in Canada has been the work of the Liberals.
3. The Liberal government formed the Special Committee which obtained the information upon which legislation was based.

4. A Liberal government passed the Old Age Pensions Bill in the Commons.

5. The Old Age Pensions Bill was wrecked by the Tory party, by Tory members in the Upper House.

6. The Liberals attempted to help one hundred thousand deserving people in this country. The Tories frustrated their efforts.

7. One hundred thousand deserving people in Canada have been kept in want because of a Tory decision.

Mr. Lennox read at great length from the speech of Harry Sifton delivered in Perth some time ago and someone asked why he didn't write a speech himself as they didn't come to the meeting to hear him read a newspaper. In his fervor in comparing the war record of Baron Byng and Rt. Hon. W. L. M. King, telling how many foreigners there are in the riding of Prince Albert, that this terrible Mr. Sifton would sever the last link joining Canada to the Empire, and he was getting on so well he thought he could be real brave and get away with a real spell binder. "I would love to have Mr. Sifton standing on this platform to-night" but that was as far as he got because a series of Oh Ohs interrupted. Herb saw at a glance that the audience knew of his refusal to meet Harry Sifton on the public platform and discuss the issues of the campaign in a straight forward manner so he posed as a tender hearted individual and said that he would not be so cruel as to accept the challenge. The meeting at first was very quiet without even applause but as the candidate got more venturesome in his remarks a regular line of interruptions followed and the meeting threatened to break up in a hub-bub. "You're pretty shaky this time Herb" and a series of other remarks which were drowned in the noise brought a closing request from the candidate that certain persons at the left of the hall refrain from voting for him.

A meeting was also held at Thornhill and, unlike the Richvale meeting was not marked by any interruptions and the hall was comfortably filled.

Decoration Day at King City

King City Cemetery usually presents a neat and tidy appearance to the visitor, but particularly so did it seem on Sunday afternoon last to the large congregation which had assembled to do honor to the memory of those who rest there in peace beneath the green.

Many friends had gone beforehand and laid garlands on the graves of their loved ones, but those that had not been so decorated were not forgotten in the ceremony which took place in the beautiful afternoon sunshine.

At half past four the resident ministers led those who gathered in solemn procession around the grounds, stopping at four selected stations, at each of which a short religious service was conducted, and flowers strewn upon the graves in the vicinity.

Beginning with the Doxology the congregation were then called upon to express their faith in God in the well known words of the 23rd psalm, after which the hymn "O God our help in ages past" was sung. At the second station the words of St. Paul in 1 or 15 were read, following hymn "Rock of Ages." At the third station "Asleep in Jesus" was sung, and selections from St. John 14, read; and at the fourth stopping place, after the 90th psalm and a short extempore prayer, a few moments of silence were kept, after which "The Lord's Prayer" and the most suitable hymn "Abide with Me" brought the service to a conclusion.

Throughout the whole ceremony the utmost reverence was most noticeable the congregation which numbered six hundred or so moving from station to station almost in silence, and entering into the spirit of Hymns and Responses most heartily.

The event is altogether new to the neighborhood and judging by the expressions of approval, will be one to be repeated annually.

Those taking part were the following:—From King, Rev. P. W. Roberts Rev. A. Halbert, and Rev. Jas. Miller, Rev. Bowman of Maple, and Rev. Robert Brydson of Parry Sound.

HEAR THE ELECTION RESULTS AT ARENA

W. G. Baldock, Limited, will again Entertain the People of This District on Election Night.

The people of this vicinity will remember well the entertainment provided last year on Oct. 29, in the Richmond Hill Arena by W. G. Baldock Limited, when this enterprising firm gave the public the benefit of their radio apparatus in receiving the election returns, as well as providing a good evening's musical entertainment.

This week Mr. Baldock informed the Liberal that he was again going to invite the public to the Arena, when he will give the same service in a more elaborate way. Mr. Baldock stated to us that he felt he was under a certain obligation to the people of this vicinity for the loyal patronage he had received since his advent into the garage business in Richmond Hill eight years ago, and he thought that by extending a cordial invitation to the public to visit with him on the evening of September 14 and listen to the results of the Dominion election he would be able to come in contact with all the people and at the same time render them a good service.

Mr. Baldock stressed very strongly the advantage of having the people of this community gather together in the village where they could become better acquainted and at the same time demonstrate to them that the village of Richmond Hill can give them any accommodation that they can receive in the city. Mr. Baldock's own words were, "we are all residents of Richmond Hill and it is our desire to bring this village before the community as a centre where the people "may if they will" gather with benefit to all concerned."

The program will consist of a complete election return thrown on a screen, musical selections from the North York Band, Lucky number contests. Numbers will be found on literature distributed during the evening and the lucky number will be drawn at 10.30 the same evening.

The successful candidate in North York will be invited to address the crowd. "Now all that remains," said Mr. Baldock, "is for the people to get behind us in this endeavor. We will supply the entertainment and the public supply the crowd."

Presbyterian Services

The regular service of the Richmond Hill Presbyterian Church will be held in the Masonic Hall as usual next Sunday at 11 a.m. with the minister Rev. M. C. Campbell in charge.
