How Government Control Works in Manitoba

Winnipeg, Man.
November 18, 1926.

Editor,
Richmond Hill, Liberal.

Dear Sir:—

The writer of a short letter in your esteemed paper signing himself "Never Again" should look abroad to those provinces which have had a try at "Government Control." The very things he says were said all over Manitoba before we adopted this system.

Here are a few facts which cannot be again said and can be verified.

Before passing of the Liquor Control Act there were six breweries in Manitoba now there are eight.

Before passing the act there were no distilleries in the province, now there are two. Under Liquor Control Act the distribution of both beer and hard liquor has enormously increased in the province. Beer by the truck load has been delivered from eight breweries through city, town and village, and distributed from forty-five beer stations throughout the province. Three thousand dollars worth of hard liquor has been sold to one man by the commission in two days, forty cases to another in one day. The stream of liquor flows unimpeded and uncontrolled throughout the cities, towns, villages and rural communities of the province.

As to bootlegging—our records show that under Government Control lawlessness in the sale of liquor has greatly increased. There is a vast increase in bootlegging. Listen—every brewery in the province stands a convicted bootlegger. Forty-one out of forty-five beer stations were closed by the Government for illicit selling. In two years the conviction for bootlegging reached the enormous total of over one thousand eight hundred and thirty-two, with fines amounting to $274,050.00.

According to a return to the provincial Legislature 61.9 per cent. of the beer manufactured in the Province was handled by bootleggers.

During the three years 1923—1925 three hundred and seventy-five persons were committed to jail for offences against the Act. In September of this year there were one hundred convictions for offences against liquor laws the greatest number in any month in the history of the Province.

It was claimed here also that lawlessness was due to Prohibitory legislation and would disappear with Government Control, but these facts show that is false.

The records of the courts show that general lawlessness is increasing.

The convictions in 1925 for all offences reached the highest point during the history of the province.

This ought to be enough for our old Ontario friend.

Feed Proper Diet

Richmond Hill, Ont.
November 9th, 1926.

Editor,
The Liberal,
Richmond Hill,

Sir:—

I have been interested in the discussion in your pages as to why the health of the country children is inferior to that of city children.

One cause, not touched upon by your correspondents as yet, is improper diet in the homes. Very few country mothers realize that a child's digestion isn't equal to handling the food provided for the men who are doing hard outdoor labor. This injudicious feeding often begins in babyhood when a fond parent gives the five or six month old baby a taste of everything on the table. Then the child screams with colic and "teething" is blamed for his crossness—or else a mean disposition that he has inherited from his father. The foundations of many a case of dyspepsia are laid in childhood by allowing the child to choose his own food and indulge in almost unlimited pastry, pies, candies, etc. And in how many homes we see the children drinking clear tea or coffee! How would the calves and pigs thrive if their owner substituted tea or coffee for their milk ration.

Children need porridge, fruit vegetables, meat once a day, eggs, brown bread, simple puddings, and a quart of milk a day, either to drink or take in the form of soups or puddings.

When we have school nurses visiting our rural schools a great step will have been taken toward improving the health of the rising generation.

Thanking you, I am—

Your Truly,
A. CRANK.
