ORATORICAL CONTEST

who do suffer from ill health, we have the finest health resorts in the world. Not long ago two Canadians met over in Switzerland. One was a medical man and the other a man who had been seeking relief for several years from a certain nervous disease. The medical man after examining the other said "Why are you over here seeking health, the best place I know for you is Preston Springs not a hundred miles from your own home town."

Not only is the country itself healthy but we have ample opportunity provided for developing our physical life to absolute perfection. We are now rejoicing in the prowess of George Young, the world champion swimmer, but he is only one of a great number of our young men who have excelled in the world of sport. Canada is known the world over for her interest in sport. The reason is that the country offers every opportunity for the development of it. In summer warm water in our lakes and rivers encourage the swimmers ice in the winter makes possible our hockey championships. Frosty autumn air and good open spaces give us our rugby stars. It is impossible to mention one branch of the sporting world in which Canadian do not excel. The fact that Canada is such a healthful country and that she is so interested in sports would be a very special inducement to anyone to live here.

Not only does Canada furnish an excellent opportunity for physical development but more important still is the opportunity for mental development. I am well aware that the greatest universities of the world are in the old land and in France and Germany, but education in those countries is not so universal a thing and not up to the same high standards as it is for us. The statement was made some two or three years ago that Canada had the finest elementary and secondary school system in the world. No longer are our country schools small, ill constructed and ill furnished, for as a result of the consolidated school system, most country children have buildings as excellent as in any city school. As for our universities they can well stand comparison with any on this continent. Nor is opportunity limited to academic lines. Our agricultural colleges, art schools, technical schools, all offer opportunity to develop every kind of talent at a minimum cost. The demand of course for the educated boy or girl is very great. In a new country there are all kinds of opportunity to make one's way in the world. The population is rapidly increasing new business activities are being set on foot, new industries are being built up, new schools and colleges are being opened and in all there is opportunity for the capable boy or girl to make his or her way in the world.

Although there is much to draw us to Canada when we consider our physical and mental welfare still greater and more important is her social well-being.

It is a widely recognized fact that Canada is a country of freedom, of free speech and of free institutions. In the report of the Imperial conference her status as a nation was recognized. Now she is on a footing of equality with Great Britain herself. We have an ambassador to the United States and the Americans have an ambassador at Ottawa. For a long time we have made our own treaties with foreign countries while through our representatives we have a government for the people by the people and in the interests of the people. People from the old land come to this country to escape the tyranny of their governments. Here they can live in peace free to follow their own inclinations and live their own lives. This of course would not be possible without our wonderful judicial system. We are all familiar with the term—the long arm of the law. Not long ago a man fleeing from justice hid up among the Eskimos, only to be discovered and brought back to justice by our North-West Mounted Police, famous the world over for their vigilance in upholding the law. Then too the curse of bribery so prevalent in other countries and in parts of the country to the south of us, is practically impossible in Canada because the judges of our provincial courts are appointed by the federal government and therefore cannot be unduly influenced by public opinion.

But not only are our morals guarded by our criminal courts. Our stringent divorce laws form a protection as well. Unlike other countries a home in Canada cannot be wrecked because the wife wishes to bob her hair or the husband arrives late for dinner. Only in the most extreme cases will the Canadian government grant divorce. Thus are protected our homes which constitute the mainstay of the nation.

These of course are only two small parts of our great system of democratic government. Here people of every rank and station are equal before the law and intermingle freely with each other. No class distinctions of wealth or birth hamper ones progress in Canada. If we possess an aristocracy at all it is an aristocracy of intellect in which almost everyone of us may gain a place.

Finally I would like to speak again of our Canadian ideals, for no country may excel in physical, mental or social life without a background of ideals. It was with the ideal before him of a christian colony was with the ideal of loyalty before that Champlain began his work. It was with the ideal of loyalty before grievances that the United Empire Loyalists came to Canada after the American Revolution. It was with the ideals of righteousness and freedom that 50,000 Canadian men died in the great war. We have inherited these ideals, they are a part of our tradition. They gave men courage to build and protect our country. They are back of Canada as she is today. They form the last reason but they form the greatest reason why we would choose Canada as a place in which to live. Thank you.

Newtonbrook

Choir practice was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bales on Friday evening, March 18. After a good practice was held the members were asked to come to the dining room where a dainty birthday luncheon had been prepared in honor of Miss Lottie Stephenson whose birthday was March 17th and this seemed a fitting time to remember her for her faithful work in the choir.

At the close of the luncheon, Rev. E. R. Young spoke in a very kindly way of Miss Stephenson's work after which she was presented with a box by Mrs. G. Shaw. This box was handsomely decorated with green ribbons and contained many gifts that St. Patrick himself would have been proud to claim.

Sunday Services

The services both morning and evening were taken by Rev. E. R. Young. In the morning a baptismal service was held and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stewartson had their baby christened, William, Sutterby Stewartson. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stewartson Honored.

A St. Patrick's social was held in the Sunday school room on Monday evening under the supervision of Miss Cora Good who is convener of Social Department of the Young People's Society.

After the games had been going for sometime Mr. G. R. Goulding asked Mrs. Stewartson to come forward and take part in another game. She had hardly gone forward when two huge clothes baskets of beautiful gifts were brought forward by Misses Edna Stephenson, Blanche Good and Irene Smith and Mona Woods.

This was a complete surprise. The members of the Church and Young People's felt that they could not let Mr. and Mrs. Stewartson leave for their new home without showing to them in this way the deep felt regret at losing two helpful workers in the church work here.

The gifts were beautiful and were greatly appreciated by the recipients. We wish them every success in their new home.

Horticultural Meeting

On Monday evening a special meeting of the North Township Horticultural Society was held in the Municipal Hall, Willowdale, when the hall was filled to its capacity to hear the Rev. Geo. W. Tebbs of Burlington give a talk on "The Garden Beautiful".

After some remarks by the president the speaker of the evening was introduced to his audience.

He first dealt with the opportunities of Horticultural Societies and stressed the work that could be done on Public grounds and highways.

Quite a number of slides were shown illustrating some transformations that had been brought about by the speaker in his home town.

A few slides were shown of the piece of ground between the highway and the lake shore which was at one time just a rough piece of ground.

The Burlington Horticultural Society transformed it into a beautiful park. This making a very nice place for the war memorial which has been placed recently.

Around the pumping station which was also transformed from a dumping ground to a picture of floral beauty. He also showed where similar transformations had been made through the efforts of his society.

He then took his audience through his own garden and showed some very fine specimens of the Iris which appears to be his hobby.

The second part of his lecture dealt with English gardens. Most of the slides shown were made from pictures which Mr. Tebbs had taken himself while on his trip last year from the humble workman's cottage to Buckingham Palace. He took his audience through a beautiful collection of gardens giving a very accurate account of each. The slides showing rose bushes and sweet peas were very much appreciated.

Mr. Tebbs closed his address by showing scenes of his trip while crossing the ocean on his way home including icebergs and a beautiful sunset on the St. Lawrence.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Tebbs for his very instructive and entertaining address.

As a result of this meeting quite a few members joined the society.

The Boy's Club will hold its Annual Meeting Friday at which the election of officers will take place.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Rigby of Long Branch, Ontario spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lockyer, Drewry Avenue.

Word has been received from Mr. George Street and Mr. Howard Caines that they are now spending a few weeks in Victoria, B. C.

The boys are still enjoying a wonderful trip and now have gone over 6000 miles.

The most satisfactory radio announcer, all things considered, would be one who talks with his fingers.

Another objection to the way of the transgressor is that there's so much one way traffic it is difficult to turn.
