Safety on the Highways must be maintained

NEW SPEED LIMIT THRUSTS GREATER RESPONSIBILITY ON DRIVERS FOR CARE AND COURTESY.

A GREATER responsibility for alert caution rests on the motorist using the highways now that the speed limit has been raised.

In every case speed must be governed by the circumstances.

The change in the law does not to the slightest extent relieve the motorist from responsibility for careless or reckless driving. Indeed, in this respect the faster movement of traffic on the highways will thrust upon drivers a greater necessity for caution.

In villages, in heavy traffic, at cross roads or railway crossings, where adults or children are using the highway, near schools, and at curves and bridges, care must be exercised by the motorist in accordance with the circumstances. Obedience to the law and courtesy to others is expected at all times.

The raising of the speed limit in no way lessens the necessity for caution. The change in the law will not mitigate the offense of recklessness or carelessness on the part of any driver. Attention is particularly directed to the provision for cancellation of the car's license which may follow subsequent conviction for reckless driving.

The safety of the highways must be maintained. The Department hopes that motorists will realize this and will strive through carefulness and courtesy to continue to keep Ontario highways safe for all who use them.
