A Serious Situation
A warning to the people of Richmond Hill is given in this issue by Dr. Wilson M. O. H. to the effect that it is unsafe to use the town water without boiling. In the interest of Public Health this advice should be strictly heeded out by the people who must realize the seriousness of such a condition and appreciate the great danger of using water which is contaminated. In view of the report from the provincial authorities in 1924 when a test of the wells of the village was made and 84 per cent. of those tested found to be grossly polluted, the present situation appears to be a very serious one. If 84 per cent. of the wells tested in 1924 were grossly polluted it is reasonable to suppose that many wells are at present in a similar or worse condition. It is probable that many are a good deal worse because some have not been used very much in past years. If 84 per cent. of the wells of the village are grossly polluted and the town water is unsafe to use for domestic purposes the water problem is a very serious one for the village. As a safeguard to public health it would appear commendable for the Board of Health to immediately have a survey made of the town wells and make sure that they are fit for the use of the people.

Oriole

Heroic Action Saved Three From Drowning

By the heroic and prompt action of E. Charity, aged 13 years, of Oriole, a triple drowning fatality was averted, when three young ladies, got into difficulties in the Don river while bathing.

Charity, who was working in a nearby field, heard shouts for help, and, accompanied by his nephew, Oliver Coulson, hurried to the river to find the young ladies in midstream and struggling to gain the shore. Jumping into the river, he swam to their aid, and in the meantime Coulson, who was unable to swim, waded out as far as possible and helped to bring them ashore.

When the ladies were brought to the bank they were exhausted. Dr. Berry of Willowdale was called and applied artificial respiration. One of the rescued had to be worked over for over half an hour before she finally regained consciousness.
