Richmond Hill Society Held
 Fourteenth Annual Flower Show
 QUALITY AND VOLUME OF EXHIBITS VERY GRATIFYING—THE PRIZE WINNERS

The annual flower show of the Richmond Hill Horticultural Society was held in the Arena on Saturday afternoon. The entries in all departments were very gratifying and a large number of people visited the exhibits during the afternoon and evening. The lateness of the season interfered with the showing in some sections but on the whole the volume and quality of the exhibits were very gratifying.

Asters made a fine showing, some of which the judges, E. Grainger, Toronto, and J. S. McNair, Richmond Hill, claimed were equal, if not better, than those shown at the Exhibition. The children's list was exceedingly large and a credit to the youth of the village and surrounding community.

A most generous contribution to the success of the Flower show last Saturday was a table of Gladiolus and Dahlia blooms placed on display by Mr. W. E. Wiley, of Toronto.

These were grown in Mr. Wiley's own garden on Dovercourt Road several of them being seedlings propagated by himself. The many patrons of the show freely admired the quality, colour and variety of Mr. Wiley's display whilst the Directors of the Horticultural Society cordially appreciated his interest not only at this flower show but during the several years he has made donations to the prize list.

Mr. Wiley's bulbs are well known to flower growers and need no word of commendation from us to introduce them to public notice. Mr. Wiley is one of Richmond Hill old boys whose continuing interest in the home town as repeatedly shown in his frequent visits and kindly remembrances is warmly felt by his many friends.

The Welcome Sign

"NOBODY asked you, sir," said the coy maiden. And in matters of buying, as well as in affairs of the heart, most people like to be "asked." Often, indeed, they insist on a proper invitation.

He is a wise merchant who keeps the welcome sign constantly before the community in the form of ADVERTISEMENTS in the home paper. There everybody see it—for ADVERTISING is "the light of directed attention."

Speak up. Light up. Hundreds of good customers are listening for your message and watching for your welcome sign in

They bridge the gap between town and country

Improved highways make for a better understanding on both sides

Hard, smooth roads, stretching in all directions over Ontario, have helped rural and town people to appreciate one another's problems. Mutual understanding is taking the place of misunderstanding.

Easy communication has brought communities closer together. It has widened personal and business acquaintance. It has opened up new markets, has saved time and effort. Rural Ontario does not need to be isolated.

No one wants to return to the old days when it was impossible to drive to town because of bad roads, or when town people could not visit the country.

Use the highways. But use them sanely. Avoid excessive speeds and careless driving. With the faster moving traffic under the new speed laws, drivers must exercise every precaution. Watch the road warnings. Take no chances at intersections, railway crossings and curves, near schools, or when passing pedestrians.

See to your brakes. Your life or the lives of others may depend upon your control of your car.

Watch your headlights. They must not glare. A glaring headlight is a positive menace on the highways. Simple instructions, sent free by this Department, show how headlights should be adjusted.

Obey the rules of the road. Be patient. BE COURTEOUS. Do not enforce your rights in traffic if others are inconvenienced or placed in danger.

Always have your Motor Vehicle Operator's License with you

A common courtesy on Ontario's highways will help to bring country and town still closer together for the well-being and prosperity of both.
