New Year's Entertainment
 The United Church in Thornhill presented a very gay appearance on Monday evening last, upon the occasion of the fourth annual entertainment of the Young Men's Class of that Church.

The program presented to the patrons was as good, if not better, than in former years, and well in keeping with the high standard of entertainment at all times provided by this enterprising class of men.

A good criterion of the popularity of entertainments sponsored by this organization is the fact that long before the program was scheduled to commence, the auditorium of the church was filled to overflowing and when the curtain was raised the gallery was also filled to capacity.

Although the chief attraction on the program was the play enacted by members of the Men's Class with the assistance of some of the young ladies of the Church, the Thornhill orchestra under the able leadership of Miss Aileen Atkinson, received a goodly share of applause after each selection they rendered. Another nice feature on the program was selections rendered by Mr. John Duncan, on the Harp. This young man has just arrived here from the Old Country where he played to some very large audiences, and his reception at Thornhill was very encouraging.

As stated before, the main feature of the program was the play, entitled "We are Coming." This play was written by a Canadian, lady, residing in Western Canada, and deals in a very comprehensive and intelligent manner with the liquor traffic in Canada. There is a very fine moral woven into the play, and, in addition, is liberally interspersed with humor. This play is the biggest thing ever attempted by the Men's Class, and the manner in which the various ones taking part, handled their parts was wonderful. The following participated—Miss E. Davies, Miss E. Barker, Miss Reta Dean, Miss Rhea Hooper, Miss Marion Smellie, Miss Mildred Sumner, Messrs Bruce McDonald, Craig McDonald, Gordon Galbraith, Ralph Johns and Bryan Sharpless. The play was under the personal supervision of Miss Marguerite Boyle, who needs no introduction to these columns.

Much favorable comment was heard in regard to the evening's bill, and the Young Men's Class is to be commended on their fine effort to provide good wholesome entertainment for the residents of Thornhill and environs.

Mrs. R. A. Nesbit entertained this afternoon in honor of Mrs. (Rev.) J. W. McIntosh, of St. Johnsbury, Vermont.

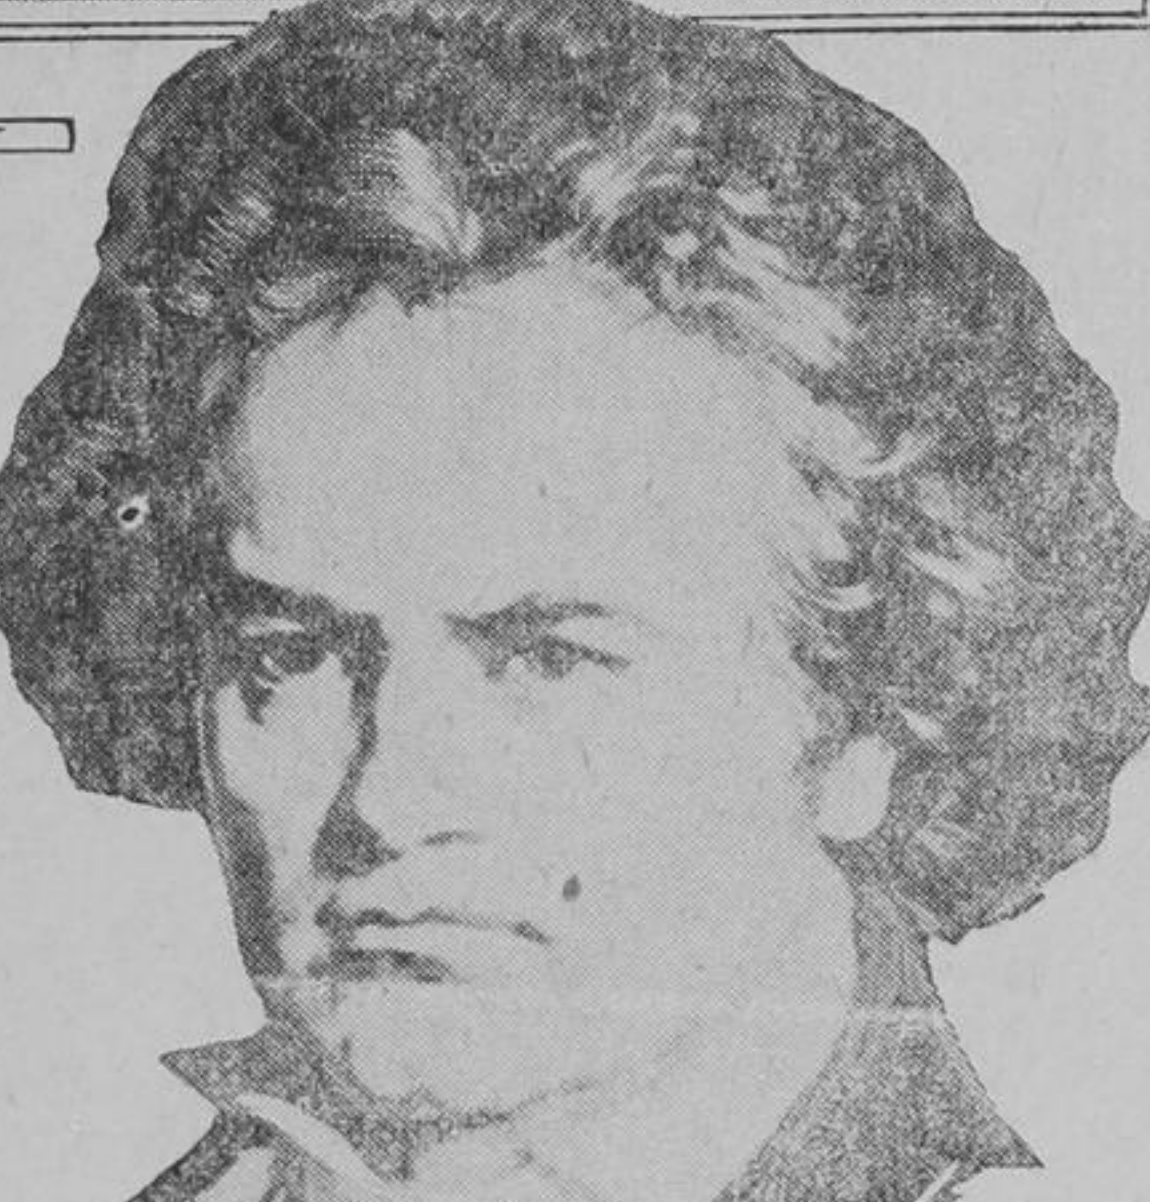

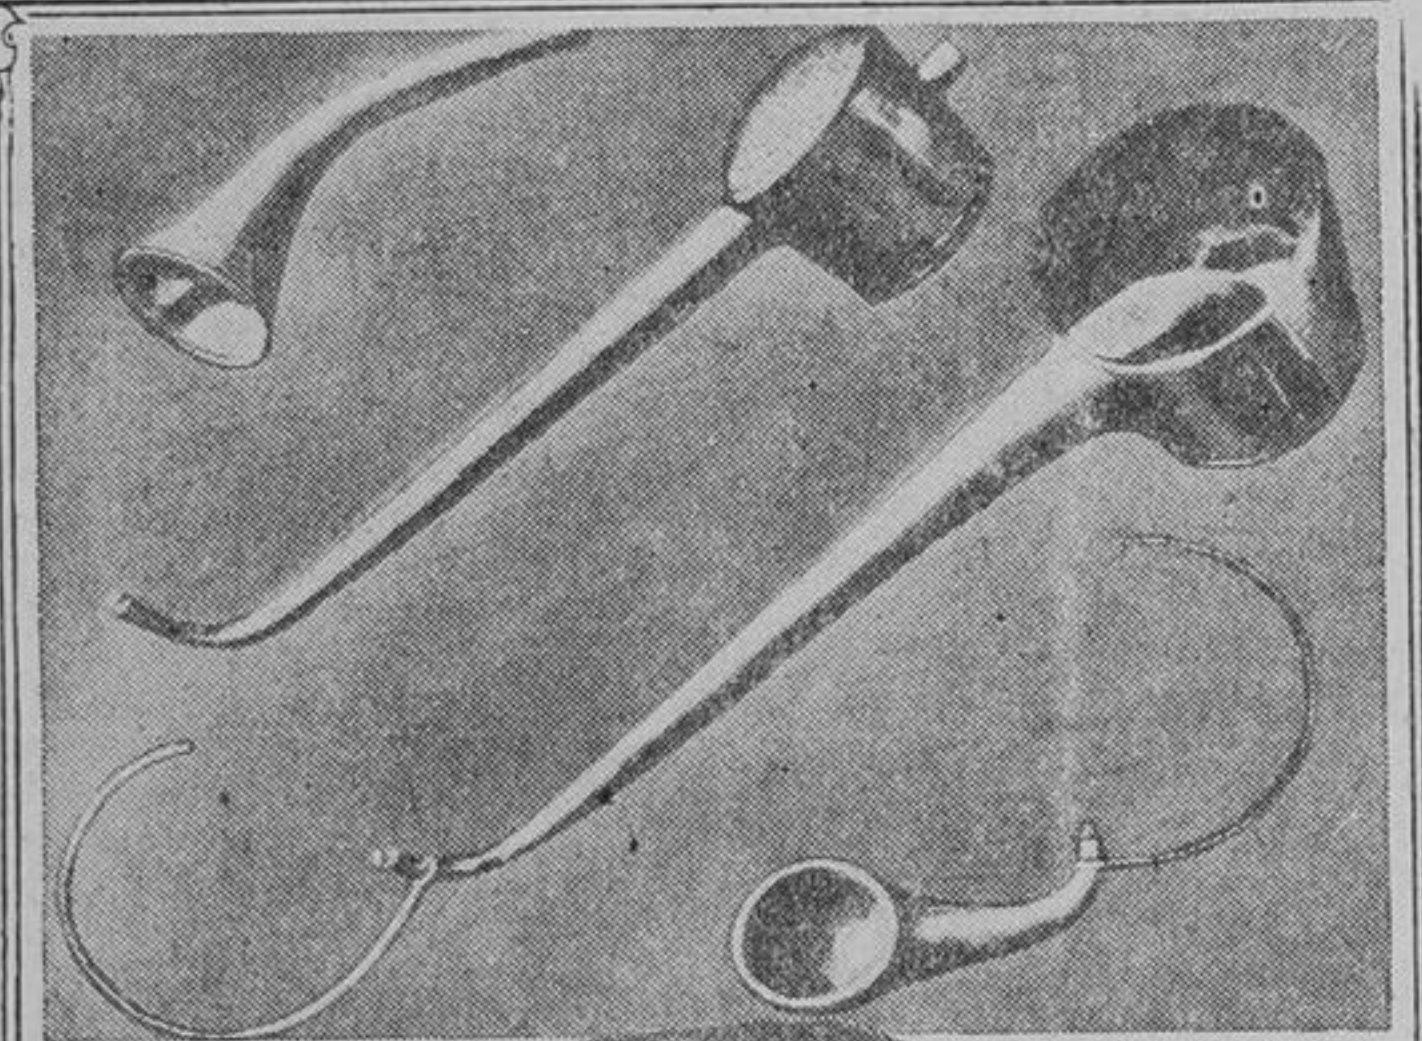

Mrs. Challenger and son Dick have returned after spending several months in England.

Mrs. Lowery, of Toronto spent New Year's with her sister Mrs. A. Brilling.

A man went to stay in the country and his host, thinking he would like a little sport, lent him a gun and sent him out with some dogs. In half an hour he returned.
 "You're soon back," said the host.
 "Yes, I want some more dogs. I've shot all those," said the man.

Lady of the house—"I suppose you've been a hobo all your life."
 Ragged Rufus—"No, lady, youse wrong me. I wuz in de pen for eight years."

Alas, Poor Beethoven!

Ludwig Von Beethoven, the great composer, the centenary of whose death is being observed this year, was stone deaf when he wrote some of his greatest compositions. In the house at Bonn, Germany, in which he was born, are displayed some extraordinary expedients in the shape of ear trumpets, which the great musical genius resorted to in the years in which his precious hearing was approaching complete eclipse. Contrast these crude devices with the audiphone, lately perfected by Bell Telephone engineers, and which employ a small microphone, vacuum tube amplifiers, and a tiny telephone receiver molded to fit the ear. This product of Bell System research has proved a great boon in recent months to thousands afflicted with deafness, and one cannot but wonder what still greater triumphs Beethoven might have achieved had such a device been available in his day.
