Richmond Hill Fair Board Held Annual Meeting

Seventy-Ninth Annual Fair Will Be Held
Next May 24th.

W. A. Wright, "Wes" Middleton and Cameron Walkington Are New Directors

The annual meeting of the Richmond Hill Agricultural Society was held in the Council chamber on Saturday afternoon last. There was a fair attendance of members and all were enthusiastic and optimistic concerning the affairs of the society which is one of the oldest in the province of Ontario and which on May 24 next will hold its seventy-ninth annual spring exhibition. The financial report given by the secretary R. S. Cooper showed that the society broke about even in 1927 with a small balance on the right side of the ledger. Considering that the fair was postponed on account of rain this showing was quite satisfactory and the directors expressed themselves as well pleased that there was a surplus for the year rather than a deficit.

President W. H. Legge presided and in his opening remarks referred to the loss which the society had sustained in the sudden death of H. A. Nicholls who for so many years was an active worker in the organization. He thanked the directors for their able support and assistance during 1927 and spoke with confidence concerning the future of the Richmond Hill Fair. On motion of Reeve Lunau and Scott McNair who is one of the veteran directors of the society a letter of condolence will be sent to Mrs. H. A. Nicholls from the society.

Vice-President F. A. Clark and directors James McLean, R. S. Thompson, J. Lunau, J. S. McNair, G. H. Duncan, J. E. Francis and Robert Agar all reported on the various departments under their direction. It was pointed out that the showing of live-stock was gratifying last year. The exhibit of cattle, sheep and hogs was the largest in history and the showing of horses would have done credit to many of the larger fairs of the province. The apparent lack of interest in the fair evidenced in some quarters in Richmond Hill was regretted and it was felt that the fair should have more active support in the village.

It was decided to hold the annual Seed Fair on Saturday, February 4. It was also decided to hold the crop competitions in oats and potatoes. An entry fee of $1 will be charged and there must be twelve entries in each class before awards will be made. Department judges will be employed at the fair this year. President W. H. Legge and Vice-President F. A. Clark were appointed delegates to the annual convention of the Fairs and Exhibitions Association.

The financial report for the year is as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lockie Wilson Receive Handsome Present From Associates

Many Provincial Organizations Honor Popular Managing Director and His Wife.

A very pleasant function took place on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lockie Wilson 582 Huron Street, Toronto, when they were surprised with the presentation of a handsome cabinet of silver and an address by representatives of the many organizations with which Mr. Wilson is associated throughout the province. Mr. J. Lockie Wilson who is well known in this district and all over Ontario as the managing director of the Fairs and Exhibitions Association, the Ontario Plowmen's Association and kindred organizations, was married on New Years Day to Miss M. Galbraith who is also well known here having officiated several times as a representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The thousands of men and women who are members of these organizations with which Mr. Wilson has been associated could not let such an occasion pass unmarked and on Wednesday afternoon representatives gathered at his home and made the presentation. Present were James McLean, Richmond Hill, representing the Ontario Fairs and Exhibitions Association, Lionel Godison representing the Ontario Horticultural Society, Major George B. Little, Warden of York County, representing the Ontario Plowmen's Association, Mr. Fritz of Vineland, representing the vegetable Growers and R. B. Crosby of Markham, representing the Ontario Field Crop and Seed Grain Association. The following address was read by W. H. Legge, president of the Richmond Hill Agricultural Society to which Mr. and Mrs. Wilson replied in suitable terms:—

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lockie Wilson,— We have taken the liberty of coming to your home to-day to convey to you our appreciation of your services in the many public enterprises in which you have shown such marked interest and to express our hopes that the home you have established for yourselves may long be blessed with the joys of life you both so well deserve. As we take a retrospective view of the history of the different societies with which you have been associated, we are struck with the marvellous progress they have made under your fostering leadership.

Needless to say the officers and members of these societies appreciate the results which your untiring energy and tactful diplomacy have effected and feel that others could not have attained so much in the same period of time as you have achieved.

Through our associations with you in your public capacities, we have come to admire the strong personalities of your characters, and to be proud that we can lay claim to both of you as friends worthy of our confidence who have been only too eager to assist us solve our problems whenever we have asked for your advice. We realize that many of the difficulties which were vexing to us must have seemed trivial to you and probably caused you to smile at our simplicity because we hesitated to make decisions when really there was no cause for hesitation.

So it is in the spirit of friendship that we though representatives of the various societies which have sent us here, ask you to accept our gift as a mark of our personal esteem, as a token of the warm feeling our hearts entertain towards you and as a tribute to the merit which you have evinced in the performance of the many arduous duties which your public positions have demanded of you.

Let us reiterate our wish that you may be long spared to enjoy the home you have established, to continue the successful performance of the duties pertaining to the offices you have so well conducted, and to show to the present and succeeding officers and members of our associations the same kindly and sympathetic spirit which has ever been characteristic to both of you.
