Weekly Newsy Notes From Newtonbrook District

Miss Margaret Shaw is better and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Shaw are now out of quarantine.

Miss Eleanor Moore is confined to her home with mumps.

Miss Lottie Stephenson, we are sorry to say, has been seriously ill.

Representatives of the Bell Telephone Company, of Toronto, are giving a demonstration of their system, under the auspices of the Newtonbrook Men's Club, this (Thursday) evening in the Sunday School Room of the United Church.

Choir practice will be held this week at the home of Mrs. Frank Summers. There will, doubtless, be a full turnout as Easter music is under way.

Rev. R. N. Burns, D. D., of Toronto, will be the preacher at the coming Union Good Friday Service in the Newtonbrook United Church, April 6th, at 11 a.m. All the local pastors will assist. Music will be furnished by the choir of the Willowdale United Church. A cordial welcome is extended to all to join in this annual union service in memory of the Crucified One.

There was a fair attendance at the meeting of the Home and School Association in the New School on Thursday, March 22nd., when an interesting and very instructive programme was given. Mrs. A. W. Galbraith was in the chair. Splendid reports were given by the secretary and treasurer. The devotional exercises were taken by Rev. E. R. Young. Music was provided by Miss Betty Riddle and Miss Eva Thomas and a very interesting paper was read by Miss Evelyn Graham. Miss NeTannis Semmens, a noted worker in Religious Education, gave a very able address upon "Guide Posts in Child Training". Parents and teachers were not called upon to pour something into hollow heads, as they dealt with their children. They were called upon to deal with sensitive, aggressive spirits, with inquiring minds and eager souls, trying to find themselves in the ways of life. Parents and teachers were, therefore to be guides to their children. Among the "guide-posts" treated were: Worship, Fellowship, Instruction and Service. Miss Semmens had small use for the separate "Junior Congregation." The place of children in worship was beside their parents and if they did not understand all that was said and done, they understood that in worshipping God, they were to stand beside their parents. Miss Semmens emphasized the important place that the Family Altar had in fashioning child faith and life. There was nothing, declared the speaker, to take the place of the training that a child received in its home and the first, greatest and most influential guides and trainers are the parents. Responsibility, as well as "honor", for child culture and success, rests with the parents.

Morley was only nineteen years old but had been a sufferer from heart trouble for some time. Besides father and mother, he is survived by a sister, Viola and a younger brother, Clark. Rev. George Waugh, of Willowdale, had charge of the service and was assisted by Rev. E. R. Young, of Newtonbrook. Interment took place in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

A CHEERFUL LIAR

A shrieking farcial comedy, full of "go" and new situations. Unlike most light pieces this one has a most capital plot and a moral. Judge Hessel is a great character part. The audacity as well as cheerfulness with which he prevaricates invariably "brings down the house" In the last act where Flora dons a boy's costume and the Judge is dressed to captivate, the stage presents one of the strongest comedy scenes that has ever been suggested. This clever play will be staged at Victoria Square sometime early in April. Date announced in The Liberal later.
