SCENIC A BIT OF HIGH LIFE

Yonge Street Traffic Exact Toll Of Sacrifice In Fatal Tragedy

SAD FATALITY EMPHASIZES NEED OF SIDEWALKS ALONG HIGHWAYS

"How long shall the highways be stained by the blood of innocents?" asked Rev. N.H. Noble of Trinity church, Thornhill in preaching the funeral service of the late Harry Banks, of Langstaff, who met his death when he was struck by a motor car on Sunday evening last, and whose funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Noble made an eloquent and forceful plea for immediate action to safeguard the lives of pedestrians who used the highways and stressed the fact that the time had come when the people must demand sidewalks along the principal highways. He appealed for the co-operation of the press to the extent of publishing full details of the accidents that the force of the appalling danger might provoke action from the authorities. He eloquently pointed out that the life of this young man snuffed out in his early years, hard and sad as it was to bear would not have been sacrificed in vain if it would result in the institution of safety measures in the interests of the people of this district.

Charles Henry Banks who was in his twentieth year was walking north on Yonge Street, Sunday evening accompanied by his brother Edward when the accident occurred. Both were walking on the radial tracks, as they thought well out of the way of the continuous stream of traffic. It is said that three cars trying to pass abreast forced the left hand car on the tracks, striking the unfortunate young man and inflicting fatal injuries and painfully injuring his brother Edward. The deceased was well and favorably known throughout this district and his sudden death is sadly mourned by a wide circle of friends with whom he was very popular.

A private service was held at his late residence which was followed by a service in Trinity church, Thornhill, which was very largely attended. A great mass of floral tributes was evidence of the high esteem in which he was held and the genuine sorrow occasioned by his passing and of the sympathy which is felt for the bereaved family. During the service at the church two favorite hymns of the deceased, "Breath on Me Breath of God" and "Peace Perfect Peace" were sung. Rev. Noble of Trinity church of which the late Mr. Banks was a devoted member spoke at some length referring to the loss sustained not only by the family but by the church and community as a whole through the death of Harry Banks. He emphasized that the sacrifice of his life should inspire immediate action to remove the causes which had brought about this tragedy, and the provision of proper accommodation for pedestrians on Yonge Street. Even in tragedies Rev. Noble pointed out that the Divine Providence of God was ever present and mysterious as the ways often seem they are all means of working out His Divine will.

The late Mr. Banks is survived by his father Mr. Charles Banks, two brothers, William and Edward and two sisters, Ethel and Dorothy. His mother died three years ago. Interment took place in Trinity cemetery the pall-bearers being, Raymond McLean, Fred Reynolds, Keith Ball, Cyril Ball, Jonathan Wray and Frank Nicholson. After the service at the grave the flowers were distributed to different Toronto hospitals.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MARKHAM RESIDENT

Joseph Horner an old and highly respected resident of Markham Township died suddenly while working in the harvest field on Thursday last. Engaged in wheat cutting operations with his brother Joshua Horner the deceased had been leading the horses which were hitched to the binder when the animals suddenly became excited and unruly and finally he had to let go the bridle. The brother Josh who was on the seat of the binder and holding the reins after a run through a summer fallow succeeded in stopping the team. The late Mr. Horner again took them by the bridle, but almost immediately was seized by a violent pain about the heart. His brother and Mr. F. Helmky immediately went to his assistance but he had lapsed into unconsciousness, and he passed away before medical aid could be rendered.

The deceased was in his sixty-fourth year and his sudden death was a great shock to the community. He was living on the Horner homestead on which he was born and where he spent his life.

The funeral which was held on Saturday last was largely attended. Services were held at the house and at church and were conducted by Rev. D. N. Heise assisted by Bishop A. Winger. The text was taken from the thirtieth chapter of Job and the twenty third verse, "For I know that Thou wilt bring me to death and to the house appointed for all living." The pall-bearers were, William Leece, David Patton, Charles Clark, Frederick Clark, Henry Kane and Charles Comisky.

Left to mourn his passing is one brother Joshua, one niece Clara Teel, one grand-niece Mrs. Samuel Winger and two nephews Floyd and David Winger. To the bereaved family The Liberal extends sincere sympathy and joins with the people of this community in expressing regret at the passing of one whose life was such as to command the respect and confidence of his fellow-men.

School Board Asks Council To Provide Protection For The Public School Children Who Cross Yonge St.

Miss Corner Engaged as New Public School Teacher

At a special meeting of the Richmond Hill Board of Education held on Tuesday evening, Miss Alice Corner, of Pefferlaw, was engaged as a Public School teacher to replace Miss Mortley on the local staff. Miss Corner has had four years teaching experience and comes very highly recommended by the Inspectors in whose districts she was engaged. Her salary will be one thousand dollars per annum.

Trustee Herb Sanderson introduced the question of protection for Public School children crossing Yonge street. He felt that in the face of traffic conditions as they exist to-day on Yonge Street that some precautions should be taken to protect the children. He suggested that lines be painted on the pavement where the children should cross and that the constable be on duty there at noon and after four to direct the children.

Chairman G.H. Duncan stated that this matter had been considered some time ago and that inasmuch as the School Board had no jurisdiction over the streets he had gone to the council to see what could be done. The only satisfaction received was a suggestion from Reeve Luha that the teachers of the school take turns in piloting the scholars across the street. The members were unanimous in the opinion that such a scheme was out of the question as the board did not hire teachers to be traffic "cops," and moreover it needed someone there who had some authority over traffic.

"The town spends lots of money a lot more foolishly than having a constable on duty at that crossing for a few hours a day" said trustee Sanderson.

On motion of trustee Sanderson and trustee Murphy the Board will ask that the village council take immediate steps to have a definite crossing place established on Yonge Street for the pupils at the Public School and that a constable be placed on duty at the crossing at noon and at four o'clock.

Those present at the meeting were Chairman G.H. Duncan, trustees, W. A. Wright, Frank Atkinson, H. Eddean, W.H. Murphy, A.A. Eden, H. Sanderson.
