

New Oakland Car Has Many Desirable Features

Completely new and original in appearance, with a number of interesting engineering features, the new Olympic Series Oakland Six goes on display this week in Thornhill at the showrooms of M. S. Hamilton.

Smarter, roomier than a year ago, with bodies of distinctive design, and a chassis said to be the last word in mechanical refinement, the latest Oakland model bears only a passing resemblance to its predecessor—the New Canadian Oakland Six brought out a year ago. The name of the new Olympic Series commemorates the performance of Canada's representatives at the Olympic games and its beauty of line is said to be reminiscent of the lithe grace of a trained and perfectly conditioned athlete.

Briefly, the new line offers a bigger, faster, more powerful engine; new Oakland type internal expanding 4-wheel brakes; masterful body creations by Fisher; new Ducco color combinations; higher, larger cross-flow radiator with grill front; adjustable driver's seat; chrome plated lamps of new design, sturdy ten-spoke wheels; Lovejoy shock absorbers and spring covers as standard equipment; new steering gears; sturdier frame, and a host of other improvements that are destined to make the car a distinguished addition to the aristocratic motor car family of the Dominion.

Already a million miles have been piled up by test cars on the General Motors Proving Ground. Although brand new to the public, it is a thoroughly seasoned product with the equivalent of many years of owner service already to its credit.

Seven passenger types comprise the line; sport roadster, sport phaeton coupe, 2-door sedan, and a new convertible landau and convertible cabriolet.

Artisans of the Fisher organization with Oakland engineers have achieved a new grace of body lines and symmetry and proportion exclusive in the Oakland field. The new Convertible Landau with its fabric covered rear quarter section which may be quickly raised or lowered has an air of custom built distinction.

The rear seats of all five passenger models are two inches wider this year to provide increased elbow room and to add to the comfort of the passengers. This change has been effected without increasing the tread.

Closed bodies all have adjustable driver's seats, reveals around windows set off by a narrow bead, single bolt moulding starting at radiator and completely encircling the body, smart side cowl ventilators, new type military arm visors, and hardware designed exclusively for Oakland, a new instrument panel finished in black imports a dignified touch to the front interior. Instruments on the dash and directly illuminated by two soft are individually mounted shielded lights.

A strikingly new outside appearance is provided by the head-on view of the car. The chrome plated radiator has been raised so that the line from the base of the cowl to the flat radiator cap appears practically level. A new grill, or radiator front lower effect, is of chevron design with a vertical chrome plated bar extending the full height of the front in the center of the grill.

The Canadian Oakland emblem has been redesigned this year in the form of a shield, red, white and blue enamelling give a touch of color to it. The famous Oakland-pioneered cross-flow radiator is retained with the cooling capacity increased.

Flanking the radiator are now full-crown fenders, larger and wider than a year ago, of seamless one-piece design with a beaded edge and a 71 inch spread. Rear fender ends have been extended lower than the hub cap to assure increased protection and added beauty. The newly fashioned hood has a chrome plated top hinge and vertical louvers in five groups of four each on either side to achieve a swagger air. Parking lamps are mounted on a chrome plated cowl bar.

A powerful new engine, offering flashing performance at every speed range, has been achieved by stepping up the cylinder displacement to 228 cubic inches as against 212 in the earlier model. This, in conjunction with other engine changes, results in a top speed of well over seventy miles an hour and quick acceleration of from ten to 25 miles an hour in high gear in six seconds. A new and exclusive Oakland feature is the four-point rubber engine mounting adopted on this model. By means of special "biscuits" which insulate the engine from the frame, there is no metal-to-metal contact, a feature which eliminates noise and engine vibration.

Increased displacement was brought about by enlarging the cylinder bore from 3 1/4 inches to 3 3/8 inches. The improved engine develops 68 brake horse-power at 3,000 r.p.m.

Increased braking power with a minimum of pedal pressure is achieved by new Oakland-designed brakes, of the mechanical four-wheel type, self-energizing, with internal expanding shoes on all four wheels. Individual adjustments are located at each wheel, and equalization has been entirely eliminated. The brakes operate on large twelve-inch drums and provide 290 square inches of braking surface. The parking brake on the transmission also has been redesigned for increased safety.

Spring squeaks have been largely eliminated by the inclusion of fitted spring covers as standard equipment on all models. By the retention of spring grease, and the protection of springs from outside dirt and grit, the covers eliminate the necessity of oiling the leaves except at extremely long intervals.

Special sport equipment, consisting of six wire wheels is available for all models, spares are carried in front fender wells and are provided with tire locks and chrome-plated caps bearing the Canadian Oakland emblem in colors.

They are called "bulls", but when they buy stocks at a price that cuts dividends to 3 per cent., you can't help thinking of the creatures that say: "Ba-a-a."

The thing that chiefly enrages the country is the city's ability to sin without feeling nasty afterwards.

Victoria Scene of Yuletide Festival

Empress Hotel, Victoria

"Who does not love the very name of 'Christmas', asks Dickens in 'The Christmas Carol' knowing well enough that there is no such person, and that if there were his punishment would probably be nothing less horrible than that which proved so effective in the case of the unpleasant Mr. Scrooge. And where, one may ask, is the proper Christmas spirit more truly observable and more thoroughly enjoyed than in England. Back in the dim middle ages Christmas was an English institution and it came down the centuries losing nothing of its charm although customs of celebration changed a little now and then as time went by. But Christmas remained English and is to-day as English as ever wherever English people are gathered.

Outside the British Isles there is no place so English as Victoria. The climate is English, better still its scenery is English, and best of all, its people are English. Great holly bushes "with red berries dight" grow in profusion, and English Ivy shrouds the walls of mansion and cottage—what better setting for English revels?

Victoria is this year going to celebrate Christmas in right good Christmas fashion. Old customs, old carols, old music—a Christmas festival that will pull at the heart-strings of English people no matter how many years or generations they have been away from "Home". The celebration will last from Christmas to "Twelfth Night" and will center around the Empress Hotel as one of the musical and historical festivals that have been organized by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Among the features of the Festival will be a presentation of "The Chester Mysteries", a nativity play that had its first performance at Chester Abbey, Christmas, 1328, just 600 years ago, when Edward III was on the throne, and about twenty-five years before the battle of Cressy. Christmas customs down through the ages to the time of Dickens will be observed in the costumes of their period and, there will be a Christmas play based on Mr. Pickwick's famous Christmas Frolic at "Dingley Dell Farm". The celebration will wind up with a fancy dress ball, and as Victoria is Canada's most popular winter resort the event will be attended by people from all parts of this country and the western States.
