HEALTH SERVICE

OF THE

CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

This article is written because of the numerous enquiries received by the Health Service, asking the meaning and significance of certain tests. Our correspondents ask the meaning of a high blood pressure, a positive or a negative Wassermann test, or concerning one or other of the numerous tests which are made.

During the past years, as a result of research in medicine and in the sciences, certain tests have been made available for physicians. These tests are most valuable aids in deciding the nature of disease, but they are nothing more than aids. They are, as it were, on one symptom. A physician does not make a diagnosis on one symptom only and, for the same reason, he does not make his diagnosis upon the result of one test.

It seems necessary to point this out, as so many people seem to think that the diagnosis of certain diseases is now made in a machine-like manner, by subjecting the case to a series of tests which label the individual as suffering or as free from certain diseases.

We are not minimizing in any way the value of these tests; we merely point out their limitations. The results must be weighed along with other symptoms by the physician in charge of the case. The significance of symptoms varies, and each case must be considered separately.

In using modern tests, the physician brings all available means to his aid so that he may make a correct diagnosis, a correct diagnosis being needed not merely to relieve symptoms, but to correct or remove the cause of the trouble.

An untrained person cannot understand the significance of these tests any more than he can understand the meaning of the different sounds the physician hears through his stethoscope when he applies it to the chest of the person he is examining. It is not because these are secret or mysterious, but simply that they require, for their interpretation, certain definite scientific knowledge, training and experience.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered by letter. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.

ADDED ACCOMMODATION

Traveller: "I would like a room. Anything doing?"

Clerk: "I have them at $1.25 and $2.00 a night."

Traveller: "What's the difference?"

Clerk: "Not much, only the two dollar ones have rat traps in them."

EASY FOR HIM

At a country fair five dollars was offered as a prize to the person who could guess the weight of a certain cow.

Crowds of people tried their skill and varied weights were suggested. Finally old Garge, who was regarded as the village idiot, came forward. To their amazement he named the exact weight of the cow offhand.

"How did you do it?" asked the judge, after awarding the prize.

"Twarn't nothin'," replied the hero of the occasion modestly. "I'd 'a' done better'n that if I'd been tryin'!"
