Tears of sorrow oft times flow, Memory keeps you, Mother, near us, Whom God called three years ago.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

On March 8th and 9th the Richmond Hill High School will present under the auspices of the Literary Society, a play by Alice Duer Miller, entitled "The Charm School." This comedy, which ran in New York and London, has a novel plot which runs briefly as follows: Austin Bevans played by Egerton Young, is a motor salesman, to whom an aunt left a girls boarding school. Bevans accepts the legacy and decides the pupils will no longer study latin, arithmetic, and the usual curriculum, but will, instead, learn to be popular and charming. So he and a group of young men friends all down in their luck at the time, form the new staff. Fairview school is however heavily mortgaged by Mr. Homer Johns, played by Arthur Jared, Johns is opposed to the new regime, and wishes the principalship to remain with Miss Hayes, played by Kathleen Morris, who, as events prove is his divorced wife. Bevans promises and struggles hard to keep his word that no sentiment will develop between the school girls and the new staff. LaVerne Wright, Jim Langstaff, Donald Hick and Bill Smith are the new staff, and teach such attractive subjects as tennis, dancing, and playing the ukelele. The girls take only too kindly to the new management and the complications are amusing. The school girls of the senior class are Nancy Davis, Dorothy Hick, Dorothy Angle, Evelyn Waugh, Elizabeth Baker, Elizabeth Jeffreys, and Cecile Dudley. The school Secretary who always thinks well of the Senior class under every circumstance, is played by Dora Anderson.

HEADFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith are having their house remodelled and when completed will be a decided improvement.

The weekly meeting of the Young People's Society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl James. After the devotional period a very pleasant evening was spent in contests and games.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Forester and daughter Alberta, of Victoria Square, visited on Sunday at the home of Mrs. A. Henricks.

We have heard many stories about the absent minded professor but we also have a few absent-minded farmers around here.

One day when one of our farmers was going away he was having a great difficulty in finding some of his wearing apparel and after a long tedious search finally called on friend wife who discovered he had it already on. We wonder if that was the cause of his absence from Young People's meeting last week.

A group of our young people took advantage of the moon-light nights and wended their way to the hills where they spent some jolly hours sleigh-riding.
