Exultant he swooped down on the wrecked enemy plane. Boastfully he stooped to snatch the tattered insignia from the wing. And then he recoiled in terror. He had shot down his best friend. A stirring story of love and friendship. An epic picturing the American war ace in France.

Will Make Effort To Curb Annual Road Destruction

Vaughan council in regular session on Tuesday afternoon took up in earnest the problem of the wholesale destruction of township roads by early spring traffic. Reeve Robson and every member of the council deplored this annual waste and steps will be taken to see if an enactment cannot be made which will prevent its recurrence year after year. It was pointed out that one heavy truck could ruin a road which it took years and thousands of dollars to construct. One trip over a road would do ten times the damage of the license fee charge these trucks it was said and the opinion was expressed that it was a poor policy to build roads and then allow them to be torn up during a few weeks in the spring.

Legal advice will be secured as the interpretation of existing legislation regarding loading of trucks and if it is not sufficiently effective the council will take steps to memorialize the government to have enabling legislation passed whereby the township may protect its roads.

"It has apparently been impossible to mix gasoline and common sense" said Reeve Robson in condemning the practice of motorists plowing through roads in the early spring. Truck operators often operated at an actual loss to themselves and caused hundreds of dollars damage to their cars it was said but in the face of it all the foolish practice continued to the disadvantage of the township and the people who use the roads.

The action of the council should receive the whole-hearted support of the ratepayers of the township who are taxed to keep up the roads and also of every sane motorist who uses the roads. It has long been recognized that traffic on the unpaved roads just as the frost is coming out wrought wholesale destruction. The present legislation limiting certain vehicles to half a load has apparently been insufficient to cope with the evil and if stricter enforcement will not take care of the offenders then a new law should be enacted with "teeth" enough to protect the roads of the municipalities.

The members of Vaughan council are to be commended for seriously taking up this question and if they take the lead in the matter of securing better enforcement or better legislation there is no doubt they will have the sincere co-operation of other municipalities. If they succeed they will have rendered a notable service and in their effort they should merit the support of every thoughtful citizen of the county.

A sheep claim of $25 was paid to J. B. Rae, lot 34, con. 3, for one sheep killed by dogs. There was no information concerning the offending canines.

Duncan McMurchy appeared asking that some work be done on the King townline between the 6th and 7th concessions. He was assured that the council would consider well the claims of this road this year and that as soon as weather permitted something would be done. Mr. McMurchy warned the council against grading the road and putting the dirt on the centre. He thought it was poor business to bury gravel and especially bad to put sod on the road.
