Rev. E. R. Young and Family Honored By the Newtonbrook Congregation

Members and Adherents Express Appreciation of Devoted Service of Retiring Pastor.

On Monday evening, the members and adherents of the Newtonbrook United Church went in a body to the parsonage and paid a surprise visit to their pastor, Rev. E. R. Young and his family. The gathering was called to order by Mr. H. B. Schmidt, the senior member of the Official Board, who said that they had come in this way because they could not let their pastor and his family go away without expressing to them in some way their thanks for their faithful pastoral services. He then called upon Mr. G. R. Goulding to speak for them. Mr. Goulding referred to the fact that Mr. Young had served their church for the longest term in their history. He spoke of the faithful work in the pulpit and the uniform good teaching that they had received; Mr. Young had been a diligent pastor and had served the community in other ways. Mr. Goulding commended the work that had been done by Mrs. Young, who was an exceptionally efficient and useful church worker. They had also been well served by the two sons of the parsonage, Allen and Egerton Young. It was regretted that owing to his work on a Geological Survey Party in Northern Ontario that Allen was not present but they were glad that Egerton was with them. Mr. Goulding said that their good work in the past was a promise of years of future usefulness and they wished both Mr. Young and his family every success in their new charge and wherever they might be called to serve. He called upon Mrs. Sutterby, who presented Mr. and Mrs. Young with a substantial cheque, which he hoped they would accept as a token of their esteem and sincere appreciation of their years of faithful work done in Newtonbrook. The choir seized upon the occasion to extend their thanks and appreciation to Egerton for the help he had rendered in the Choir. An address of appreciation was read by Mrs. Glenn Shaw and a beautiful copy of Moffatt's translation of the Bible was presented by Mr. Harry Hill to Egerton on behalf of the choir. Mr. Young thanked the friends for their very kind words of appreciation of his work, for their gift but chiefly for their presence on that occasion and for the kind and loyal support that they have given during the six years of his ministry. He hoped that the same support would be given to his successor and that he might enjoy an even longer pastorate. Mr. Egerton Young thanked the members of the choir and his other friends for their kindness to him. He feared that honors and credit had come to him that should have been given to others. All that he knew of singing he had learned from Mr. Hill, the choirmaster, and his predecessor, Miss Bertha Smith. He said he had also behind him a big brother and his father and mother, who had always helped him in everything that he had attempted to do. Mr. Schmidt said that they would be glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Young again whenever they could return. He was glad that he had a part in bringing Mr. Young to the Newtonbrook pulpit and they had been well served. He was sorry to see Mr. Young and his family go and wished them every success in Barrie. After the presentations a friendly social hour was enjoyed and, as the visitors departed, each and every one took occasion to extend their personal regrets at the departure of their friends and to wish them every success in the future.

any task. Such a condition can frequently be ended by the removal of adenoids — the usual cause in children.

It is not to be expected that the child with tooth-ache or with sore gums will give much attention to anything outside of his own discomfort. A clean healthy mouth is a most desirable possession, and is a real health asset. Teeth should be looked over by a dentist, and any treatments necessary secured before the child starts to school.

Now is the time to do this. If any treatments are required, they can be secured now and will not interfere later with the child's attendance at school. This will also leave the summer months free for the child to build up his general health after any treatments and enable him to start his school days with a body that is fit to cope with his new duties.

Most defects can be corrected by proper treatment. Children do not grow out of such conditions. The sooner they are attended to, therefore, the sooner is the child freed from the handicap such defects impose upon him. It is the interests of the child that he be given a fair chance in his school work. Give him this chance then by freeing him from those defects which can be corrected through suitable care.

Just because his office is only four doors south of a brewer's warehouse, the editor of the Warton Echo is quite incensed because many tourists have invaded his office looking for refreshments. In a large "Notice to the Whole World," he informs all that the Canadian Echo office is not the Warton Beer Store. And because of the great numbers who enter his office, he is quite convinced that everyone in the world, excepting his wife, his son John, and himself, are drinking beer. He doesn't mind answering a question with $2.00 a year, payable in advance, but "No, sir, it's just up the street four doors," has got his goat, and he says, "our stock in trade is supposed to be dry matter, dry figures, dry facts and occasionally a little dry humor," and apparently this is not what the strangers are seeking.

First Voters Should Vote

(By Evelyn Robb)

It is four years since there has been a general election in Canada and during that four years many young people like myself have reached the age of twenty-one and have obtained the right to vote. How many will take advantage of the opportunity we now have to use that vote and how many who do will use it intelligently? Are we going to sit back and say "I'll vote for the Liberals because father always did" or Grandfather would turn over in his grave if I voted for the Conservatives" or are we going to take the time to study the situation carefully and decide for ourselves which party would be the better for Canada? For after all, that is the important question. It doesn't matter particularly whether we like Mr. Bennett better than Mr. King or vice-versa what really matters is which party we consider has the interests of Canada more at heart and which is the better able to carry the country through any crisis which may arise.

We young people who have just reached maturity may not find politics very interesting but, sooner or later, we are bound to realize that our own interests are bound up with those of our country and that we must decide which party will give the most prosperous future to the country in which we live.

This is no easy thing to do and should not be taken in a light manner. It is very easy to be carried away by the words of an eloquent speaker, for the power of words is like a narcotic which tends to dull the intelligence. Last week I listened to Mr. Bennett's Winnipeg speech. He spoke in a most convincing manner, his emotional appeal was great and when he finished I had the feeling that the Liberal party did not have a leg to stand on. The next morning I read a verbatim report of his speech in a newspaper. In print it was still a good speech, a clear, clean-cut speech, but the fire was gone out of it. But after listening to Mackenzie King's opening speech on the radio, with its amazing marshaling of facts and figures I felt that Mr. Bennett had still a long way to go to convince the people of Canada that they should give him a chance to govern. There you are, as we say.

In order to vote intelligently we have got to know everything possible about the politics of both parties and the abilities of their leaders. We must read the reports of the speeches of both Liberal and Conservative candidates, listen to what older men and women have to say about them and weigh the various points one against another until we can form a decision as to which party is best fitted to govern the country. This program will not appeal to most of us for so far we have not had to worry about such weighty matters, but we have got to realize that in the very near future we will be called upon to take up the task of governing our country. Twenty years from now our fathers and grandfathers will have retired from active public life and on our shoulders will fall the burden of government. If we are going to be good citizens we have got to start now while we are young.

Young women in particular are too apt to think that politics are not worth bothering about. If they do vote they will mostly vote as their fathers vote. They do not seem to realize that women have really gained a place for themselves in public life. We boast about being the equals of men, but when our equality is put to the test we do not make good our boast. Our mothers went to great lengths to secure the right to vote. Why should we let them down by not using that which they gained for us?

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

FIT TO START SCHOOL

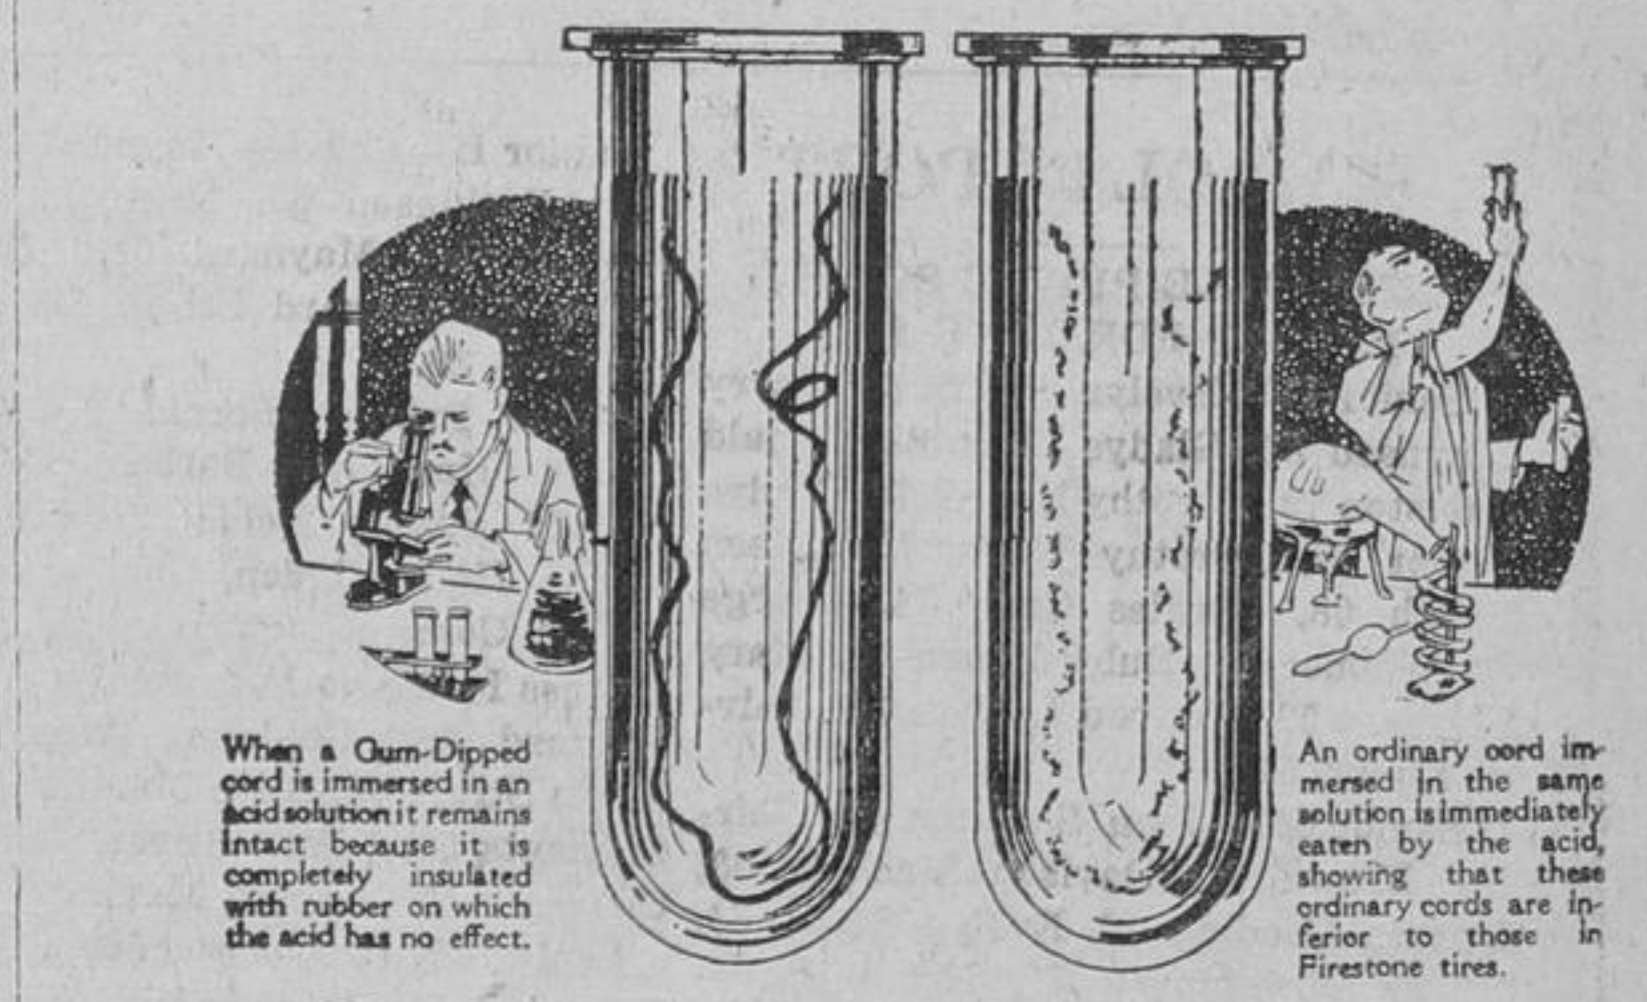

Now is the proper time to consider whether or not the child who is to begin school for the first time next fall is fit to make the start.

Of the group of children who first enter school, a large percentage are found to be suffering from at least one physical defect, often more. These defects are of a type that do not, of themselves, endanger the life of the child, but they constitute a very definite handicap to him.

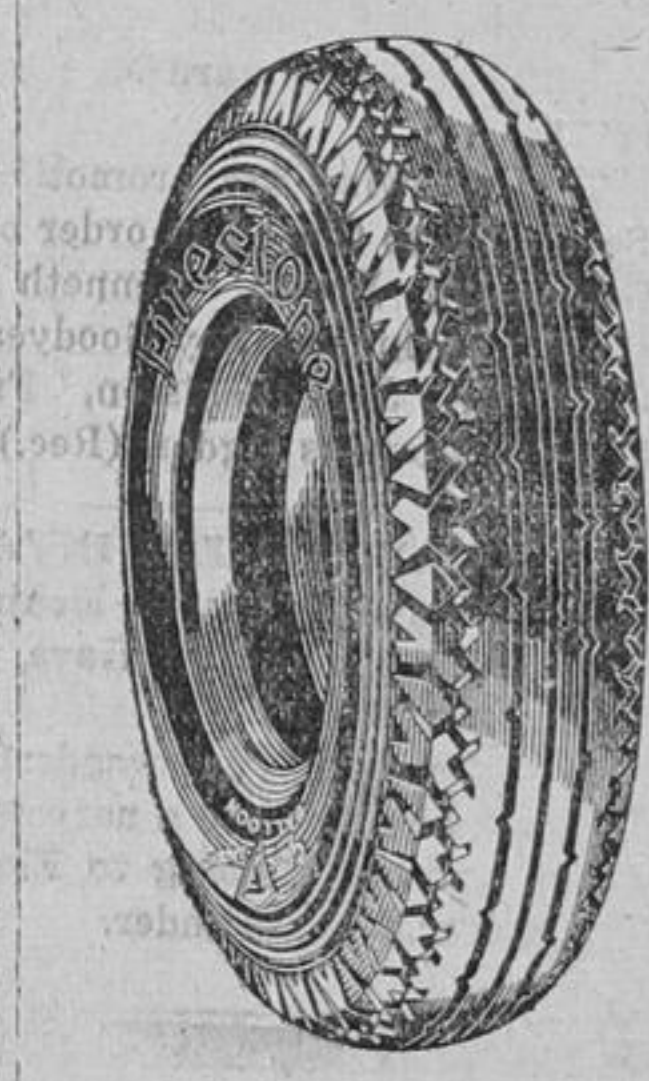

It is quite obvious that the child whose sight or hearing is defective will not be able to do his best under the same conditions as the child with normal hearing and sight. With regard to the blind and deaf, it is necessary that special facilities be provided for their education. Many children are made partially blind or deaf before their parents realize what has happened, and of this number, a large proportion could have the condition remedied by proper measures of treatment.

A child who is a mouth-breather, who suffers from repeated head colds, cannot do his best work. We all know that a cold in the head makes it difficult for us to apply ourselves to

Gum-Dipped Cords Stand the Acid Test

Even though Firestone cords are of superior strength and elasticity before they are built into Firestone Tires, they go through the Gum-Dipping process for added strength and endurance.

Gum-Dipping—exclusive to Firestone Tires—saturates and insulates every fibre of every cord in the tire. This prevents the cords from chafing against each other and eliminates internal friction and heat—the greatest enemy to tire life.

Thus Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have double reasons for their toughness, ruggedness and unequalled mileage—by actual test they hold all world's records for mileage and endurance! Specify Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires on your car. See your nearest Firestone Dealer today.
