

HON. CHAS. DUNNING

Minister of Finance

"Canada—the land of Opportunity!" The land that beckons all who desire their diligence to be tangibly rewarded, the Land which offers a fair field and no favors to the newcomer, hard-featured and forbidding to the shiftless, warm in her smiles to those who serve her faithfully! The Hon. Chas. Avery Dunning, born and raised to young manhood in the English Midlands, had such a vision of Canada nearly thirty years ago—and he still has it. For in his case the realization has exceeded even the rosiest vision.

In that cross-section of Canadian life represented by the cabinet there are two ministers who more than anything else symbolize Canada's recognition of devoted service, coupled with ability. Both were immigrants—Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, and English town boy who, through the exercise of an infinite capacity for taking pains, has elevated himself to a lofty pedestal in the affairs of this country, and the Hon. Peter Heenan, born beneath a thatched roof of a little Irish cottage, whose native virtues, allied to a genuine enthusiasm for the cause of the working-man, have advanced him to be minister of labor. It is not so long ago that the Cabinet included a third representative from the Old Land—a product of the Scottish Border, the Hon. Robert Forke, a man whose gentle character and sterling integrity endeared him to friends and political foes alike.

This trio constituted a manifestation of the truth that Canada promotes the hard worker in exactly the same degree as she repudiates the sloth, and also that he who would embrace opportunity must first gain the favor of that elusive wench. Charles Dunning and Peter Heenan worked industriously; and opportunity smiled upon them. That is as it should be.

It was a none too robust youth who, newly arrived from England, set his face valiantly to the setting sun 28 years ago.

Charles Dunning had never known affluence in his native land; and his arrival in Yorkton, Sask., found him almost penniless. Yet with a courage which the Canadian West demanded in those days, he applied himself to tasks greatly beyond his physical capacity. His early struggles are an epic of endeavor and achievement. Whether it was laboring hard on the quarter section that surrounded his sod shack at Beaverdale, Sask., or firing the imagination of the Western grain-growers with his eloquence and the cogency of his arguments, he showed the mettle which eventually was to carry him to the exalted position of Canada's minister of finance.

He had a flair for public life, and entered it as far back as 1910 when the Saskatchewan Grain Growers Association elected him to their directorate. Since then, he advanced from one success to another, all his victories being directly attributable to his own strenuous endeavors, and to his capacity for making friends—and keeping them.

Member of the Saskatchewan Legislature, minister in the executive council of the provinces—finally premier, the milestones in his unique career are clearly marked. It was inevitable that Mr. Mackenzie King, always with an eye to surrounding himself with the best men, should invite him to Ottawa, and equally inevitable that, once he came to Ottawa, Charles Dunning should continue his career of advancement. Western energy, a capacity for getting things done, a courage to initiate vast undertakings with a full and sublime confidence in the future of Canada, a mental alertness and a genius for detail—these are the qualities that have assisted him up the ladder. When, to these are added a deep-souled devotion to Canada and the Canadian people, the result is a natural consequence.

"Dunning—and the Hudson Bay Railway." Whatever his achievements as minister of finance—and already they are manifest—his name will always be associated with the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway. How he staked his whole political future on a courageous decision to change the terminus of that road from Nelson to Churchill is a matter of contemporary history. The West had its mind set on Nelson; Dunning's investigation showed him that the West was wrong—and he did not hesitate to run counter to established opinion in finally deciding on Churchill. Time has proved him to have been justified; and the West is more than grateful. A $20,000,000 port development at Churchill, which involves the construction of a 4,000,000 bushel grain elevator is destined to be completed within the next year or two. That will be his monument as minister of railways.

Equally monumental is his 1930 budget, with its wide extension of the British Preferences. The daring of this young minister—he is only 45—was never more clearly manifest than his complete revision of the Canadian Tariff schedule within six months of his taking office as minister of finance. Bold, efficient, totally unfettered by useless precedents and viewing his every act in the light of the general good, he is a minister who stands as a tower of strength in a cabinet of strong men.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hemingway, of Toronto, are spending a few days with Mrs. Jas. Galloway.

Mr. and Mrs. Gourlie, Miss Gourlie and Mr. Rex, of Toronto, visited Mrs. Casely on Friday.

Excitement prevailed around Hagerman's Corners on Tuesday evening, when an automobile coming from the east, collided with a north bound car at the intersection of the highway, forcing it into the ditch. Fortunately no serious injury is reported to the people in either car. Although both cars were more or less smashed up. The cause of the accident is a question. We trust the attention of the lady driving the car from the east was not distracted by the new ice cream parlor on the opposite corner.

A public meeting will be held in the Township Hall on Tuesday evening, July 8th, when W. P. Mallock, candidate in North York and other speakers will address the electors.

One of our young men would be delighted to have his doctor say "Your health demands that you have a two months rest in B. C."

Rev. W. Haig completed his third year as pastor of the United Church. Three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Haig were comparative strangers to many people here.

During the three short years' of ministry he won many warm personal friends because of his fidelity to duty, his kindly oversight of his flock, his sympathy and regard for the sick, his devotion to the Good Shepherd to whom he was a truly faithful under shepherd and his fine Christian bearing outside the pulpit. Mrs. Haig has given of her very best, in every branch of work in the church and out of it. In particular she has transformed the W. M. S. The Mission Band even succeeded in winning the banner for Toronto Central Presbytery. Mr. Haig received the unanimous invitation of the Board to remain another year, but owing to ill health he was forced to decline. We are glad that although Mr. Haig is not our pastor he is still one in our midst and he and his helpmate we trust shall be spared for years of service in helping people in this community in their quest of God.

Miss Flora Foster, Dominion Secretary-Treasurer Zenana Bible and Medical Mission of India, will give a lecture at Victoria Square United Church on her work in India on Tuesday, July 8th at 8 p. m., illustrated by beautiful lantern slides. Ice cream and cake will be served at the close of the meeting. This is a special treat from the Women's Missionary Society.

Newtonbrook

Mr. Hodgson, of Kansas, paid a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore, Drewrey Avenue.

A tragic accident took place on Yonge Street, near Willowdale, when Mr. Walter Scott, of Pemberton Avenue, was knocked down by an automobile. His skull was badly fractured and he was otherwise terribly injured. Two physicians and three traffic officers were soon on the spot. Mr. Scott was rushed to the General Hospital, Toronto, but he died soon after his arrival. Much sympathy is extended to Mrs. Scott and his niece, Miss Elda Boddington, who are the other members of Mr. Scott's home circle. The funeral took place on Wednesday at the funeral parlors of Mr. Myers, Lansing, and interment was in Mount Pleasant cemetery. Rev. E. R. Young of Newtonbrook, had charge of the service. Mr. Scott was born in Toronto and has lived all his life near Yonge Street. He was a quiet man, thoughtful and industrious, and he was highly respected by his neighbors.

The induction service for the Rev. A. H. Halbert will take place on Tuesday evening, July 8th, at 8 o'clock in the Newtonbrook United Church. The chairman of the Presbytery, Rev. Dr. Duncan, will have charge of the meeting. Rev. A. E. Lunau will preach the sermon and Rev. D. McTavish will address the minister and congregation.

A delightful Garden Party is being planned to take place on the beautiful grounds of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wells, Yonge Street. The gates will be opened at 7.30 p. m. A good program is promised and a very pleasant time is anticipated.

There was a very large attendance at the picnic that was held at Elm Park, Woodbridge last Saturday afternoon, under the management of the Newtonbrook Sunday School. Mr. J. R. Smith, the Superintendent, had many willing helpers. The day was ideal and a fine programme of sports and races was carried out most enthusiastically. A unique feature was the presentation of birthday cakes to three members of the school, whose birthday it was, June 28th. These were, Miss Janet Riddell, the school secretary; Will J. Smith, the lantern secretary, and Douglas Stephenson, a member of the Primary Department. The officers of the school are very grateful to all who helped so heartily to make the event a great success.

A pretty Scotch wedding took place at the home of Mrs. George Plain, 137 Homewood Avenue, Newtonbrook, on Saturday afternoon, June 28th, when her brother, James Gordon Mollison was married to Miss Maud Pyke, of Toronto. The bride was prettily gowned and carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath. She was accompanied by Miss Irene Simon, of Newtonbrook, whose bouquet was composed of pink roses and baby's breath. The groomsmen were Mr. William H. H. Mollison, brother of the groom. While the register was being signed, Mrs. Plain sang, "Because." The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. R. Young. The many guests sat down to a delightful banquet, where the bride was toasted and well showered with confetti. The happy couple purpose making their home in Newtonbrook.
