Talking About Records: Premier King Pretends to be a Friend of Veterans

HERE IS WHAT HE SAID IN 1911:

"Are the people of this country going to place at the head of affairs a man who will be precipitated into such a position, who will take from the treasury of this country, would have taken enough money to build two Dreadnoughts and send that money to England so that they could spend it as they pleased. And against what country? He was ready to send to build warships to fight Germany."

"A large number of the delegates were of German descent and they loudly applauded Mr. King's statement."

"Referring to the candidature of Mayor Weichel, he asked, How are the Germans of this country going to stand behind him when he is supporting a man who is taking that stand in regard to the defences of the Empire? And again the delegates applauded."

"The issue of this question, he declared, was between Mr. Borden and his Imperialistic position, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his policy of local autonomy."—The Globe, Aug. 22nd, 1911.

The attempt is now being made to represent Mr. King as genuinely concerned about the future of the Empire. That attempt is as arrant humbug as the parallel attempt to brand as Little Canadians all who oppose him.

What Liberal Candidates and Supporters Say About Farmers

MR. A. G. McINTYRE, LIBERAL CANDIDATE IN S. TORONTO, said Thursday Night, JULY 11th

"The farmers are always wanting protection on one thing or another when they have not even common sense to look after their machines in the field. The trouble with the farmer is he is always wanting something for nothing. Why does he not learn to look after himself like other people do. He cannot expect help from Governments all the time."

THE SO-CALLED LIBERAL (?) PARTY OF MACKENZIE KING CARES ONLY FOR THE FARMER'S VOTE. ONCE THAT IS CAST THE KING GOVERNMENT SEES NO FURTHER THAN ST. JAMES STREET, MONTREAL.

WHAT SUPPORT CAN FARMERS EXPECT FROM A GOVERNMENT IN WHICH THESE SENTIMENTS ARE EXPRESSED BEHIND YOUR BACK?

The Cause and the Cure For Present Unemployment

(From the Ottawa Journal)

Back in Ontario after his trip to the Pacific coast, Mr. Bennett at Cobourg spoke with a power and a conviction that must have profoundly impressed countless thousands who heard him. Always a power on the hustings, Mr. Bennett in his first Ontario speech reached an extraordinary high degree of platform eloquence, an eloquence which, reinforced by vital truths, cannot be without effect throughout the country.

The Opposition leader was at his best when dealing with the issue of unemployment. Moved by the spectacle of thousands of workless men tramping the streets of Western cities, he was desolating in his criticism of the Prime Minister's extraordinary incapacity to grasp the meaning of such things. What, he asked, was the policy of Canada's Prime Minister, when tens of thousands of Canadians were in distress? His policy was that he would call—a conference. Men and women might be craving work, children might be hungry, cities might be setting up soup kitchens; Mr. King's answer to all of this was: "Vote me back to office, and some time next Fall I will call a meeting to see what can be done." This from the sometime great crusader for labor, the author of "Industry and Humanity!"

Why, as Mr. Bennett well asked—why a conference? What is it that a conference would find out? Does it require a conference to discover that men are unemployed? That there is distress? That cities like Winnipeg are spending $3,000 a week to feed workless workers? The proposition is simply a fraud. It is subterfuge to enable Mr. King to dodge his responsibility.

Mr. Bennett's policy—an honest, humane policy—is to meet Parliament, to cut through redtape and legalisms and constitutional hair-splitting, to take prompt and vigorous measures to see to it that in this country people do not starve. That is not merely the policy of a statesman; it is the policy of a human being; the policy of a man who has some sympathy with the masses, who is big enough and honest enough not to let petty politics and pettier legalisms stand in the way when Canadians are in want.

What sense, what humanity, in claiming that unemployment is not a Federal responsibility? If the lawyers and the constitutional pundits want to argue about that, let them argue. What is true, and what everybody knows, is that if unemployment is not a Dominion legal responsibility, it is a Dominion moral responsibility. There can be no argument about that.

Whose fault is it if Canadians are unemployed? It is the fault, the direct result of Mr. Mackenzie King and his Government. The fault and the direct result of their fiscal policies. When the Liberal party took office in 1922 Canada's annual imports totalled $1,000,000,000. Last year they reached the enormous total of more than $1,000,000,000. In eight years, under Mr. King, this country has bought goods from abroad to the staggering value of $7,500,000,000. What does this mean? Economists estimate that 75 per cent. of the value of all goods is made up in wages. The conclusion, therefore, a very moderate one, is that during the past eight years the fiscal policies of the King Government have deprived the workers of Canada of billions of dollars in wages. That is why we have had emigration. That is why Canada during the past ten years has lost 1,300,000 of her population. That is why 200,000 Canadians are presently being fed by charity. The goods that should have been made here were made by outlanders; the wages that should have been paid here were paid chiefly to Americans; billions that should have been spent in Canada that should have gone into the pockets of Canadian workers, Canadian merchants and Canadian farmers—all went to the United States. They built up United States cities, made American millionaires, supplied traffic for American railways, prospered American ports.

Canada, we are told—Washington proudly boasts of it—is Uncle Sam's greatest customer. Consider what it means. Canada with 10,000,000 people, buys more from the United States than Britain with 45,000,000 people, than Germany with 50,000,000 people, than France with 40,000,000 people. Our ten million people buy far more from the United States than 120,000,000 Americans buy from us. The thing is absurd.

For these reasons, if for nothing else, unemployment is a federal responsibility. A moral responsibility of the most binding kind. To ignore that responsibility, to be indifferent to it, to try to evade it by hair-splitting or by the subterfuge of a conference—Such things are reprehensible. They call for the severest condemnation.

That condemnation, The Journal feels, is at hand. The wave of enthusiasm that is following Mr. Bennett, the uprising against Mr. King in the West, the prospects of a Conservative sweep in Ontario, the recent results in New Brunswick—these things all reveal a turning against the Government, a feeling that it is time for a change, a deep-seated conviction that, as Mr. Bennett has declared, it is time to give Canada a chance.

HEART DISEASE

One of the reasons which makes heart disease difficult to deal with is that, unlike tuberculosis, it is not one definite condition. In the fight against tuberculosis, we have been able to give definite instructions, and by listening to our constant repetition of such instruction, most persons have grasped the idea of how the disease may be prevented.

Heart disease is not one disease. There are many abnormal conditions of the heart due to different causes, which give rise to different symptoms and require different methods of treatment and prevention.

When some part of the heart is damaged, we say that there is organic heart disease. The significance of the condition depends upon what part of the heart is damaged, how extensive the damage is, and whether or not the condition is progressive. These and other similar points determine the gravity of the condition and indicate the proper form of treatment.

Some hearts are improperly formed from birth. The vast majority of hearts that are damaged have suffered injury because of the occurrence of some disease. Diseases of the body, due to the action of disease germs which give off poisons, are very often the cause of damaged hearts. Rheumatism in children is serious because of the fact that it often involves the heart.

Focal infections, such as diseased teeth or tonsils, are centres where germs persist for long periods of time and are frequently responsible for damage to the heart.

The heart responds to every effort of the body and, within limits, it does so with ease and comfort. When the heart is subjected to strain by improper living or by overexertion, there is always the possibility of permanent damage resulting.

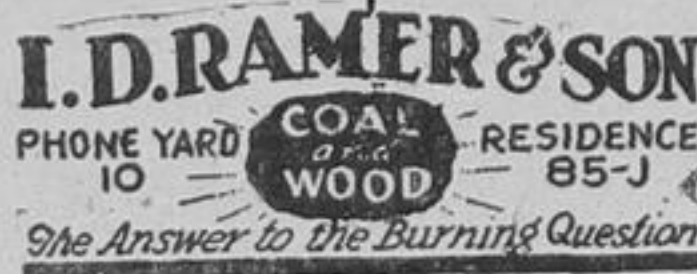

The prevention of heart disease begins with the building up of a sound body through attention to a proper hygienic mode of living. Proper care during an attack of disease, and particularly during the convalescence from a communicable disease, is essential. The removal of any focus of infection should not be delayed.

If a heart condition does develop, the life of the individual must be adjusted to the capacity of the heart. This does not mean that the person becomes an invalid; it does mean that he must learn his limitations and live accordingly. It never pays to abuse the healthy body, and it is fatal to abuse a damaged organ.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Order Your Coal now

The present wage agreement between Anthracite operators and Mine Workers will expire Saturday, August 30th, at Midnight that a new wage scale will have to be negotiated. On very reliable information, the Anthracite operators will call for a reduction in the wage scale of 25%. If they do this it may result in a more or less disturbance and possibly the suspension of mining for a time. It may be to the interest of householders to order their supply of coal for the winter previous to that date and save money and worry
