

WEEKLY NEWS NOTES FROM THE UNIONVILLE DISTRICT

A SUMMER'S AFTERNOON
'Twas the close of a summer's day,
The sound of the flail had died away;

The sun was shedding a lingering gleam,
And the tea kettle sung with its load of steam.

The old clock ticked that hung on the wall,
And struck 'ith the same old cuckoo call;

Then off I would hear the mournful bay,
Of some watch dog far away.

Then all ter onct piped in a jay.
I just sat there with my senses gone,
And the shadders of twilight-a-creep-in' on,

With the eerie hum of the small peewees,
Over there in the cedar trees,
And the tinkle of bells in the marshy loam

'At told me the cows were coming home,
And the sighing breeze came o'er the croft
But ah! comes a melody more soft
Than the troubled notes of a lydian lute

Or the echoing strains of a fairy's flute;
It bids me awaken and live and rejoice
'Is only the sound of Elvirya's voice—
Like an angel's whisper it comes to me—

'Wake up, old man, and come to tea'
An' it aint in the spring er it aint in the fall,
But the close of a summer's day.
That's all.

—Ben King

Here and There

(551) A new queen of the Pacific will pay homage August 24 to a former Empress of the seas when the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, new 26,000 ton flagship of the company's Pacific fleet, steams through the Narrows to receive Vancouver's vociferous applause. Just before reaching Brockton Point the new Empress, gay with flags and bunting, will dip her ensign to the dragon-carved figure-head which rests on its pedestal in Stanley Park overlooking the waters of Burrard Inlet. The figure-head is that of the old Empress of Japan, scrapped and sold in 1922 after 31 years of service between Canada and the Orient.

Impressively simple ceremonies were held at Fort William recently for the late F. E. Trautman, for the past 18 years Canadian Pacific Press representative in Western Canada. He was buried in the city where a large part of his career as a pioneer western newspaperman was passed as editor of the Fort William Times-Journal. The cities of Port Arthur and Fort William were officially represented as was also the railway company while a large number of private citizens paid their last respects.

S.S. Princess Joan, new 5,000-ton steamer of the Canadian Pacific Railway's British Columbia coast fleet, became a floating hotel at Vancouver recently when 425 members of the Grand Masonic Lodge, of British Columbia swarmed aboard for their 59th annual convention at Powell River.

The Algonquin Hotel at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, has opened ahead of its usual time with three conventions booked prior to the official opening of the St. Andrews season the last week in June.

Eyes and Ears

(By Elsie Ess)

ALL RED AND YELLOW

'Hope deferred maketh the heart sick.' But the heart is no longer sick, on the other hand, the residents of the "Hill" were delighted this week to see the odd street car ambling very carefully, over the rusty rails. Somebody said the members of the crews were learning the stops, and getting the hang of things generally. The cars looked so smart, all red and yellow, above all—so "citized." It seemed that after all Toronto's highest and healthiest suburb was truthfully a part of Greater Toronto.

It all came true on Thursday evening when the three cars in gala attire rambled up the "Hill" and came to a stop at the old radial station. The band, officials of T. T. C., the Municipal Statesmen—it was all good and great credit is due to those public spirited citizens who made this happy culmination, to all the difficulties, possibly.

And, just there, is where so many of us fall short. We take all this public service as a matter of course. The time and thought, so freely given by these public spirited gentlemen, is not acknowledged as generously as it might be.

Now we must use the cars. See that others use them. If you drive your own car to town and your friends hail you for a lift—you must politely and firmly remind them of the excellent car service provided; of the feeling of independence that will be theirs as after having purchased a book of tickets they may sit comfortably by the window and watch the poor motorist risking life and limb along the narrow highway.

Then you dear motorist, weary of making seemingly never ending payments on your car. Fed up with the everlastingly paying out cash for oil and gasoline, to say nothing of the continual repairs that your ancient model demands—may be tempted to buy a book of tickets and there and then end the financial drain. Then too, when visitors come out on Sundays to admire your garden; and when the shadows lengthen and the headlights dazzle, you will not feel it incumbent upon you as a host to back your car out of its snug garage to load it up with your company's homeward bound, and so avoid the weary whirl home, eyes dazzled, hair on end, as you face the unending stream of traffic wending its way from north to south. No, you will just stroll up to Yonge Street, see them safely stored away on a beautiful red, yellow, and brilliantly lighted car. Thus the cars bring to you an easy conscience, a relaxed nervous system—and financial security.

WHAT GOES UP—MUST COME DOWN

That is generally true, and when we see a stream of automobiles wending their way northward—say on Friday evening, steadily increasing in volume as Saturday gives place to Sunday morning—And Sunday night—down they come. All kinds of cars, all kinds of people, wealthy people, poor people, old folk and young folk. Families of children, Ma and Pa, and just a fleeting glance at youths and maidens in rumble seats holding hands. Often the maid inclines her head wearily upon the breast of her swain—all tired out, but they have had their trip—why shouldn't they? One must ever take the bitter with the sweet.

All week they have toiled, the same old office, same old store, same old routine, working men, toiling women, seek change and respite from the same old thing—And why shouldn't they? Who has a better right to enjoy this beautiful province, than the workers of this province? The summer is short, the winter is long—no fair minded person begrudges anyone a holiday.

Now, if these good people think of themselves only, the chances are that no one will be very happy. Life is like that. If we are content to look out for number one entirely—others will do the same, and we shall finish up with no body looking out for us—as I said life is like that. So dear motorist on the highway, don't forget there are others to be considered, some not so reckless, others with cars not as expensive or as powerful as yours—take time, be cool, think kindly of others, don't be rude, don't cut in front don't crowd others, you would not be so ill-mannered as to do that walking along the sidewalk—why forget your manners when driving your car.

Last summer, while motoring through New York State, the writer noticed three crosses rudely painted on a wall beside the highway—A little further on we enquired of a garage man the significance—He said it was briefly this—There had been an accident three people had been killed—why? because somebody had been "a hog" had been greedy and selfish—thinking only of themselves.

Nobody wants to stop anybody's fun—nobody is so foolish as to endeavour to stop the tide of invention and progress in transportation facilities— But everybody wishes everybody to be courteous, kind and unselfish.

These Are the Facts

Why should the opposition oppose and criticize the New Zealand Treaty? These are the facts. In 1921 under a conservative administration Canada imported 30,000,000 pounds of Oleomargarine from the United States.

In the late fall of 1921 a Liberal government was returned to power and the importation of Oleomargarine was immediately stopped. It was found in a few years that Canada was not producing enough butter for home consumption due to the large quantities of milk and cream being used for ice cream and other purposes. The government then made a treaty with New Zealand, a British Country, a sister within the British Empire, from which country Canada bought butter and in return New Zealand bought CANADIAN GOODS to the extent of FIVE DOLLARS for EVERY DOLLAR Canada spent in New Zealand. This was good business for CANADA and for the EMPIRE.

Owing to the Hawley-Smoot tariff in shutting out Canadian Dairy products this year the Canadian government, always alive to changing economic conditions and the needs of the Canadian farmer as well as every other class of people in this broad Dominion in the DUNNING BUDGET now gives the Canadian farmer protection of 4 cents a pound on New Zealand butter and seven cents a pound on butter coming from foreign nations.

This is the record of the actions of a government ever concerned with the progress and prosperity of Canada's basic industry. What has the opposition to offer?

Here are the facts in regards to eggs. In 1921 Canada Imported 9,000,000 dozen eggs In 1929 Canada Imported less than 2,000,000 dozen eggs or one egg for every 1256 used in Canada
