Mrs. Nelson Playter, widow of the late Nelson Playter renewed acquaintances in the district this week. Mrs. Playter who is 85 years old visited the old homestead at Jefferson where she with her late husband and family lived and farmed for about twentyfive years. Sixty-five years ago Mrs. Playter came to this farm as a bride and some forty years ago left the district to take up residence in Toronto. Many of the older residents of the district recall the Playter family and remember particularly the late Nelson Playter and his fine driving horses. His well groomed and well kept horses and snappy turn outs were familiar to residents of Yonge Street nearly a half century ago. Mrs. Playter is enjoying excellent health. She has motored across the continent twice and shortly will return to Los Angeles where she lived for the past year and a half with her son and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Playter had six children, three of whom are living, Carrie in New York and "Atta" and Arthur of Los Angeles who accomp-Conservatory of Music Examinations. anied their mother on the visit here.
