ALBERT JOHNSTON DIES SUDDENLY

Woodbridge and vicinity feels keenly the loss of Albert Johnston, who died suddenly from a violent attack of lockjaw on Monday afternoon. Mr. Johnston had been in his usual health and active until Wednesday of last week, when he was stricken while attending the exhibition. His case was pronounced incurable from the beginning as the disease failed to respond to the most skillful treatment practiced by the medical fraternity. The late Albert Johnston was born of Irish ancestry, his forefathers having come to Canada from Ireland a century ago to settle in Albion Township, Peel County, where Albert was born and lived until 17 years ago when he moved to Woodbridge, and entered the building trade. It was his plan to build homes as he saw the need for them. His parents the late George, and Mrs. Johnston predeceased him by several years, and surviving are his wife and two brothers, Howard Johnston with the Massey-Harris firm and R. K. Johnston well known light-horse-breeder, Nashville. The funeral which was strictly private took place on Wednesday afternoon with interment in Hillcrest Cemetery.

Miss Mabel Sanderson gave an interesting address on her trip through the British Isles in Sunday school on Sunday, she also took the opportunity to present to the Sunday school a very intricate wood carving of "The Crucifixion." This beautiful piece of work was executed by Alois Lang, who takes the part of Christ in the famous "Passion Play."

Our public hall which has long been an eyesore to so fair a community has undergone a striking change during the last few weeks. Twenty feet has been added to the length, and a cellar has been excavated under this. A splendid stage and dressing rooms have been built in, electric wiring done and floored with hardwood throughout. It will be redecorated inside and generally improved on the outside. We hope in a few weeks to have a splendid community hall.

William Perry, aged 17, of Toronto, was sentenced to two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory, on charges of stealing a car from Little Brothers garage, and one year for the theft of $25 and sundry goods from the same place, by Magistrate Duncan in police court here last Thursday. Perry, who pleaded guilty on both counts, had a lengthy record of minor thefts in London and Hamilton. He was on suspended sentence from the latter city, where he will be taken to face another charge.

Perry was arrested by police at Port Credit, where he is alleged to have motored from Hamilton in the stolen car. His capture was the result of the complaint of a woman whose purse was snatched from her hand while entering a Hamilton store. Two other youths, who were present with Perry in Hamilton, are coming up for trial there.
