"Julie, have you seen his wife?"

"Good Lord, no. He told me they Bim got up slowly and walked into

"I suppose it's true?" she submitted

Julie turned round, her eyes wide, cheeks. "Do you mean that . . . you think he just said it—as an excuse

Julie went on with her dressing, but

"If I really thought that-" she said.

"Perhaps I ought not to have suggested it," Bim said hurriedly. "But he makes love to you—asks you to

"No, he never asked me to marry him," Julie interrupted ruthlessly. "He just said . . . oh, why need we go all

"I'm only trying to help you, Julie.

"Don't all married men make love

Julie made a little sound of anger.

"I suppose I shall have to tell you

Mr. Chittenham would," Bim said.

over it again?" she asked passionate-

"Whose wife?"

Julie's room.

nesitatingly.

ner lips parted.

"Well . . .

marry him-"

"What is true?"

"That he is married?"

. . to get rid of me?"

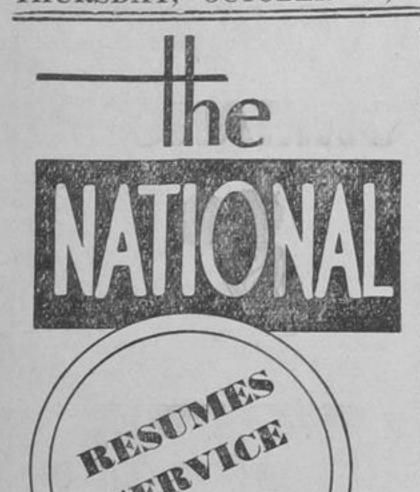

ner hands shook badly.

did he make love to you?"

Julie laughed.

"Mr. Chittenham's?"

must be a brute to live with."

The "National" is in service again between Toronto and Winnipeg, leaving Toronto 9.30 p.m. daily arriving Winnipeg 8.45 a.m. second morning after.

Sudbury sleeper is carried in this train. Information and reservations from any Canadian

National Agent. TO EVERYWHERE IN CANADA

Charles Graham AGENT MASSEY HARRIS Farm Implements & Machinery

PETCH

REG

Richmond Hill

Telephone Maple 1249

INSURANCE Fire - Automobile - Life Dependable Companies Office—Radial Station

GAL NINE

Have Your Tonsorial Requirements attended to while waiting for your car.

Martin's Barber Shop Right at The City Limits North Toronto.

ACCIDENTS-

AND YET MORE ACCIDENTS Supposing something happened to YOU. What provision have you made for weeks and perhaps months of medical attention with nothing coming in? Accident Insurance re-

A. G. SAVAGE

Office in the Post Office Block TEL. 118 Richmond Hill

PAINTER & DECORATOR H. FORSTER

VICTORIA SQUARE Telephone Stouffville 6116 Wall Paper Supplied if Desired

We'd rather not talk about washday drudgery in the home. It is unpleasant and is life "in the good old days" dully, and hastily apologised. Let us rather tell you that we have five different ways of do- about something else." easier on the articles washed than any home methods. Science protects at every stage. Soft water, pure soap, separate washings and thorough infresh, clean bundles. Phone to-day or stop any one of our he said. courteous driver-salesmen.

WE CALL IN RICHMOND DISTRICT

TUESDAY and FRIDAYS If you will have laundry ready when said with a sneer, and he thought of driver calls, you will assist us in giving good service. If you only have "I suppose if I allow myself to be as early as convenient to insume prompt attention.

Phone Orders for Our Driver, Parcels may be left at Liberal Office Telephone 9, Richmond Hill RICHMOND HILL

LLoydbrook 2161 175 OSSINGTON AVE.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Giles Chittenham swears to avenge the death of his young half-brother Rodney, driven to suicide by the notorious Julie Farrow who had spurned his love. He will make Julie love ruption. him, then throw her aside as she threw Rodney. He meets her in Switzerland, goes with her to the hotel on the St. Bernard Pass, and succeeds in winning her love. To his amazement, he discovers that he has fallen overwhelmingly in love with her himself! And he is married, to an American girl with whom he has nothing in common.

Then he discovers that this girl is not the same Julie Farrow who ruined Rodney, but her cousin of the same landname. She scorns him when he confesses his love and his inability to marry her. They meet later in Lon- it, that's all, or I shall have something don, where she is going the pace that to say to you that won't be pleasant kills. Another man, Lawrence Scho- Chittenham turned on his heel and field, wants to marry her, in spite of walked away. her wild life.

Chittenham meets the "other Julie," the floor. the notorious woman who had ruined "It was a lovely morning when she is going to die; the doctors have first time I've ever seen the sun rise, given her up as incurable and she is by the way . . . no, not quite the first leaving England. She is worried a- time-" she added slowly. bout her cousin, the girl Chittenham There was a little silence. "The loves. That Julie - his Julie - is first time was in Switzerland," she going in fast company, among them a added defiantly. "On top of an excommon little American girl named ceeding high mountain, and the devil all the truth," she said. "It all sounds Sadie Barrow.

And Sadie Barrow is Giles Chittenham's wife. He did not know that

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

- Ontario er quite a week, and love each other hold a siance in her house to-morrow, Funny, isn't it?" she submitted quiversays that Sadie is common and bad better come along, Bim.' form, and a wrong influence for me! Bim came to the foot of the bea. Jewel after all, he told me the truth.

> right," Giles answered, then stopped seem to agree any longer. You like pretence at all but the real thing . . . laghast at the admission. His own people whom I—well, I just can't I remember I was fool enough to think wife! . . . "And does Miss Barrow stand them, you know that! I detest it must be all right then. I was quite share your views on life that you and Doris and that Sadie Barrow, and ready to fall into his arms again and she are such great friends?"

Julie answered. "She's inclined to be possible to detest her, she's too harm morbid, and nobody can accuse me of less-'

"Morbid!" "Yes. She's got weird ideas on Julie flushed.

some subjects. For one thing, she's mad on this latest spiritualistic twitted Bim sharply. "Nonsense!" "You're not very polite. Ask her yourself if you don't believe me. That's why she's in London now-to see Chryer, the new medium." "You're not serious?"

"Of course I am! There's a siance lieves financial and physical suffering to-morrow, and we're all going. You'd petter come along too."

secrets of your inmost soul?"

She laughed.

your marriage, I suppose." edy of my love for you." For a mo- dare she! ment Julie seemed taken aback. Her lips quivered, and she bit them sharply, then she turned and called to Scho- ed to rise from her heart.

"Lawrence, come here. Mr. Chittenham is talking to me about his soul, the man whose tragic mistake had and I'm almost reduced to tears."

denly she spoke. it she who made you angry?"

"Good heavens, no," Giles answered too eagerly for absolute conviction." "About Chryer, the new medium? that Chryer can tell her." "Sadie is a little fool," Chittenham

"I should not have said that. I beg

"Yes. A night or two ago. I was erately priced and actually agreeably surprised," he said at last. "You know she had gone abroad?" "I saw something about it in the

> "Of course every one is saying that she has gone with some man." Chittenham made a swift gesture of

"I know that is absolutely untrue,"

Doris flushed.

"I am only telling you what people! are saying.' "People are too charitable!" Giles the woman whom he had left crouching by the fire in that lonely room.

dal of my own." "I think they have done that already," Doris said lightly.

He turned and looked at her. "Really! may I ask what it is?" "I hardly know the facts myself, but I know it was something to do with Julie Farrow-this Julie Farrow

-" She watched him closely as she spoke. Giles managed to laugh.

"How futile! I never met her in all out and come away with me." my life till that night at the Faun "I should be more of a coward if I where I met you." She looked at him steadily.

"That is not what Mr. Lombard in- asked: sinuates.'

In spite of himself Chittenham changed colour. "So Lombard is the liar."

Mrs. Ardron floated into the door-He wandered through the crowded rooms until he came across Lombard. "I want to speak to you." Lombard looked up.

"Well - what is it?" "Come outside -" The two men went into the hall. "What on earth . . .?" Lombard asked again apprehensively.

Chittenham told him. "I understand that you've been talking about things that don't concern

"My dear old chap-" "You know what I mean-Switzer-

"I assure you, Chittenham-"

Giles cut in ruthlessly. "Don't let me hear any more about hearing.

"A new sensation," said Julie.

She sat up in bed, letting the letter lly. Through his friend Lombard, Giles she had been reading slip down on to If it is true that he is married, why Rodney's life. She tells him that came home," she said flippantly. "The so silly—like a cheap drama. He said unto me . . thought I was Jewel - I never told Bim turned sharply.

"Julie, for Heaven's sake shut up." you that, did I? He had some quixotic she was in England. That night he "Oh, all right," Julie giggled, and idea of paying me out for what he meets her at a party at his mother's leaning over the side of the bed grab- thought I had done to Rodney—they house. They pretend to be strang- bed up the fallen inter from the floor all blamed Jewel because he killed "Listen to this!" she commanded. "It's himself, you know. Well, Giles from Mrs. Ardron, the mother of the thought it would be a good idea to "Oh, an old friend by now," Julie one and only Giles Chittenham! She make me fall in love with him and declared. "We've known one anoth- says that she is quite willing for us to then laugh at me as a punishment. dearly. Bim doesn't approve. She and bring the famous Chryer. You'd all right, and then says that Sadia is out his mistake, and that I wasn't

"Our friendship isn't what it used to But first he said that he really loved Did you ever hear such rubbish?"

"I should think Miss Lennox is right," Giles answered, then stopped seem to agree any longer.

"We don't what it used to But first he said that he really loved "We don't we have a longer. You like pretence at all but the real thing... Marco Essen . . . and that poor weak forgive him-" Her voice was hoarse "As a matter of fact, she doesn't," little fool, Mrs. Ardron. No-it's im-

"I wish Giles Chittenham could hear

"Are you in love with him?" she Bim flushed to the roots of her closely-cropped hair. "No," she said. "But you are." There was a little silence, then Julie started up, her eyes blazing, her lips quivering with rage. "Go out of my room, she commanded. "How dare you say such a thing? I've had enough of you and your saintly ways. The sooner you go the better. I'm sick of being dic-Her eyes challenged him. "Or are tated to and preached at. I-" But Bim you afraid that they may read the had gone, closing the door softly behind her. "There is only one secret in my soul Julie lay back on the pillows. She for any one to read," Chittenham said. was trembling in every limb.

"How dared she say such a thing! "How touching! The tragedy of how dared she?" she asked herself passionately. "In love with that man!

"No," said Chittenham. "The trag-II hate him- How dare she . . . how She shut her eyes tightly, afraid of the scalding tears that suddenly seem-Hate him! the man in whose arms she had found the meaning of love: broken her, body and soul. Until now Giles had forgotten Doris until sud- she had hardly realised how much she had suffered since that evening in "I saw you talking with Julie. Was Switzerland when Chittenham had told her the truth.

She was morbidly afraid lest Giles should guess how he had hurt her, and to counteract that fear she sometimes That little American, Sadie Barrow, deliberately sought his society, cruciis most enthusiastic. She says that fying herself in order to deceive him. she wants to know the future, and And it had been all in vain, for Bim

With a swift little movement Julie a relic of the unhappy side of said unthinkingly. Then he flushed threw aside the bedclothes and caught

"Bim!" she went out of the room your parden, and hers. Let us talk and to Bim's door. Julie flung it ing family wash in this modern "Very well. Say—have you met the and, running across to her friend, other Julie yet?" "I didn't mean it. I'm sorry. Forget I said it . . . I'm a beast-a mean beast, but you made me angry." "Give it up, Julie," Bim urged gently. "Come away with me. We've had good times together before, and the country is Heaven now-"

She turned round, her arms hangspection result in wonderfully langer, but he instantly controlled ing limply at her sides, her hair ruffled "I can't!" she said. "I've got to stay and face it out. He'll think I'm afraid -that I'm running away."

She spoke quickly and incoherently, almost as if some power outside herself was forcing the words from her. "I'd rather die than that he should think that. I'd rather marry Lawrence Schofield." "My dear. I don't understand in the least what happened between you," driver call when phoned for. Call up identified with this menagerie much Bim said in her cool, smooth voice. longer, thy will credit me with a scan- "You would never tell me when I asked you. If I only knew perhaps I could help you better-"

Julie flung up her head with a violent jerk. "He's married," she said defiantly. Her head went down again on her outflung arms and she began to sob. Bim sat quite still, her hand on the girl's hair till Julie was quieter, then she tried again.

"Don't be a coward, Julie. Cut it did that. He'd know I was afraid." There was a little silence, then Bim with dreary self-scorn. "And then married! . . ." A maid tapped at the door and en-

Mr. Chittenham?" (Continued Next Week)

Our Tame Critic - The trouble second sight. (Lindsay Post.)

Short and Sweet - Brevity is the soul of wit, which of course explains posters. were separated, or something, but if why there are so many jokes about Giles rose, glad of the inter- they are, I daresay it's his fault. He short skirts. (Calgary Herald.)

SHEPPARD & GILL LUMBER CO.

Dealers in LUMBER, LATH, SHINGLES "I - suppose so," she said slowly, ASHPHALT ROOFING, GYPROC. then the colour blazed suddenly in her Phone 27 Richmond Hill

> Hudson Decorators B. R. WOLFREY, Prop.

Painting, Paperhanging and Decorating WORK GUARANTEED

Estimates Free A Taxpayer of The Distric's Church St. Richmond Hill

P. O. Box 32

to other women?" she asked cynically. "I shouldn't have thought a man like O.K. Shoe Repair

Moved from Trench's Shop to house opposite High School on Yonge Street. All kinds of Shoe Repairing, Harness Repairing. W. SWITALSKI

LECTURE AT MAPLE

he had to tell me the rest—that he was Mr. Philip Fishburn, son of Rev. Jeremiah Fishburn former pastor of Zion E. Lutheran Church, Sherwood, "Please, Miss Farrow, will you see who is motoring through the United States and Canada has arranged to be here and deliver a lecture on October 23rd in the Community Hall, Maple, with love at first sight very often is entitled "A thousand miles on a Camel's back." Mr. Fishburn will be pleased to meet his school-mates and friends of his boy-hood days. See

Let us tend your wants in GLASS and GLAZING PROMPT SERVICE

Now is the time to look over your windows.

STOVES, STOVE PIPES, HEATERS & FURNACETTES Everything in Hardware

> C. N. COOPER Hardware

tichmond Hill

atario

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR Phone--Willowdale 96W

POYNTZ AVENUE LANSING, ONTARIO

WALTER BONE & SON STONE, GRAVEL SAND AND PEA GRAVEL Supplied on Short Notice.

WIRE FENCING and CONCRETE CONSTRUCTION Phone Maple 864

MOTORISTS be CAREFUL!

The season for wet, slippery pavements is here and demands that special care be exercised by all drivers of motor vehicles.

DRIVE CAREFULLY . . . and read carefully every word of this advertisement

THE Highway Safety Committee has been urging motorists during the year to exercise CARE, COURTESY and COMMON SENSE in the operation of their vehicles. The Committee appreciates the whole-hearted support its efforts have received from every source. We have had the best of co-operation from the Advisory Committee, which is composed of some of the leading citizens of the Province, from the press, from motorists and from pedestrians and, as a result, driving conditions have improved. Let us continue to be traffic conscious and at all times CARE-FUL and COURTEOUS when driving.

Severe penalties are provided in our motor vehicle laws for those who are careless or inconsiderate of the rights of other users of the highway.

The Financial Responsibility Law which became effective on September 1st provides that the driver's license and all motor vehicle permits of a person convicted of any one of the following offences shall be suspended until proof of financial responsibility in the form of a certificate of an insurance company, a bond or securities is filed with the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

READ CAREFULLY

Driving without holding a chauffeur's or operator's license.

Reckless or negligent driving or exceeding the allowable speed limits if any injury to persons or property occurs. Driving, or being in charge of a motor vehicle, while intoxicated, or any other criminal offence involving the use of a motor vehicle.

Evading responsibility following an accident.

Operating a motor vehicle in a race or on a bet or wager. Chauffeurs, operators and owners of motor vehicles are warned that the provisions of this law must be applied in every case.

ACCIDENT REPORTING

The law v requires every person directly or indirectly involved in a motor vehicle accident, if the accident results in any personal injuries or property damage apparently exceeding fifty dollars, to report such accident to the nearest police officer. A penalty is provided for failure to so report.

Remember your Personal Responsibility whenever driving a motor vehicle or you may be required to prove your Financial Responsibility.

Highway Safety Committee

The HON. GEO. S. HENRY, Chairman

Secure a copy of the Highway Traffic Act. Write: - Motor Vehicles Branch, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.