THE VALUE OF AN EMPTY PURSE

You may be fortunate enough to possess a full purse, a substantial credit balance at the bank, and stocks and bonds galore. On the other hand you may be among that vast crowd who find their purses empty, or the recipient of a firm reminder from your banker that you have over drawn your account at the bank, and that already a cheque of yours has been returned, beautifully marked in purple, with the initials "N. S. F." Not for a moment would I say that the empty purse is a source of delight. Yet I do maintain that there is a value in an empty purse.

It costs money to be down right bad. The way of the Transgressor is not only hard, but it is most expensive. All sorts of temptations come to the possessor of much money. Idleness for instance. Few things are as disastrous morally as idleness, and when the money is gone we are compelled to work. Having lots of money the inclination is to take it easy, and it is better for all that they should take life hurriedly. For joy and happiness are the by-products of work, and the most satisfying pleasures are those arising out of our efforts. Thomas A. Edison claims to have lived a most enjoyable life, and maintains that genius is two per cent inspiration and ninety-eight perspiration. Learning which is a large contributor to the value of life, cannot be bought with a bag of money. There is no royal road to learning, it is a road of sheer hard work. When our money is gone, it is then we prove our friends. When we are flush with money we are popular, especially if we happen to be good spenders. No lack of "Friends" then. There are always plenty of folks male and female to help us spend it, and with such an abundance of assistance it is not a difficult matter to be a good spender. True friends love us for what we are, and not for what we have.

It is not a pleasant thing, in fact it is a most inconvenient, embarrassing, and irritating thing to be out of funds. Yet there is a consolation in the paradoxical that even an empty purse has a value.

CARRVILLE

The Y. P. S. will meet in the Church, Friday evening at eight o'clock. Miss Evah Sheppard and Mrs. Barton are responsible for the program this week.

The W. A. met at the home of Mrs. McCrone, Wednesday of last week. There were fourteen present.

Prayer service next Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. Jas. Bovair.

Miss Olive Bovair attended the annual Thanksgiving Day Conference of the Faith Mission, held in Toronto on Monday.

Mr. Chas. Cooper, of Toronto, visited on Monday with his sister, Mrs. R. J. Bowes. Miss Grace MacMillan spent the week-end at her home in Port Perry. Mrs. Delbrocco, Misses Mary, Annie and Josephine Delbrocco visited in Toronto over the week-end.

Mrs. Woods and daughter Beatrice spent a week with relatives at Dundalk.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCrone and Miss Nourse, of Toronto, spent Sunday and Monday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. McCrone.

Mrs. Eddie Rayner and baby, of Toronto, are visiting her sister Mrs. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jennings and sons of Maple, spent Sunday at Jas. Bovair's.

Mrs. Jack Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Clement and sons spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. Luesby, Thornhill.

Miss Sadie Middleton and Mr. Oliver spent the holiday at the latter's home near Mona Mills.

Mr. Wilbert Bowen, Misses Dorothy and Ruth Bowen, Messrs Norman and Nelson Bowen visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Pleasance at Langstaff.

The Carrville Branch of the Faith Mission held their usual weekly prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gane this week. Pilgrims' Garner and O'Neil were present and both delivered messages that were indeed helpful to those who were present. Pilgrim O'Neil is a fresh arrival from the north of Ireland and certainly has a "way" with him. The stories that he told to illustrate his ideas were full of humour, and to the point. If you have a chance to get up close to this man and catch something of his "breezy and definite" optimism you, and your community will be the richer and stronger. Pilgrims please note !!!

"FOR RENT, FURNISHED" PRESENTED BY ANGLICAN YOUNG PEOPLE DE-LIGHTED LARGE AUDIENCE

"For Rent, Furnished" a bright amusing comedy in three acts was presented to a capacity audience in the Masonic Hall, Richmond Hill on Wednesday evening. It was an excellent play, well presented by a talented caste and delighted the large audience which was in attendance. The play was directed by Mrs. L. C. Secrett and all the players carried off their parts exceptionally well. The caste of characters was as follows:—Irma Ward, a bride with artistic ambitions, Gladys McLatchy; Philip Ward, her husband, a young writer, Don. Hick; Laura Mason, a flapper, Dorothy Mason; Frank Pilcher, her fiance, Oswald Carter; Mrs. Davis, a good neighbour, Mrs. L. C. Secrett; John Davis, her husband, a travelling salesman, Tom Carter; Mrs. Melrose, proprietress of the Idlewild Apartments, Katherine Stanford; Miss Jackson, a trained nurse, Kathleen Morris; Ada, an untrained nurse, Grace Paris; Mr. Patterson, a mail carrier, Kenneth Frisby; Dr. Hunt, connected with the Health Department, Lionel Cardwell; Rev. Joshua Stevens, Irma's uncle and a humanitarian, Ted Mansbridge.

WEDDING SMITH — JONES

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jones, of Maple on Saturday, November 8th, at four o'clock, when their daughter Sadie Ellen became the bride of Mr. Frank Smith, of Newmarket. Rev. Kerr, of Maple, officiated. The bride who was given in marriage by her father was pretty in a shell pink crepe de chene gown in princess lines and reached her ankles. She carried a bouquet of Sweetheart Roses. The two little flower girls, Esther Morrison and Viola Woods, nieces of the bride were charming, one in rose pink and one in peach and carried baskets of flowers. The bridesmaid, Miss Effie Jones, sister of the bride was attired in mauve taffeta and carried a bouquet of roses. Mr. Herbert Jones, a brother, was best man. Mrs. W. Bishop, a sister of the bride played the wedding march. The house was prettily decorated and fifty relatives of both bride and groom were present. In the evening a large number of guests gathered for a reception and dance. The happy couple were the recipients of many handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will live in Newmarket.
