PLEASANT SOCIAL EVENING ENJOYED AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

The social evening given on Monday last by the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's Anglican Church was a most enjoyable affair. A short program was arranged, Mr. V. Armstrong acting as chairman. The community singing was enjoyed by all, after which Miss Gladys MacLachey gave a very amusing recitation "A Boy's Feet." Master Victor Shearer, of Toronto, who took second prize in the open competition at the exhibition last fall, gave two lovely violin selections, Mrs. W. A. Duncan accompanying at the piano. Miss Adele Savage sang in a lovely voice "My Alice Blue Gown," with Mrs. Will Savage at the piano. Three fine young ladies of Richmond Hill, rendered in excellent voice "The Song of the Bridesmaids" and generously responded with an encore "My Wild Irish Rose." We are still wondering if Mr. Ted Mansbridge (the main soloist of the trio), Mr. Tom Carter and Mr. Oswald Carter are at all familiar with the three young vocalists for they bore a very striking resemblance to these three young ladies. After the program delightful refreshments were served, during which Mrs. MacLachey sang. Much credit is to be given to Mrs. MacLachey the convener of the program and to those who assisted her, as well as to the Women's Auxiliary who gave this splendid "At Home."

THE TALKER

(A Warning to the Loquacious) He talked away at break of day, He talked when he had naught to say. He talked at home and in the shop, He talked and simply would not stop. He talked of politics and crime, He talked and wasted precious time. He talked of money and the probs, He talked of gossips, neighbors, snobs He talked as long as one would stay, He talked his wearied friends away. He talked for merely talking's sake, He talked nor any hint would take. He talked of much he did not know, He talked for ostentatious show. He talked and firmly held the floor, He talked while one walked out the door.

He talked to ventilate his mind, He talked a tiresome steady grind. He talked of health and made it worse, He talked and made his talk a curse. He talked of trifles, things insane, He talked to drive his friends insane. He talked right on the whole day long, He talked though he was in the wrong He talked nor would he silence keep, He talked and mumbled in his sleep. He talked ahead—he caught his breath He talked at last himself to death! —Grenville Kleiser

Deborah Davison won first prize for ladies; Mrs. Archie Cameron second; Beatrice Mathewson third and Mrs. J. A. McNeil, consolation. Gentlemen, Alex. Bishop first; A. L. McNeil, second; Archie Cameron third; and Roy McDonald consolation. The ladies provided lunch and three ladies and four gentlemen served. Mrs. Jas. Brownlee and Mrs. E. Carson acted as hostesses for the December meeting of Vellore Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. James Brownlee. There was a very large attendance. The meeting opened with the Institute ode and the Lord's Prayer in unison. The Roll Call was responded with a verse suitable for a Christmas gift. Recognition of money was sent to Northern Relief Work and the Institution for the Blind were read by the Secretary, Miss Mary Constable. Mrs. James Brownlee delegate to the Institute convention held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, last week gave an excellent report. Mrs. A. L. McNeil, District President, of West York Institutes, who presided at one of the meetings of the convention also gave a report. A musical selection was rendered on the piano by Miss Annie Kerr, Mrs. W. E. Hutchison sang a solo, "My Grandfather's Clock" accompanied by Miss Flora Craib at the piano. A dancing competition was conducted by Mrs. Wm. Orr and Mrs. J. Phillips, Mrs. D. A. McKinnon won first prize and Mrs. Bates second.
