THE SCARBORO SITUATION

By ELLIOTT HARRINGTON

The Scarboro Ratepayers Association, which represents the rural section of Scarboro, held their annual meeting on Friday night, at Agincourt, and re-elected the entire 1932 executive to hold their same positions for the coming year. The offices are filled as follows: Pres., James Grant; sec'y.-treas., William Newall; 1st vice-pres., Bert Kennedy; 2nd vice-pres., Allan Wheeler; 3rd vice-pres., Fred. Yeomans.

These men have been working for the past year on the problem of secession from the Township. Of about nineteen thousand people in Scarboro, the urban section of Birch Cliff represents fourteen thousand, crowded into an area of seven square miles. Whether this section will be incorporated into a Village or divided by some more extended boundary into a separate assessment area is a question for presumption. It is the desire of the Scarboro Ratepayers to have the Township divided with the boundary line marked by the limits of the "water area" or the district supplied with sewers and hydrants. Should this be done, the urban area will be facing a probable debenture debt of almost the same magnitude as their assessment. Should the urban area be unable to meet their payments, the remainder of Scarboro will still have to stand good for the money, in spite of their secession. On the other hand, if the urban area should ever become able to do so, they will be forced to repay to rural Scarboro any money spent on their behalf. This is the plan of the Ratepayers. It is probable that secession will take place before long, whether it is done in the manner stipulated by the Ratepayers or otherwise.

The school sections in the northern part of the Township are also faced with economic difficulties. The usual grants necessary for carrying on the school work have not been forthcoming of late, and there is danger of the matter reaching such a crisis as to make the closing of the schools a necessity. Tax money from the different school sections is supposed to be kept in separate accounts and paid back to the school sections as needed, for educational work. This has not been done, and the money has been unevenly distributed, hence the difficulty. It is hoped that relief will come before the educational work will find it impossible to continue, which would certainly seem a drastic condition in the most dire contingency.

A number of the men of this district attended the Liberal meeting in Newmarket a week ago.

A very large crowd was in attendance at the dance in McDonald and Wells Hall with Max Cameron's Orchestra on Friday evening.

No wonder the dogs of the community wakened the citizens on Tuesday morning early when the next morning it was found a number of young boys from Toronto were coming down the C.N.R. tracks and broke into the tool house. However, they were captured by a couple of constables and taken to the jail farm that day.

We are glad to hear that Miss Mary McCallum who had an operation a week ago for appendicitis is convalescing as well as can be expected. Miss Grace Montgomery R.N. of Sherwood has been the nurse in charge.
